French Dam Break Toll May Pass 350

Count Of Dead Reaches 198, Scores Missing

FREJUS, France (AP) — The roaring mass of water that broke a dam Wednesday night and ripped through the Reyran Valley on the French Riviera had claimed 198 lives by official count Thursday night.

Authorities estimated another 160 persons are missing.

There was a possibility of duplication in the list of 160 missing, but it was feared many had been swept into the Mediterranean.

Rescue workers halted their search as darkness covered the silt and debris left in the four-mile-long valley. The hunt was to be resumed at dawn.

Most inhabitants of the once-pretty valley in the midst of the Riviera vacationland were farmers and fishermen. A few retired British and Americans lived here.

Tragedy struck around 9 p.m. Wednesday after five days of heavy rain and storm.

The watchman at the 185-foot Malpasset Dam, four miles above Frejus, said he heard a "terrific cracking" and millions of tons of water "broke loose at one blow, carrying everything with it."

A farmer who had four minutes warning and escaped to a hill estimated the water was going about 50 miles an hour. He said a man and his mother who got into their car and tried to drive ahead of it were caught by the flood.

"The noise was infernal. I could see houses literally explode," he said. "An electrical short circuit flashed strange lights over the valley. I could hear trees being torn out by their roots. They tried to dam nature but nature took its revenge."

Rescue workers found a tangle of mud-caked debris, upended trees, demolished houses, overturned cars and trains. Bridges, roads, phone and power lines had disappeared.

The concrete and steel dam was the world's thinnest—only 22 feet thick—when it was built in 1952-53 for irrigation. Since then other thin dams have been constructed.

Police Book Cohen In Slaying Of Hood

Ex-Mobster At Scene Of Shooting

SHERMAN OAKS, Calif. (AP)—Mickey Cohen, present when an underworld strongarm man got rubbed out Wednesday night, was booked Thursday on suspicion of murder.

And police began booking friends who were with him when 41-year-old Jack Whalen was shot dead at a restaurant in this Los Angeles suburb.

For Cohen, it was old stuff. He is hauled in for questioning every time there's an underworld crime in southern California. He said he didn't kill Whalen and doesn't know who did.

Police admitted they lacked evidence for a formal murder complaint against the short, dapper gambler. The booking enables them to hold Cohen and friends for 48 hours for questioning.

Booked with Cohen, 45, was George Bart Piscitelle, alias George Perry, 28, of Beverly Hills who was dining with Mickey.

Still sought were Joe De Carlo, manager of stripteaser Candy Barr, once Cohen's girl friend; Sam Frank Le Cigno, longtime associate of Cohen, and a woman whose name was not made known. They also were at Cohen's table.

Cohen's car was missing from the restaurant parking lot. There was speculation it may have been driven away by someone involved in the killing.

Also missing was the murder weapon.

Police said no one could — or would—identify the killer.

Cohen said Whalen walked up to a man dining near him and hit him in the nose. The man drew a gun, shot Whalen dead, and walked out. Police said they aren't buying this account.

The Mirror-News said it heard another version: that Whalen yanked a man out of a phone booth, kicked him into the dining room, a shot rang out and Whalen fell.

Whalen, who had a police record going back to 1938, was described by Los Angeles Police Chief William Parker as a tough bookmaker "who had roughed up some of the top underworld figures in Los Angeles."

Cuban Tribunal Delays Verdict

HAVANA (UPI) — The Cuban army said Thursday that there would be no verdict before Friday in the case of American ex-pilot Frank Austin Young who could be sentenced to death as a plotter against Premier Fidel Castro.

The prosecution has demanded death for Young, 38-year-old Miami, Fla., and Indianapolis, Ind., resident, and 30 years in prison for British-born American citizen Peter Lambton, 24, of Nassau, the Bahamas. One Cuban co-defendant faces a possible death sentence and 36 others 30-year terms if convicted.

The Army legal department did not say when the other verdicts could be expected but it was presumed they would not be handed down before Young's.

There was no indication when a third American citizen, Cuban-born Rafael del Pino, of Miami, who was tried by a Havana military court Tuesday would hear his fate. Del Pino, who also faces a death sentence, is charged principally with illegal entry into Cuba in his light plane to rescue anti-Castro Cubans.

Suggestion Follows Plea By President

Recommendations Would Form Basis For Negotiation

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Steelworkers Union proposed Thursday night that President Eisenhower instruct his inquiry board to recommend a solution of all issues in the steel dispute.

The union acted only minutes after Eisenhower, in a nationwide TV-radio speech, demanded a quick end to the dispute which threatens a renewed steel strike late next month.

David J. McDonald, union president, said he agreed entirely with Eisenhower's position that a settlement in steel is long overdue.

The union chief said he is willing to negotiate a settlement within the framework of any recommendation which Eisenhower's steel inquiry panel might make.

McDonald said that he made the inquiry board proposal in a letter delivered to Eisenhower before the President's speech Thursday night.

The union chief expressed disappointment that Eisenhower had not mentioned the proposal in his address.

Has Faith In Idea

"It is my sincere belief," McDonald wrote Eisenhower, "that if this program is followed, there will be a prompt settlement of the steel dispute — a settlement fair to the public, to the workers and to the industry."

Addressing the American people before his departure on an 11-nation trip, the President said the success of his peace efforts requires a strong economy at home.

Questions will be asked about this country's economic strength, Eisenhower said, and added:

"What great news it would be if, during the course of this journey, I should receive word of a settlement of this steel controversy that is fair to the workers, fair to management and fair to the American people."

The President said he had sent the round-the-clock instructions to mediation Director Joseph F. Finnegan, adding that "America needs a settlement. It is needed now."

Shortly after Eisenhower's speech was made public, Finnegan said "I'll schedule meetings as they seem most productive."

Separate Sessions Planned

He said he had no plans to change the schedule for Friday's meetings—separate sessions with the industry at 11 a.m. and the union at 2 p.m.

As he has in news conferences earlier, the President voiced a warning to unions and businessmen that the public will not permit labor-management disputes to wreck the economy.

FCC Orders All Stations To File Payola Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission demanded Thursday that the nation's 5,236 radio and TV stations report under oath whether they or their employes have accepted secret payments to plug persons or products.

The FCC crackdown on payola practices came as another agency —the Federal Trade Commission —sent investigators to find out whether some music firms were breaking the law by paying off disc jockeys to push their recordings.

The purpose of the FCC order is to track down "sneaky commercials," as officials put it. These are defined as plugs that are paid for without the listener or viewer knowing it.

The FCC gave the broadcasting outlets a month—until Jan. 4—to file sworn statements covering operations back to Nov. 1, 1958.

Under the FCC directive, station operators must say what payments or other considerations, if any, were received by them or any of their employes for broadcasting material not identified as paid for.

Also, each station was told to report what controls it has set up to make certain management officials know what payments have been made to employes in program work.

The law governing radio-TV operations requires that all advertising put on the air on a paid basis must be identified clearly as a commercial.

Violations of this section of the law could bring anything from a reprimand to loss of broadcast license. Further, the communications law provides criminal penalties up to $10,000 fine and a year in prison for wilful violations of any of its provisions.

Next Monday the FCC will open public hearings at which it will explore its powers to regulate program content. In the past, FCC has kept strict hands off this phase of broadcasting.

Mickey Rooney Calls Off Return To Paar's Show

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mickey Rooney, irked at the treatment he got when he appeared on the Jack Paar television show, Thursday was ready to forget the whole matter.

The pint-sized actor had agreed Wednesday to make a return appearance on the show — but Thursday decided he would rather have nothing more to do with Paar.

"I am convinced nothing further could be gained by anyone were I to appear with Jack Paar," Rooney said. "I told him personally that I was sorry for what had occurred Tuesday night. As far as I'm concerned, the whole matter is forgotten."

The "feud" between the two performers began when Paar accused Rooney of being "loaded" when he appeared on the show Tuesday night.

After a long series of statements by Rooney, he walked off the show at Paar's invitation.

Tower Worker Dies In Plunge

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 34-year-old workman was killed and another critically injured Thursday when they tumbled from the top of an abandoned 20-foot tower at Curtis Bay.

The tower was located on the property of the Olin Mathieson Co. A company spokesman said Carl Allen, Negro, was killed when the tower crumbled.

Walter Adams, 52-year-old Negro, was taken to South Baltimore General Hospital in critical condition.

The company spokesman said the two workmen were dismantling the brick tower at the time of the accident. They fell to the ground under a shower of bricks.

Brazil Airmen Seize 5 Planes, Launch Revolt

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) —A small group of rebellious Air Force officers, charging the government is Communist - infiltrated and corrupt, seized five planes Thursday and flew far into the jungled interior. One plane was an airliner kidnaped with passengers aboard in flight.

Some of the rebels were reported to have set up a rebel outpost in the town of Aragarcas, about 1,100 miles northwest of Rio de Janeiro. The town is all but inaccessible, except by air.

A communique issued by Justice Minister Armando Falcao after a two-hour meeting with President Juscelino Kubitschek said the rest of the nation is calm and normal. It promised fast government action, however, to capture and punish the rebellious officers.

The rebels launched their revolt in pre-dawn darkness at the Rio Air Force Base. Prospero Punaro Barata, 30-year-old chief flying instructor at Brazil's air force school, and a number of officers reported to number from 7 to 17, took off in three C47 mail planes.

A government communique said all four of these planes were headed for the state of Goias in the Brazilian heartland. It added: "The government without loss of time took all steps and measures necessary to eliminate this small center of disorder implanted in the interior of Goias and will move with inflexible vigor against those who violate the law in order to generate disturbance."

Previously, 8 other officers commandeered a four-engine civilian airliner with 38 passengers and a crew of 6 as it flew from Rio to Belem in the north. The officers forced the pilot to fly them to Aragarcas.

Seventh Child Born To Charlie Chaplins

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Chaplin had their seventh child Thursday, an eight pound one-half ounce girl who the 70-year-old actor proudly announced "will be named Annettee Emily."

Pilot Dies Of Injuries

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The pilot of an Army helicopter which crashed Wednesday in Virginia's Blue Ridge Mountains died Thursday in Walter Reed Army Medical Center. Twelve others injured in the mishap were detained for observation.

CWO Beverly P. Heim, 29, a resident of Elizabethtown, Ky., died of head injuries. He had undergone emergency surgery.

Quiet Bill Draper, Ike's Pilot, Is Perfectionist

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trim, quiet Bill Draper has loved airplanes all his life.

As a schoolboy, he annoyed the neighbors in Silver Spring, Md., by flying rackety model planes. And, as boys do, he dreamed of flying the real thing some day. His dreams, however, did not stretch so far as envisioning himself flying a president to far places in a giant 600-mile-an-hour jet.

But on President Eisenhower's 19-day, 22,370-mile trip, Col. William G. Draper is the man at the controls, just as he was last summer when Eisenhower visited Europe.

Draper, 39, has been Eisenhower's personal pilot since 1950. Eisenhower then was Allied supreme commander of NATO forces in Europe and Draper had won the reputation in the Air Force as a thoroughgoing professional. In World War II he flew a transport between Miami and India.

Anything short of perfection makes Draper unhappy, his friends say. If Eisenhower is supposed to land, for example, at 2:02 p.m., Draper wants to hit it right on the nose, not a minute early or a minute late.

Draper among them, eight of the 10 crew members of Eisenhower's plane have flown together for at least six years.

The copilot is Iowa-born Lt. Col. William Thomas, 39, a veteran of the Berlin airlift, and the navigator is Lt. Col. Vincent Puglisi, 41, who comes from Brooklyn. The remainder of the crew is composed of a third pilot, who sits in for Draper or Thomas when either leaves his station, two flight engineers, a radio operator and three stewards.

Police Bullet Stops 'Silver Dollar Kid' At Start Of Farewell Burglary Spree

NEW CASTLE, Ind. (AP)—The "Silver Dollar Kid" lay unconscious Thursday, stopped by a police bullet at the start of a farewell burglary spree aimed at bailing his older brother out of jail.

Robert Farmer, 17, Indianapolis, got a deputy sheriff's bullet through a cheek at a small-town grain elevator, first of 14 burglary targets he had mapped for Wednesday night with his blonde girl friend.

The bullet lodged in the swaggering youth's head, and he was in serious condition.

His pretty girl friend, Jennie Louise Moorehead, 17, said they started out to steal $2,500 for bail for Farmer's brother, John, 19.

"We agreed this was to be the last," the girl said in a statement given to Sheriff Warren H. Davis. "Tonight we were to quit going out bumping off places."

The Kid and his brother are charged with burglary in Indianapolis, but the Kid was released on bail raised by Jennie and his mother, Marine Hartley.

The Kid and Jennie had barely arrived at their first burglary site, an elevator in Kennard, nine miles west of New Castle, when Deputies Vaughn Reid Jr. and Delbert Row stopped to investigate.

The Kid peered around a corner of the building and shouted, "I've got a gun too. I've got you covered."

The deputies said three shots were fired, one from each man's gun. Reid's bullet stopped the Kid.

Jennie curled up on a couch at the jail as she was questioned about her night escapades with the Kid. A newsman got her to admit Farmer was the "Silver Dollar Kid" of a recent schoolhouse holdup.

The janitor of the school told Farmer he had only 30 cents in pocket cash. The youth flipped a silver dollar onto the floor, shot into the floor and jeered, "Compliments of the Silver Dollar Kid."

"He always had a flair for the dramatic," sighed Jennie, a curvy blonde dressed in toreador pants, bulky pullover sweater and turquoise-rimmed glasses.

They were held without charge.

Eisenhower In High Spirits As He Begins 11-Country Journey

GOOSE BAY, Labrador (AP) — President Eisenhower's jet transport touched down at this air base Thursday night at 10:47 p. m. (EST) for a refueling en route to Rome.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower flew away Thursday night on a momentous, unprecedented journey to carry to three continents a message that America's great desire is for a disarmed world living in peace and friendship and freedom.

With an affectionate farewell from Mrs. Eisenhower, the chief executive boarded a sleek jet airliner that roared off into the starry darkness toward Europe.

It was less than an hour after Eisenhower had gone on radio and television from the White House with a farewell speech, to tell the American people and peoples everywhere the purpose of his 22,000-mile trip to 11 countries.

"In every country," he said, "I hope to make widely known America's deepest desire—a world in which all nations may prosper in freedom, justice, and peace, unmolested and unafraid."

In the spirit of the Christmas season, it was what the President termed a "mission of peace and good will."

Dignitaries of government and the top diplomats of nations he will visit on a three-week journey halfway around the world were at Andrews Air Force Base to bid the President Godspeed.

Mrs. Eisenhower rode with him from the White House. She boarded his plane momentarily while he swung along the line of well wishers to chat and laugh and say farewell to those who came to see him off.

Eisenhower looked and talked as if he were in high good spirits.

Arm and arm, the President and First Lady strolled down the ramp. Eisenhower kissed her square on the mouth and turned to go back up the stairway. Their words were lost in the hiss of jet engines.

Mrs. Eisenhower, who does not like to fly, is not accompanying her husband on this trip.

Andrews AFB reported Eisenhower would have clear skies all the way on the first leg of his journey to Goose Bay, Labrador, a refueling stop. And the weather was described as good all the rest of the way to Rome, his first point of call, where he arrives Friday noon.

The chief executive was accompanied by 21 aides and assistants as he set out to proclaim

1959 Worst Strike Year Since 1946

WASHINGTON (AP)—This year is going down in the books as the worst strike year in modern times except for postwar 1946.

The Labor Department reported Thursday that the steel strike, now halted by Taft-Hartley law injunction, helped boost the October total of man-days lost due to strike idleness to 14 million. A man-day represents one day's work done by one man.

The October figures hike the total man-days lost because of strikes during the first 10 months of this year to 62½ million.

The deputies said three shots were fired, one from each man's gun. Reid's bullet stopped the Kid.

Jennie curled up on a couch at the jail as she was questioned about her night escapades with the Kid. A newsman got her to admit Farmer was the "Silver Dollar Kid" of a recent schoolhouse holdup.

The janitor of the school told Farmer he had only 30 cents in pocket cash. The youth flipped a silver dollar onto the floor, shot into the floor and jeered, "Compliments of the Silver Dollar Kid."

"He always had a flair for the dramatic," sighed Jennie, a curvy blonde dressed in toreador pants, bulky pullover sweater and turquoise-rimmed glasses.

They were held without charge.

FCC Orders All Stations To File Payola Reports

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Federal Communications Commission demanded Thursday that the nation's 5,236 radio and TV stations report under oath whether they or their employes have accepted secret payments to plug persons or products.

The FCC crackdown on payola practices came as another agency —the Federal Trade Commission —sent investigators to find out whether some music firms were breaking the law by paying off disc jockeys to push their recordings.

The purpose of the FCC order is to track down "sneaky commercials," as officials put it. These are defined as plugs that are paid for without the listener or viewer knowing it.

The FCC gave the broadcasting outlets a month—until Jan. 4—to file sworn statements covering operations back to Nov. 1, 1958.

Under the FCC directive, station operators must say what payments or other considerations, if any, were received by them or any of their employes for broadcasting material not identified as paid for.

Also, each station was told to report what controls it has set up to make certain management officials know what payments have been made to employes in program work.

The law governing radio-TV operations requires that all advertising put on the air on a paid basis must be identified clearly as a commercial.

Violations of this section of the law could bring anything from a reprimand to loss of broadcast license. Further, the communications law provides criminal penalties up to $10,000 fine and a year in prison for wilful violations of any of its provisions.

Next Monday the FCC will open public hearings at which it will explore its powers to regulate program content. In the past, FCC has kept strict hands off this phase of broadcasting.

Mickey Rooney Calls Off Return To Paar's Show

HOLLYWOOD (UPI) — Mickey Rooney, irked at the treatment he got when he appeared on the Jack Paar television show, Thursday was ready to forget the whole matter.

The pint-sized actor had agreed Wednesday to make a return appearance on the show — but Thursday decided he would rather have nothing more to do with Paar.

"I am convinced nothing further could be gained by anyone were I to appear with Jack Paar," Rooney said. "I told him personally that I was sorry for what had occurred Tuesday night. As far as I'm concerned, the whole matter is forgotten."

The "feud" between the two performers began when Paar accused Rooney of being "loaded" when he appeared on the show Tuesday night.

After a long series of statements by Rooney, he walked off the show at Paar's invitation.

Tower Worker Dies In Plunge

BALTIMORE (AP)—A 34-year-old workman was killed and another critically injured Thursday when they tumbled from the top of an abandoned 20-foot tower at Curtis Bay.

The tower was located on the property of the Olin Mathieson Co. A company spokesman said Carl Allen, Negro, was killed when the tower crumbled.

Walter Adams, 52-year-old Negro, was taken to South Baltimore General Hospital in critical condition.

The company spokesman said the two workmen were dismantling the brick tower at the time of the accident. They fell to the ground under a shower of bricks.

Seventh Child Born To Charlie Chaplins

LAUSANNE, Switzerland (UPI) — Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Chaplin had their seventh child Thursday, an eight pound one-half ounce girl who the 70-year-old actor proudly announced "will be named Annettee Emily."

Pilot Dies Of Injuries

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The pilot of an Army helicopter which crashed Wednesday in Virginia's Blue Ridge Mountains died Thursday in Walter Reed Army Medical Center. Twelve others injured in the mishap were detained for observation.

CWO Beverly P. Heim, 29, a resident of Elizabethtown, Ky., died of head injuries. He had undergone emergency surgery.

Brazil Airmen Seize 5 Planes, Launch Revolt

RIO DE JANEIRO, Brazil (AP) —A small group of rebellious Air Force officers, charging the government is Communist - infiltrated and corrupt, seized five planes Thursday and flew far into the jungled interior. One plane was an airliner kidnaped with passengers aboard in flight.

Some of the rebels were reported to have set up a rebel outpost in the town of Aragarcas, about 1,100 miles northwest of Rio de Janeiro. The town is all but inaccessible, except by air.

A communique issued by Justice Minister Armando Falcao after a two-hour meeting with President Juscelino Kubitschek said the rest of the nation is calm and normal. It promised fast government action, however, to capture and punish the rebellious officers.

The rebels launched their revolt in pre-dawn darkness at the Rio Air Force Base. Prospero Punaro Barata, 30-year-old chief flying instructor at Brazil's air force school, and a number of officers reported to number from 7 to 17, took off in three C47 mail planes.

A government communique said all four of these planes were headed for the state of Goias in the Brazilian heartland. It added: "The government without loss of time took all steps and measures necessary to eliminate this small center of disorder implanted in the interior of Goias and will move with inflexible vigor against those who violate the law in order to generate disturbance."

Previously, 8 other officers commandeered a four-engine civilian airliner with 38 passengers and a crew of 6 as it flew from Rio to Belem in the north. The officers forced the pilot to fly them to Aragarcas.

Quiet Bill Draper, Ike's Pilot, Is Perfectionist

WASHINGTON (AP) — Trim, quiet Bill Draper has loved airplanes all his life.

As a schoolboy, he annoyed the neighbors in Silver Spring, Md., by flying rackety model planes. And, as boys do, he dreamed of flying the real thing some day. His dreams, however, did not stretch so far as envisioning himself flying a president to far places in a giant 600-mile-an-hour jet.

But on President Eisenhower's 19-day, 22,370-mile trip, Col. William G. Draper is the man at the controls, just as he was last summer when Eisenhower visited Europe.

Draper, 39, has been Eisenhower's personal pilot since 1950. Eisenhower then was Allied supreme commander of NATO forces in Europe and Draper had won the reputation in the Air Force as a thoroughgoing professional. In World War II he flew a transport between Miami and India.

Anything short of perfection makes Draper unhappy, his friends say. If Eisenhower is supposed to land, for example, at 2:02 p.m., Draper wants to hit it right on the nose, not a minute early or a minute late.

Draper among them, eight of the 10 crew members of Eisenhower's plane have flown together for at least six years.

The copilot is Iowa-born Lt. Col. William Thomas, 39, a veteran of the Berlin airlift, and the navigator is Lt. Col. Vincent Puglisi, 41, who comes from Brooklyn. The remainder of the crew is composed of a third pilot, who sits in for Draper or Thomas when either leaves his station, two flight engineers, a radio operator and three stewards.

Eisenhower In High Spirits As He Begins 11-Country Journey

GOOSE BAY, Labrador (AP) — President Eisenhower's jet transport touched down at this air base Thursday night at 10:47 p. m. (EST) for a refueling en route to Rome.

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Eisenhower flew away Thursday night on a momentous, unprecedented journey to carry to three continents a message that America's great desire is for a disarmed world living in peace and friendship and freedom.

With an affectionate farewell from Mrs. Eisenhower, the chief executive boarded a sleek jet airliner that roared off into the starry darkness toward Europe.

It was less than an hour after Eisenhower had gone on radio and television from the White House with a farewell speech, to tell the American people and peoples everywhere the purpose of his 22,000-mile trip to 11 countries.

"In every country," he said, "I hope to make widely known America's deepest desire—a world in which all nations may prosper in freedom, justice, and peace, unmolested and unafraid."

In the spirit of the Christmas season, it was what the President termed a "mission of peace and good will."

Dignitaries of government and the top diplomats of nations he will visit on a three-week journey halfway around the world were at Andrews Air Force Base to bid the President Godspeed.

Mrs. Eisenhower rode with him from the White House. She boarded his plane momentarily while he swung along the line of well wishers to chat and laugh and say farewell to those who came to see him off.

Eisenhower looked and talked as if he were in high good spirits.

Arm and arm, the President and First Lady strolled down the ramp. Eisenhower kissed her square on the mouth and turned to go back up the stairway. Their words were lost in the hiss of jet engines.

Mrs. Eisenhower, who does not like to fly, is not accompanying her husband on this trip.

Andrews AFB reported Eisenhower would have clear skies all the way on the first leg of his journey to Goose Bay, Labrador, a refueling stop. And the weather was described as good all the rest of the way to Rome, his first point of call, where he arrives Friday noon.

The chief executive was accompanied by 21 aides and assistants as he set out to proclaim

1959 Worst Strike Year Since 1946

WASHINGTON (AP)—This year is going down in the books as the worst strike year in modern times except for postwar 1946.

The Labor Department reported Thursday that the steel strike, now halted by Taft-Hartley law injunction, helped boost the October total of man-days lost due to strike idleness to 14 million. A man-day represents one day's work done by one man.

The October figures hike the total man-days lost because of strikes during the first 10 months of this year to 62½ million.

Annual Convention Issue Splits State Labor Organization

WASHINGTON (AP)—Voting on a proposal for yearly instead of biennial conventions was put off Thursday by the Maryland-D.C. AFL-CIO after vigorous floor debate.

Opponents of the recommended constitutional change mustered enough strength for a roll call vote on adoption of the amendment after being voted down on a motion to refer the matter to committee.

Before the roll call was taken, however, the delegates voted to suspend the rules and then adopted unanimously a motion to have a hearing on the change before the Executive Board and the Constitution Committee.

Edward Plato, Baltimore, of the steel workers, led the fight against an annual convention. He and other opponents contended it would be a financial burden on some locals and that the steel worker unions are "broke."

Proponents of the change contended a yearly convention is needed in what they called critical times for trade unions. The extra convention, they argued, is needed to take action which would have the force and dignity of decisions reached at full conventions. Some of the delegates had advocated yearly meetings, but making the off-year session a legislative conference rather than a full convention.

Chairman F. H. McGuigan, Washington, chairman of the Constitution Committee, finally made the suggestion that the committee and the Executive Board meet to hear those who have special problems and then report later.

The delegates voted, with apparently little dissent, another constitutional change aimed at helping the union's Committee on Political Education (COPE). This change calls for members paying 5½ cents a month in dues to the state organization. Of this, two cents would go to COPE with 60 per cent being returned to local councils for COPE work.

Members now pay 3½ cents, with two cents additional to COPE on a voluntary basis.

The delegates also voted to increase the salary of their president from $9,500 to $10,500 yearly, and their secretary-treasurer from $9,000 to $10,000.

W. F. Strong, Silver Spring, is the newly reelected president, and Charles A. Della, Anne Arundel County, was reelected for a new two-year term. The vote for secretary-treasurer, the only contested election, was announced Thursday as 740 for Della and 499 for James E. Patterson, Baltimore County.

Much of Thursday's session was given over to speeches and discussion of the work of COPE.

The convention, the second since the merger Sept. 6, 1957, of the AFL and CIO in Maryland, will end Friday.

across three continents America's "deepest desire" for a world that will disarm in peace and freedom.

The first requirement for reducing the tensions now dividing the world, Eisenhower said, is a start on mutua' disarmament between the western powers and the Soviet Union.

But until that is achieved, he declared in the nationwide radio-TV broadcast, the United States must maintain, in quality and power, an a d e q u a t e military strength.

"W i t h o u t this m i l i t a r y strength," he said, "our efforts to provide a shield for freedom and to preserve and strengthen peace would be futile."

The President is due in Rome Friday noon. Rome time. He will be greeted there by Italian President Giovanni Gronchi and Prime Minister Antonio Segni. His arrival will start a round of ceremonies, formal dinners and luncheons which will keep him moving at top speed until Sunday morning when, after a brief audience with Pope John XXIII, he will take off on the second leg of his trip for Ankara, Turkey.

After Italy and Turkey, the President will visit Pakistan, Afghanistan, India, Iran, Greece, T u n i s i a, France, Spain and Morocco.

The schedule calls for about 30 speeches and public statements and innumerable conference on whatever problems may be raised by the government leaders he meets.

In New Delhi he will discuss with Indian Prime Minister Nehru the problems of India's border dispute with Communist China. He has already stated publicly his support of Nehru's desire for a negotiated settlement.

In Paris Dec. 19-21 he will confer with British Prime Minister Harold MacMillan, French President Charles de Gaulle and West German Chancellor Konrad Adenauer on plans for a summit meeting, probably in late April, with Soviet Prmeier Nikita S. Khrushchev.

Both in his speech Thursday night and in an executive action e a r l i e r Thursday Eisenhower stressed the need for a start on disarmament. It appeared he would give high priority to this issue in the western summit session at Paris.

'Masterpiece' Racket Broken Up In New York

NEW YORK (UPI) — Police broke up what was described as one of the biggest fake masterpiece rackets in the nation's history Thursday by arresting two Russian-born art dealers and seizing 400 paintings with signatures ranging from Rembrandt to Picasso.

The arrested men, Boris Lass, 64, and his brother, Mark, 61, claimed the collection was gathered by their mother before the Russian revolution and had a current value of 25 million dollars. Experts from the Metropolitan and Modern Art museums called in by Dist. Atty. Frank Hogan said they were fakes, apparently the work of students imitating old and modern masters.

The Lasses, proprietors of the Remi Gallery in the heart of the Madison Avenue gallery district, were charged in a 25-count indictment with attempted grand larceny, counterfeiting labels, and false and misleading advertising. Authorities said they did not know how many "masterpieces" the men had been able to sell.

The brothers were held in $1,000 bail each for a hearing Dec. 16.

The Lasses were unmasked by Ralph F. Colin, millionaire attorney and general counsel for CBS. Colin, who has a large collection of Chaim Soutine paintings, passed the Remi Gallery last August and noticed an obviously spurious Soutine in the window. He notified the Better Business Bureau which alerted Hogan.

The district attorney said the price tags on the canvasses ranged from $400 to $100,000 for "original Van Goghs and Dufys. He said the gallery was jammed with paintings and the Lasses' West Side apartment was stacked from floor to ceiling with more "masterworks."

"America will not — indeed it cannot — tolerate for long the crippling of the entire economy as a result of labor-management disputes in any one industry or any group of industries," he said.

"Among our free people there is no one man, no one group, no one industry, no one interest, that measures, in importance to America."

Eisenhower put it squarely up to the steel industry and the Steelworkers Union to search out a voluntary settlement.

"If free American employers and employes cannot act responsibly in free collective bargaining, the President said, "in due course their countrymen will see that they act responsibily."

Teenagers Rate Pat Boone Tops

Youth Magazine, a publication of the United Church of Christ, conducted a poll among youngsters on their favorite recording stars.

Boone was put at the top by polling nearly three times the votes of his nearest contender. He won two previous youth magazone surveys, one on movies and the other on television.

The others among the teenagers' big ten were Johnny Mathis, Ricky Nelson, Perry Como, Frank Sinatra, Elvis Presley, Tennessee Ernie Ford, Fabian, Frankie Avalon and Paul Anka, in that order.

Not one girl singer was on the list. Connie Francis was the only feminine star to receive more than a handful of votes, but there were not enough to put her in the top 10.

The magazine said that part of the answer lay in the fact that more girls than boys responded to the survey. A more likely explanation, it said, is a long-standing trend to promote male singers.

Youth reported that teen-agers spent more than 100 million dollars on records last year, not counting the dimes and nickles they poured into juke boxes.

Divorce-Widow Provision In Will Is Held Invalid

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Mrs. Elizabeth M. Wuermser won't have to get a divorce or wait until she's a widow to collect from the $150,000 estate left by her father, Anne Arundel County Circuit Court has ruled.

Judge O. Bowie Duckett held a divorce-widow provision in the will of Arthur Helmer of Glen Burnie was invalid. He died in February 1957.

"As a general rule," the judge said, "a condition in a will by which an inducement is offered to a married person to obtain a divorce is contary to public policy and invalid."

Judge Duckett noted the Court of Appeals has held that "the state, representing society as a whole, has a real and vital interest in maintaining the marital status."

Reds Oppose Nuclear Detection Test Blasts

GENEVA (UPI) — Russia Thursday opposed an American plan to permit nuclear explosions for the purpose of testing detection and control systems after an international ban goes into effect.

The United States proposed that the administrator of a seven-nation control commission order new nuclear blasts and additional research if needed to test the policing system in the light of new scientific findings. Such an action would require approval of all three nuclear powers.

Tawes May OK Island Bridge

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes indicated Thursday he will approve a proposal for a public authority to construct a bridge between Worcester County and Assateague Island.

Referring to the plan submitted by an executive study commission, the governor said, "I think we'll be able to go along with it."

The commission, headed by Sen. John L. Sanford (D-Worcester), recommended building a $1,217,000 steel and concrete toll bridge reaching 2,800 feet between the Worcester County mainland on the Eastern Shore and the almost barren island, south of Ocean City. The island is now accessible only by boat.

Sanford has asked the attorney general for an opinion as to whether legislation creating the bridge authority can be introduced during the short 30-day session of the General Assembly next February. Under State law, the short sessions are limited to financial, general welfare and emergency matters.

The bridge would be financed through the sale of revenue bonds.

Narrow Escape

LIVINGSTONE, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—Jacob de Vries fell half way down a 300-foot gorge at Victoria Falls Tuesday night. Rescuers descending by rope ladder found him clinging to a bush just 15 feet above a sheer drop into Devil's Cataract. He was hauled out suffering only lacerations and bruises.

Rome Spruced Up For Ike

ROME (UPI) — Premier Antonio Segni returned from London Thursday to make last-minute preparations for President Eisenhower's arrival here Friday noon, the first stop on his 11-nation good will tour.

While government leaders went over the subjects to be discussed during the President's 48-hour stay in Rome, extra forces were sent out to sweep the streets and polish the marble of the old city.

Even the Communists were cooperating. They draped walls with welcome posters and wished Eisenhower success, a complete reverse from his visit here as SHAPE commander in 1950, when the Reds turned out in demonstrations and plastered the city with "Ike go home" posters. The switch apparently was dictated by a friendship-conscious Moscow.

But Communist Party leaders and left-wing Socialists have not been invited to the official reception for the President. A government spokesman said that Communist chief Palmiro Togliatti and sometime fellow traveler Pietro Nenni would not be asked to attend the reception for 3,000 prominent Italians at President Giovanni Gronchi's palace Friday night.

Judge O. Bowie Duckett held a divorce-widow provision in the will of Arthur Helmer of Glen Burnie was invalid. He died in February 1957.

"As a general rule," the judge said, "a condition in a will by which an inducement is offered to a married person to obtain a divorce is contary to public policy and invalid."

Judge Duckett noted the Court of Appeals has held that "the state, representing society as a whole, has a real and vital interest in maintaining the marital status."

Reds Oppose Nuclear Detection Test Blasts

GENEVA (UPI) — Russia Thursday opposed an American plan to permit nuclear explosions for the purpose of testing detection and control systems after an international ban goes into effect.

The United States proposed that the administrator of a seven-nation control commission order new nuclear blasts and additional research if needed to test the policing system in the light of new scientific findings. Such an action would require approval of all three nuclear powers.

Tawes May OK Island Bridge

BALTIMORE (AP)—Gov. Tawes indicated Thursday he will approve a proposal for a public authority to construct a bridge between Worcester County and Assateague Island.

Referring to the plan submitted by an executive study commission, the governor said, "I think we'll be able to go along with it."

The commission, headed by Sen. John L. Sanford (D-Worcester), recommended building a $1,217,000 steel and concrete toll bridge reaching 2,800 feet between the Worcester County mainland on the Eastern Shore and the almost barren island, south of Ocean City. The island is now accessible only by boat.

Sanford has asked the attorney general for an opinion as to whether legislation creating the bridge authority can be introduced during the short 30-day session of the General Assembly next February. Under State law, the short sessions are limited to financial, general welfare and emergency matters.

The bridge would be financed through the sale of revenue bonds.

Narrow Escape

LIVINGSTONE, Northern Rhodesia (AP)—Jacob de Vries fell half way down a 300-foot gorge at Victoria Falls Tuesday night. Rescuers descending by rope ladder found him clinging to a bush just 15 feet above a sheer drop into Devil's Cataract. He was hauled out suffering only lacerations and bruises.

Rome Spruced Up For Ike

ROME (UPI) — Premier Antonio Segni returned from London Thursday to make last-minute preparations for President Eisenhower's arrival here Friday noon, the first stop on his 11-nation good will tour.

While government leaders went over the subjects to be discussed during the President's 48-hour stay in Rome, extra forces were sent out to sweep the streets and polish the marble of the old city.

Even the Communists were cooperating. They draped walls with welcome posters and wished Eisenhower success, a complete reverse from his visit here as SHAPE commander in 1950, when the Reds turned out in demonstrations and plastered the city with "Ike go home" posters. The switch apparently was dictated by a friendship-conscious Moscow.

But Communist Party leaders and left-wing Socialists have not been invited to the official reception for the President. A government spokesman said that Communist chief Palmiro Togliatti and sometime fellow traveler Pietro Nenni would not be asked to attend the reception for 3,000 prominent Italians at President Giovanni Gronchi's palace Friday night.

Association Backs Proposed Mental Health Budget

BALTIMORE (AP) — A shortage of professional help in Maryland's mental hospitals was cited by the Maryland Assn. for Mental Health to support the proposed budget for the State Department of Mental Hygiene.

President Alfred P. Quimby of the association pointed out the need Thursday in a letter to Gov. Tawes. He said the state has only 67 per cent of the physicians needed according to standards of the American Psychiatric Assn., based on physicians on State mental hospital staffs last year.

"Each patient who is discharged from the hospital and returned to his home reduces the overall expense to the state by $1,700 per annum," Quimby wrote. "Therefore, the cost of any method which brings about earlier discharge must be evaluated in terms of its actual and ultimate cost to the state."

He declared that immediate economy might be false economy if it resulted in less frequent discharges and greater financial burden to taxpayers.

Baltimore Co. Tax Hike Vetoed

TOWSON, Md. (AP) — The $2.42 tax rate passed by the Baltimore County Council went under the veto knife Thursday.

County Executive Officer Christian H. Kahl said he rejected the proposed 26-cent hike in the property tax rate for next year because it did not raise the amount of taxes needed for the $55,660,379 budget.

The Council approved the tax rate and the budget Monday. The budget proposal was 10 million dollars more than the 1959 general fund appropriations.

Kahl at the same time vetoed another tax resolution passed by the Council which would have produced about $3,600,000 by taxing transfer of real estate. The executive officer said he turned down the 2 per cent tax measure because of lack of public notice and public hearings which are required by county law.

He said he would call the Council into special session Monday "to levy the amount of taxes required by the budget, in the manner required by law."

It would take five of the seven Council members to override Kahl's vetoes.

Hagerstown Hair Cut Price Upped To $1.25

HAGERSTOWN (AP) — The price of a hair cut and shave will jump 25 per cent, effective Jan. 1, throughout Washington County and the customers can only blame themselves.

They asked one question too frequently.

"It has been embarrassing to us to be asked why the prices have been so low compared to other cities," explained Jerry Nigh Thursday.

Gov. Tawes Stays Pair's Execution

ANNAPOLIS (AP)—Gov. Tawes Thursday stayed the execution of two men scheduled to die in the gas chamber next week for the murder of William Brooks, an Odenton plastics worker and semi-invalid.

He granted reprieves to John Leo Brady and Donald Boblit, both 25, pending further legal steps by Brady's attorney to have his sentence reduced.

Tawes said in granting a stay of execution for Brady that Boblit's death sentence also should be held in abeyance since both stem from the same case.

The reprieves will remain effective until new death warrants may be issued, the governor said.

5,000 Aberdeen GIs Paid In $2 Bills

ABERDEEN, Md. (AP) — The $2 bill isn't a rarity around this Army Proving Ground base, where 175,000 of them were handed out in enlisted men's pay envelopes.

Col. G. F. Powell, deputy commander of the post, explained 5,000 men were paid in the race track denomination to try to find out the spending habits of servicemen. The informal survey covers banks, grocery stores and other retail establishments.

But it does not include Pimlico Race Track at Baltimore, the nearest horse race betting mecca now open. It would probably throw the survey off, anyway, because the $2 bill is not uncommon at tracks.

The United States earned 800 million dollars from foreign visitors in 1958, while American tourists spent more than two billion dollars abroad, including 536 million in Europe.

D.C. Police Dog Trainer

WASHINGTON (AP) — A former Scotland Yard police sergeant, Terrance Patrick Cahill, was hired Thursday as trainer of the police dogs that will help patrol Washington's streets.

He was hired in 1958 as trainer for Baltimore's police dogs and served there for 10 months.

Circle Is Selling Yule Candy

The members of the Jean Rowland Circle discussed projects and had a Christmas party at Melvin Methodist Church Wednesday evening. The devotions were under the direction of Miss Doris Day, who used as her theme, "Love Comes Down at Christmas." Prayer was offered by Mrs. Marvel Almon.

During the business session it was decided that a jewelry sale will be the project for January. The circle is selling Christmas napkins and Mrs. Eleanor Delagrange is taking orders for Christmas candy. Mrs. Leota McClelland and Mrs. Barbara Perdew were named nursery workers for January.

A Christmas party followed the meeting. Each member revealed her secret sister and gifts were exchanged. The group sang carols, "The First Noel" and "Silent Night." Refreshments were served. Twenty-three members attended. The next meeting is to be January 6, at the church.

Discuss Program

Centenary WSCS completed payment of the parsonage fund and discussed the combined zone meeting program at the regular business session at the home of Mrs. Edith Nield. Miss Louise Nichols, field worker of the mission board of New York, is to be the speaker for the zone meeting in March. A donation of Home in Baltimore and two boxes to Miss Catherine Eye, missionary in the Belgian Congo. The group discussed sending Christmas boxes to East Broadway parish in Baltimore. Members are to bring crayons, pencils, tablets, reading and coloring books to the meeting December 15.

A Christmas party will be held in conjunction with the next meeting December 29. Each member is to give $1 as a project for the month, and a jingle.

Miss Deloris Gillum was named secretary of youth work; Mrs. Ada Stine, Christian social relations; Mrs. Ruthella Fey and Mrs. Mary White, parsonage committee.

Devotionals and group singing were conducted by Mrs. Madeline Little. Others in the playlet, "Relocated Chinese Christians" were Mrs. Edith Nield, Mrs. Rose Yeargan, Mrs. Pauline Hardinger, and Mrs. Willetta Heavner. Rev. E. Kyle Sawyers offered prayer. Routine reports were given by Mrs. Wilson, Mrs. White, Mrs. Mary Ellen Growden, and Mrs. Nield.

Club Has Party

Individual stunts and group singing of carols featured the program at the Christmas party of the Bedford Road Homemakers Club, Tuesday in the social room of St. Luke's Lutheran Church. Mrs. Paul Gilford conducted the caroling, with Mrs. Thurman Cassell at the piano. A gift of appreciation was presented to Mrs. Frederick Roberts. Mrs. Theodore Wojcic, who will assume her duties as president in January, was introduced.

Santa was portrayed by Mrs. Thomas Boyle, who distributed gifts. Recognition was paid to Mrs. Otis Wiseman, one of the earliest club members. Mrs. James Quinn read the Scripture; Mrs. Boyle gave a reading and Mrs. Gilford sang. Ceramic trees, made by Mrs. Melvin Critzman, were the favors.

NEW YORK (AP)—Wall Street analysts said Wednesday they believe there will be a settlement of the steel dispute before the Taft-Hartley injunction expires Jan. 26.

They agreed that the steel industry, the United Steelworkers Union and the public do not want terms of a settlement dictated by Congress.

Their comment was inspired by President Eisenhower's statement at his news conference in Washington that he will take action if management and the union fail to agree.

"President Eisenhower's statement that the government will not sit idly by if the strike is not settled should not be dismissed as unimportant," said L. O. Hooper of Bache & Co.

"Both sides will be placed under considerable pressure to come to a meeting of the minds. It is highly possible that a settlement will be effected to avoid unwelcome congressional action."

Gerald Loeb of E. F. Hutton & Co. commented that, "Somehow or some way the workers are not going out again. Everyone has realized that the strike was a lot more disastrous than was thought possible. We don't want to live in a 'have-to' economy."

Pointing out that industry and the union seem miles apart and that the industry has submitted what it calls its last offer, Walter Moore of Reynolds & Co. expressed the opinion that "Things will look that way until the bitter end. Then they will reach agreement because they don't want congressional action."

"The expectation is and has been that one way or another the dispute will be settled," said Anthony Tabell of Walston & Co. "I haven't seen any forecast of conditions that hasn't been based on the thought that there will be a settlement and that it will be inflationary."

"If the President is again forced to act, this time perhaps recommending legislation, it will be a feat for the entire economy," said George Weiss of Bache & Co.

Spear & Staff, Inc., says the next few months may bring important developments which could affect holders of domestic and foreign lead-zinc stocks. It cites: Australia and Canada, major producers, recently warned the United States that unless we lifted quota restrictions on lead-zinc imports, they might adopt retaliatory measures. Six major U.S. lead-zinc smelters asked the U. S. Tariff Commission to drop import quotas and replace them with higher tariffs. Congress will get the commission's recommendation by March 31.

Universal Controls, Inc., and Universal Match Co. are pooling scientific engineering forces to produce vending machines which will take paper money. The first step will be to develop machines for automatic vending of mutuel tickets at race tracks, then for selling railroad and bus tickets.

Missile Detection Tests Scheduled

WASHINGTON (UPI) — The Defense Department announced Wednesday that a series of 1,500-mile missiles will be fired from Johnston Island in the Pacific to test anti-missile detection equipment being installed on Roi Namur Island, 1,420 miles away.

Nearly 100 million dollars worth of radar and other detection equipment is being assembled on Roi Namur for the tests, the announcement said. The Army said the test series will probably get underway in late 1961 or early 1962 when the installation is completed.

While the primary purpose of the experiments is to test detection equipment, they will also afford an opportunity to measure the accuracy of the Nike-Zeus anti-missile in firings against the unarmed missiles launched from Johnston Island.

West German Motorists Give Safety Brushoff

By WELLINGTON LONG

BONN, Germany (UPI) — West German motorists are killing themselves at an appalling rate and often grow violent when anyone tries to stop them.

In the last 18 months, for instance, at least 26 railroad-crossing watchmen have been beaten severely by drivers who resented their efforts to keep them from colliding with approaching trains.

In ratio to the population, the number of traffic deaths is just as high in West Germany as it is in the U. S. — about 23 per 100,000.

But the actual rate is a lot higher when you compare the density of traffic. In the U. S., there is one motor vehicle for evey 2.5 persons. Here, it's only one for every 14.

And with 500,000 new passenger cars going onto West German roads every year, police and civic organizations are starting to worry. Lately, psychiatric associations have begun studying the problem, too.

44 Killed

Matters almost came to a head in June, when an overloaded bus was hit by a train near Heild bronn, and 44 persons were killed.

Investigation showed that the watchman had lowered the barrier when the train approached, but had raised it again at the insistence of one or more impatient drivers. One passenger cargot across before the train arrived. The bus did not.

Transport Minister Hans-Cristoph Seebohm, with an air of resignation, told parliament that his ministry had considered any number of means of replacing crossing watchmen and gates.

But, he said, the experts felt that if German drivers refuse to obey a watchman, they will pay even less attention to train whistles, flashing red lights or warning bells.

No Courtesy

Police complain there is no courtesy among German drivers, which happens also to be the first and loudest complaint most foreign drivers — particularly American and British — make when they visit this country.

Driving along the four-lane autobahns is an adventure, complete with sound and color effects.

Most German cars have, in addition to a horn, a device which causes the headlights to flicker rapidly.

These two signals are in use all along the autobahns, a careful driver will be rolling along the left-hand, high-speed lane at, say, 65 miles an hour, overhauling a mile-long row of trucks, when he is assaulted from the rear by another car, blinking its light, blowing its horn — and riding about four feet fro mhis rear bumper.

Gives Some Hope

Mannheim traffic judge recently gave hope that this particular menace may be driven from the roads. The judge declared that such tactics amount to attempted assault and battery, and are liable to the same punishment.

A Bonn traffic official said recently he reckons that every driver in the city of 120,000 ignores the 35-mile speed limit in built-up areas more than half the time.

At a meeting of an industrialist's club in Duesseldorf a few weeks ago, it was resolved that an attempt should be made to have such speed limits raised.

Members said if they had to obey such regulations, it would mean they must drop their four-speed racing-type cars from top into third gear every time they entered a village, and that that was simply out of the question.

So it appears there will be another 12,500 traffic deaths here this year, and one accident for every five vehicles on the road.

One-third of the population of the United States can reach Virginia's Skyline drive within a day's journey by auto. In the fall the hardwood forests on the mountain road blaze with red and yellow leaves, attracting thousands of visitors, the National Geographic Society says.

West German Motorists Give Safety Brushoff

By WELLINGTON LONG

BONN, Germany (UPI) — West German motorists are killing themselves at an appalling rate and often grow violent when anyone tries to stop them.

In the last 18 months, for instance, at least 26 railroad-crossing watchmen have been beaten severely by drivers who resented their efforts to keep them from colliding with approaching trains.

In ratio to the population, the number of traffic deaths is just as high in West Germany as it is in the U. S. — about 23 per 100,000.

But the actual rate is a lot higher when you compare the density of traffic. In the U. S., there is one motor vehicle for evey 2.5 persons. Here, it's only one for every 14.

And with 500,000 new passenger cars going onto West German roads every year, police and civic organizations are starting to worry. Lately, psychiatric associations have begun studying the problem, too.

44 Killed

Matters almost came to a head in June, when an overloaded bus was hit by a train near Heild bronn, and 44 persons were killed.

Investigation showed that the watchman had lowered the barrier when the train approached, but had raised it again at the insistence of one or more impatient drivers. One passenger cargot across before the train arrived. The bus did not.

Transport Minister Hans-Cristoph Seebohm, with an air of resignation, told parliament that his ministry had considered any number of means of replacing crossing watchmen and gates.

But, he said, the experts felt that if German drivers refuse to obey a watchman, they will pay even less attention to train whistles, flashing red lights or warning bells.

No Courtesy

Police complain there is no courtesy among German drivers, which happens also to be the first and loudest complaint most foreign drivers — particularly American and British — make when they visit this country.

Driving along the four-lane autobahns is an adventure, complete with sound and color effects.

Most German cars have, in addition to a horn, a device which causes the headlights to flicker rapidly.

These two signals are in use all along the autobahns, a careful driver will be rolling along the left-hand, high-speed lane at, say, 65 miles an hour, overhauling a mile-long row of trucks, when he is assaulted from the rear by another car, blinking its light, blowing its horn — and riding about four feet fro mhis rear bumper.

Gives Some Hope

Mannheim traffic judge recently gave hope that this particular menace may be driven from the roads. The judge declared that such tactics amount to attempted assault and battery, and are liable to the same punishment.

A Bonn traffic official said recently he reckons that every driver in the city of 120,000 ignores the 35-mile speed limit in built-up areas more than half the time.

At a meeting of an industrialists club in Duesseldorf a few weeks ago, it was resolved that an attempt should be made to have such speed limits raised.

Members said if they had to obey such regulations, it would mean they must drop their four-speed racing-type cars from top into third gear every time they entered a village, and that that was simply out of the question.

So it appears there will be another 12,500 traffic deaths here this year, and one accident for every five vehicles on the road.

One-third of the population of the United States can reach Virginia's Skyline drive within a day's journey by auto. In the fall the hardwood forests on the mountain road blaze with red and yellow leaves, attracting thousands of visitors, the National Geographic Society says.

Keeping Up With Hollywood

by Louella Parsons

HOLLYWOOD—That very funny and very astute young man, Tony Randall, told me he almost pulled the pen out of Carlo Ponti's hand so quick was he to sign the contract to co-star with Sophia Loren in "The Miracle Girl."

"The picture calls for 10 weeks of shooting in Paris, plus being a good role." Tony grinned happily, "and with Sophia to make love to during working hours, of course, what more could any man ask?"

I said, "I thought Sophia was determined to have a long rest."

"Well, the picture doesn't start until October—so that should be enough time," answered Tony.

Not since Robert Montgomery has Hollywood had such a deft smooth romantic comedian as this Mr. Randall. Mark my words, he's well on his way, particularly after "Pillow Talk."

Just because his acting has brought Tony Perkins more fame than singing doesn't mean that Tony doesn't love to warble. And Warble he will in Frank Loesser's "Green Willows" which opens at the Alvin Theatre in New York March 13. The stage deal was just set today and a thing that makes Tony particularly happy is that George Roy Hill, who directed him in his highly successful Broadway appearance in "Look Homeward, Angel," will direct "Green Willows."

Tony says he'll leave for New York as soon as he has finished "Psycho" for Alfred Hitchcock soon after the first of the year. "I'll need some rehearsing for that singing job," he said, even though he has sung on TV and had a record cut.

Remember lovely Anna May Wong—who knew what it was to be an Oriental charmer and star long before France Nuyhen and Miyoshi Umeki came along? Well you have producer Ross Hunter's word for it that Anna May is just as beautiful today as she was 20 years ago and Ross should know. He's just signed her for the role of Lana Turner's housekeeper in "Portrait in Black."

This was the first business on Ross's agenda after his flying trip to Europe and San Francisco where he scouted locations for his U-I movie. He tells me that since she gave up her career several years ago, Anna May has been living quietly right here in Los Angeles so it wasn't hard for him to find her.

The shocking news of Wynn Rocamora's death has left all of us who loved him numb. If only we had known he was sick, worried and unhappy. He kept his troubles to himself and gave no indication that life had become so difficult. The day before his death he seemed happy and gay.

He had represented me as an agent for 20 years and was not only my agent but one of my closest friends. He was very tired at the end of the Hollywood Bowl season because he had worked so hard and done such a magnificent job. I always felt he was very proud of his success in bringing the great talent of the world to Hollywood.

If he hadn't left a note I would have thought it was an accidental overdose of sleeping pills. I just can't believe he really meant to end his life.

The most important event coming up for Jeanne Crain (Mrs. Paul Brinkman) is welcoming her sixth child in January. But soon after this Jeanne, who was at Sonja Henie's party, told me she is resuming her screen career. Independent producers Jerry Brandt and director Richard Bare want her for their original story, "The Polygamist."

The period dates back to before multiple marriages were barred in the USA, and is about a Mormon wife who deeply loves her husband but can't bear him a child. Instead she has to stand aside and like it when her husband takes a second spouse.

This certainly never can be called type casting. Jeanne is the proud mother of one of the handsomest group of children in Hollywood.

Answers Your Problems

DEAR ANN: I had to take a stiff drink to get up the courage to write this letter, but my mind is clear and I hope you will print it. I ruined my daughter's life because I was stubborn and ignorant. Maybe another mother can learn something from my horrible mistake.

When Mary Elizabeth was 16 I caught her and her boy friend in the act of heavy necking. They had just returned from a beach party and were wearing swimming suits. It was disgraceful.

I threw him out of the house and kept Mary Elizabeth up all night threatening and scolding. I made her quit the high school band because the boy was in it. I wouldn't let her go out with him or anyone else.

Her school work fell down and she lost interest in everything. All the kids knew she couldn't accept invitations so after awhile she was left out of everything.

Mary Elizabeth quit high school in her senior year, only weeks before her garduation. She got a job as a grocery clerk. All her ambition and interest in life disappeared. Now she's 34—a nervous, sour old maid. She's a confirmed man-hater and won't fix herself up or even buy clothes.

The family doctor told me I ruined this girl's life. He said I should never have cut her off from young people—that getting caught was punishment enough. He said I should have given her a chance immediately to prove she could be trusted.

Take my advice, Mothers—if your daughter disappoints you as mine did, don't torture her with reminders. Help her to make a future. I wrecked my daughter's life and I can never forgive myself.

BROKEN HEARTED MOTHER

DEAR ANN: I've been reading your column for a long time and have decided this world is sure full of crazy people.

I have a solution to most of the troubles in America. Why not round up these boys who get girls into trouble, the husbands who cheat on their wives, the young loafers on almost every street corner in the country and put them all in the army? This way, society can be safe from them, and they'd be where they would have to toe the mark—or else. I think I have a point and I hope you will agree.

FIGURED OUT

DEAR FIGURED: You've got a point all right—but if you part your hair right it may not show.

How would you like to trust the national safety to a bunch of loafers and delinquents? The army isn't a penitentiary but one of our national institutions and we want to be proud of the men in it.

DEAR ANN LANDERS: Tell that lady who is mad at her husband because he sits in the window Saturday afternoons and watches the pretty girls as they come and go to the modeling school that she is all wet.

I had an old rooster who chased chickens for 62 years, but he always came home to roost. With all his faults I loved him dearly and now that he is gone I miss him terribly.

I was a cateress in some of the wealthiest homes in the east and I found skeletons in every closet I opened. The fat cats did more than chase and look . . . they caught. Tell Mama so long as the guy is at home she has nothing to worry about.—MRS. J.P.J.

President's Negative Votes

Three times during the past year, Mr. Rowan, the board president, cast a negative vote. All three "no" votes were recorded last Spring. On March 24 he opposed Mr. Mason and Mr. Wilson on a motion to sponsor House Bill 769, which pertained to the transfer of certain County Health Department employes to the State Health Department.

On April 7, the board president again voted negatively, when the two other commissioners agreed to pay the George Construction Company $485 for installing a brass rail since removed from in front of the Court House. Mr. Rowan said then that the bill was over three years old and it was an illegal and irregular bill.

Finally, on May 19, Mr. Rowan cast another "No" vote when Commissioners Mason and Wilson decided to award Urner Wigfield, local tree surgean, the contract to trim and treat trees around the Court House for $280 and around the County Infirmary for $245.

The board president argued unsuccessfully that the county commissioners should have received at least three estimates on the work. The other two commissioners countered by saying that Mr. Wigfield is the only tree expert in the area.

Only once in the 12 months which ended this week did Commissioner Mason vote "no." That was last February 6 on a motion to appoint Miss Joan Lear as a clerk in the surplus food office at $1,900 a year.

Disputed Parade

Well, I watched the disputed Macy Day parade on both networks, just to prove that I am impartial, and all I can say is that CBS was upstream. This was cool of them, very cool. What it boils down to is this: you saw the Perth Amboy, New Jersey, String Band twenty minutes earlier on CBS than you saw it on NBC. This took all the surprise out of the Perth Amboy, New Jersey, String Band, feathered headdresses and all.

I mean the Perth Amboy, New Jersey, String Band has only got one act and once you've seen it, you've seen it. At least until next year. This applied to most but not all the marchers. The clown driving a model-T had several acts—and did one on CBS and quite a different and more elaborate one on NBC. But he was the exception. Mostly a drum majorette—I'm speaking generally here though there might be exceptions—has only one hip wiggle in her repertoire and once she has shown it on CBS she had blown it as far as NBC was concerned.

Otherwise, though, I think it was a fine parade and I don't think the children who were its chief targets really minded it being on two networks or even noticed that it was. They were both sponsored by toy manufacturers which afforded us all a glimpse of how much Christmas is going to cost this year. Plenty. They had the decency not to put the price of that missile launching set down but I can tell from here what it cost. Plenty.

The Ethel Merman special had some perfectly awful moments in it—notably the scene in front of Buckingham Palace which was just embarrassing — and some wonderful moments, notably when Miss Merman belted out fifteen of her songs. This is normal—high points and low points—in a show of this sort. But the sum total effect was of disappointment and I think I know why. Tape.

The Merman show had had the daylights taped out of it. It was produced to a fare-thee-well with crystal chandeliers and fancy floors and wind machines blowing Merman's dress and every one of those things diminished Miss Merman as a person. Miss Merman got out of one number and into another number too fast to be real. I have a friend who insists they turned up the speed of the tape machine so that we saw a two-hour show speeded up to the point where it was compressed into one.

Miss Merman's great asset is a sort of animal drive whose sheer horsepower exceeds that of any three other entertainers. She doesn't need mechanical assistance, and giving it to her makes the marvelous muscularity of her voice a little less marvelous.

I have in front of me the statement of the American Broadcasting Company which ends with the ringing words: "We have concluded our investigation with renewed faith and confidence in Dick Clark's integrity." It's declarations like that that renews any man's faith. I want ABC to know that I'm having the whole statement done in petit-point suitable for framing and we're hanging it on the wall right under "God Bless Our Happy Home" and a little to the left of "Think." The copy boys will be instructed to salute it and we shall light a candle under it on Father's Day.

Lately, CBS has subtly changed its stand on canned laughter. Now they're talking, over there, about announcing that it's canned; originally, they were going to get rid of it altogether. That leads me to a myth that has grown up over the years to the point where it's accepted as gospel. That is that people at home simply can't laugh in an empty room unless spurred by studio or canned laughter out of the box.

It's a great theory, fully time tested, stoutly believed by the best people, sworn to by notaries and all that. The only trouble is, it isn't true. If it's funny, people will bellow with laughter without any spurs or accompaniment. If it isn't, no amount of canned laughter will help a bit.

Now the Federal Trade Commission is going to investigate Colgate, the toothpaste which protects your teeth from base-

COMPLETE SELECTION OF CHRISTMAS WRAPPINGS AT 74 BALTIMORE STREET

Local Man Indicted By Bedford Jury

A Cumberland man serving a sentence in the Maryland House of Correction for statutory burglary was indicted Tuesday by the Bedford County Grand Jury for the burglary of a Bedford County school.

He is Delbert Campbell, who said he lived on Bedford Street when he was initially arrested by Cumberland police on June 26.

Campbell was given a three-year sentence in the Jessups institution after being found guilty of statutory burglary on June 17 of a Route 40 gas station in Garrett County.

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley sentenced the local man after his trial by a jury in Oakland on October 1.

E. William VanHorn Jr., district attorney for Bedford County, said Campbell was indicted by the jury on a charge of burglarizing the Colerain Township School.

He said articles taken included tools and food together with some money.

The district attorney said it has not been determined whether Campbell will be returned to Bedford County from the House of Correction when criminal trials begin next week in Bedford County.

It is possible a detainer for Campbell will be placed in the House of Correction for his return to Bedford County upon completing his three years.

The grand jury also indicted a Bedford Valley man, William A. Fletcher, of RD 3, Bedford, on a morals offense.

William Shomo, Buffalo Mills, indicted for operating a motor vehicle when his driver's license was suspended, will be tried Monday morning, Van Horn said.

For the first time in Bedford County's history, the grand jury was comprised of nine men and nine women. Women have been serving on juries in that county for the past five years but this is the first time equal division in the numbers was made.

Americans spend more for tobacco and alcoholic beverages than they do for nearly all forms of medical care.

Henry Miller To Speak On West Coast

The president of one of the top apple concerns in the Appalachian area, Henry W. Miller Jr., Paw Paw, will attend two important meetings on the West Coast within the next week.

He flew yesterday to San Francisco where on Friday he will attend a meeting of the U.S. Horticulture Council, of which he is a member.

This is an advisory organization to the Secretary of Agriculture on foreign trade and also works with the U. S. State Department.

On Monday he will address the Washington State Horticulture Association on "Changing Production and Marketing Methods in West Virginia," at the "Apple Capital of the World," Wenatchee, Wash.

There in the heart of the West Coast fruit belt will be convened approximately 2,000 growers.

Then next Wednesday, Miller, who is president of Consolidated Orchards, Inc., will conduct a question and answer period. He will answer questions submitted by Washington State apple growers on methods used by Consolidated.

Consolidated has half its holdings in Allegany County and the other half in Morgan and Hampshire counties with headquarters at Paw Paw. The firs' is one of the ten largest apple shippers in the nation.

Ore Taken From Yards At Ridgeley

About 25 to 30 cars a day are being loaded at the Knobmount yard, and dispatched to various mills of U. S. Steel.

However, at Maryland Junction, more ore of a different type is being stored for future use.

During the long steel strike ore unloaded at Baltimore from ships arriving from South America was hauled here by Western Maryland and stored because the mills had no place for it.

The railroad did not store it in cars on sidings, but chose to free the hoppers for other uses.

There still remain thousands of tons of 17 different types of ore stockpiled in the West Virginia yards.

balls. The suspicion has been advanced that it doesn't. While you're at it, FTC, I wish you'd look into that sparkplug which pulls ten water skiers. I have information that it will really pull only nine water skiers. By George, we can't go selling spark plugs under false pretenses like that. Man buys a sparkplug and jolly well wants to know that his wife and children are safe back there on those water skiis just as a man ought to be able to go to work after brushing his teeth fully secure in the knowledge that no baseball can get at him.

Local Man Indicted By Bedford Jury

A Cumberland man serving a sentence in the Maryland House of Correction for statutory burglary was indicted Tuesday by the Bedford County Grand Jury for the burglary of a Bedford County school.

He is Delbert Campbell, who said he lived on Bedford Street when he was initially arrested by Cumberland police on June 26.

Campbell was given a three-year sentence in the Jessups institution after being found guilty of statutory burglary on June 17 of a Route 40 gas station in Garrett County.

Associate Judge Neil C. Fraley sentenced the local man after his trial by a jury in Oakland on October 1.

E. William VanHorn Jr., district attorney for Bedford County, said Campbell was indicted by the jury on a charge of burglarizing the Colerain Township School.

He said articles taken included tools and food together with some money.

The district attorney said it has not been determined whether Campbell will be returned to Bedford County from the House of Correction when criminal trials begin next week in Bedford County.

It is possible a detainer for Campbell will be placed in the House of Correction for his return to Bedford County upon completing his three years.

The grand jury also indicted a Bedford Valley man, William A. Fletcher, of RD 3, Bedford, on a morals offense.

William Shomo, Buffalo Mills, indicted for operating a motor vehicle when his driver's license was suspended, will be tried Monday morning, Van Horn said.

For the first time in Bedford County's history, the grand jury was comprised of nine men and nine women. Women have been serving on juries in that county for the past five years but this is the first time equal division in the numbers was made.

Americans spend more for tobacco and alcoholic beverages than they do for nearly all forms of medical care.

Henry Miller To Speak On West Coast

He flew yesterday to San Francisco where on Friday he will attend a meeting of the U.S. Horticulture Council, of which he is a member.

Watchdog For The Taxpayer

Within the sprawling framework of the national government, there exists a corps of auditors with the authority and responsibility for overseeing the accountability and proper expenditure of every dollar appropriated by Congress, with the exception of certain funds relating to dealings with foreign nations.

The General Accounting Office, with a staff of 5,000 and budget of $33 million, every so often makes the headlines with the discovery of some underhanded or extravagant misuse of public funds. The Executive Branch of the government lacks the power to cloak its activities in secrecy.

One of the few government agencies which pays for itself, the GAO last year returned to the Treasury $67 million, or more than twice the amount required to finance its operations. Most of the savings it manages to effect for the taxpayers come from renegotiated contracts with government suppliers. But the savings it effects as a deterrent influence can easily be in the billions.

Significant also are the savings from elimination of waste, duplication and poor record keeping within the multitude of executive agencies. Recently the GAO made a survey of telephone costs in government and found poor management was costing the country a million dollars annually for unnecessary telephone calls.

Traditionally an agency of Congress, the General Accounting Office fortunately is unhampered by the usual restrictions found within the Executive Branch. Responsible to the several appropriations and operations committees of Congress, the role of the GAO has grown with the complexity of the national government.

Today, it provides the major protection available against unwise expenditures of public monies, a vital function in times of record peacetime budgets and expanded operations.

These Days

By George E. Sokolsky

Rate Of Growth

Just as a decade ago, Americans believed that we possessed a quality referred to blatantly as "know-how," which other nations did not possess, so today we grow pessimistic over a phrase "rate of growth." The power of phrases to confuse men's minds is very potent indeed. It is almost paralytic. It makes some of us despondent because we assume that we are no longer as good as we used to be.

When we believed that we possessed the extraordinary quality, know-how, which others did not possess, we were suffering from an inexcusable egotism. Actually, there is no monopoly of brains. Intelligence is individual not collective. There is no American intelligence or British intelligence or Russian intelligence. There was the intelligence of Thomas Edison, of Albert Einstein, of Guglielmo Marconi, of Dmitri Mendeleyev, of Sigmund Freud, of Ludwig van Beethoven. And so one goes through names, lists of names in every category of intellectual activity. The names represent persons, not committees; men or women, not nations.

The most that can be said about any nation is that within its geographic confines, conditions obtained which made it possible for genius to expose itself and blossom. In the United States, since the Civil War, mechanical inventiveness and mass production developed more rapidly than in many other countries but not more rapidly than in Germany or Japan.

During much of that period, Russia remained a primitive agricultural country with a small but negligible volume of industrial productivity. Indeed, the greatest degree of Russian productivity in those remote days was in Russian Poland and the Ukraine. Warsaw, Lodz, Bialystok, Kiev, Odessa were cities of small manufactures. There were others. The largest iron works was in Petrograd but there was no modern steel plant anywhere. On the other hand, small Czechoslovakia possessed one of the greatest steel units in Europe, the Skoda Works.

It is therefore true that the Soviet rate of growth since 1917 has been swifter than ours. If they did anything at all, percentage-wise, it could be a thousand per cent improvement. When the base is zero, every move upward is rapid growth. For instance, we can, if there are no strikes, produce about 140,000,000 tons of steel a year. The probability is that we do not need to produce much more than that for our own use, no matter how prosperous we may be. In fact, other metals are being used as substitutes for steel, for instance, aluminum. This represents no loss in the national economy or in the quality of the goods produced. Soviet Russia now produces about 60,000,000 tons of steel. But Russia's development from a primitive economy to a 20th century industrial base for 200,000,000 people requires more steel than that. Therefore Russia, to be a modern nation, must have a more rapid growth than we have. A baby grows more rapidly than a man does. A new industrial system must grow faster than a well-established one.

The rate of growth is a fallacious figure. If one wants to note the swiftest rate of growth among nations, he should look at Japan from 1868 to 1914—that is from the Meiji Revolution to World War I. When Commodore Perry opened Japan to world trade in 1853, Japan had a primitive island economy, based on household production. By 1914, Japan was one of the five principal powers on Earth based on an economy second only to Great Britain and third in all the world. The rate of growth in Japan exceeded that of Great Britain where the Industrial Revolution and modern capitalism got their start. Unfortunately, to maintain its position, Japan had to conquer China. This involved Japan on the wrong side disastrously during World War II.

As it is, the gross national product of the United States is about twice that of Soviet Russia. Khrushchev is more modest than those unrealistic Americans who are frightened by the progress of any other nation. Khrushchev says that Russia will pass the United States; he does not claim that this has already happened.

Khrushchev once said of the capitalists: "If there were a God and He could act, He would take a good broom and sweep you out." It was a peasant's campaign argument. Perhaps the best answer is that as there is a God, He knows what to do about his errant children.

Invitation To The Weary Traveler

U. S. Must Pull Up Socks, Forget Self Pity

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

To the returning traveler, the voice of Lyndon Baines Johnson of Texas sounds remarkably refreshing. Along with some things that politicians naturally say in election years, the Texas Senator said a few things, the other day, that badly needed saying.

In particular, he made the forecast (not necessarily optimistic), that our agitated world is on the verge of "the century's most dynamic decade." He added the warning that "America must not stop, just as the rest of the world is beginning to move." And he offered the excellent summation:

"In the next decade, our capacity for leadership will be as vital as our capacity for arms. (But) we cannot lead by wringing our hands and biting our nails and agonizing over the decline of America's character."

After a good many weeks in the Far East, peering through the bamboo curtain at the current agony of the hundreds of millions of Chinese peasants, one really hankered to hear some one or other say exactly what Sen. Johnson said. It was a very curious experience indeed, spending all day, every day, talking to the pitiful refugees and escapees from the Chinese country side, and then going back to the hotel to read the orgies of self doubt and self pity in the news from home.

A minor academic four-flusher was revealed as less than honest on a television quiz show. Judging by the reaction, you might have supposed that all morals and all decency were dead in the United States. There was some decline in the vast gold hoard at Fort Knox. Judging by the reaction, you might have supposed that the richest and most fortunate nation in history was tottering on the brink of total bankruptcy. And so it went.

It is no part of a wandering reporter's duty to diagnose the nation's ills, but perhaps there was a useful clue in the experience of sharp contrast described above. When you have studied the present cruel enslavement of the most numerous race on earth, you cannot really believe in the hopeless immorality of kindly America. It is also a little hard to believe in the imminence of national bankruptcy, when you note that the combined family fortunes of two of the current Presidential aspirants amount to about half of the unpledged gold and dollar reserve of the British Empire.

Yet the spectacle of enforced effort and enforced sacrifice in China had its lesson, nonetheless. For example, as one crude way of measuring the sacrifices being demanded of the Chinese peasantry, I took the price on the Macao market of the average ration of food, cloth, and the like, for an able-bodied farmer in Kwangtung Province. The total cost, using low-grade rice, which is all the farmers get, amounted to the equivalent of three American cents per day.

China's townspeople, industrial workers, soldiers, and other more privileged groups live better than the Kwangtung farmers. But consider that figure of three cents a day. Remember that it is at least highly unlikely that the peasantry in other provinces live much better than the peasants of Kwangtung. For the 500 million toiling Chinese peasants, then, you get an annual maintenance cost to the state not much above $5.5 to $7 billions.

Meanwhile, the Chinese Communist state is spending 27,000,000,000 yuan a year on capital improvements. Accurate conversion is impossible, but this sum devoted to national investment is hardly less-and probably more—than half the total apparent maintenance costs of China's teeming peasantry. Even if this Draconic investment policy leads to an explosion, as it may, this kind of national effort is a truly awe-inspiring phenomenon. And therein lies its lesson.

For surely the real source of America's self pity and America's self doubt, is a dim but growing sense that we cannot compete in the modern world without somewhat greater efforts and sacrifices. Inside Washington

By Henry Cathcart

SMALL TOWN — Washington residents have long been convinced that the capital is nothing more than an over-grown small town. Now they've been given some statistics to back up their opinion.

Of the 82 world capitals, 68 are also their nations' largest cities. Washington is the ninth ranking city in the U. S. Of the 14 remaining capitals, only Canberra, Australia, is smaller than Washington in proportion to the population of its country.

Metropolitan Washington's two million people is 1.1 per cent of the nation's, while the average for the 14 smaller world capitals is about three per cent.

Statistics aside, there are many aspects of Washington that give it a small town flavor despite its large population. It is a middle class city, virtually devoid of the numerous night clubs and honky-tonks of other metropolitan areas. It's an early-to-bed town. Hotels and restaurants and bars are permitted to serve drinks until 2 a. m. under local laws, but most close about 1 a. m. because of lack of patrons.

A larger proportion of workers drive their own cars to their jobs than in most large cities, partly because of inadequate and antiquated public transportation, but partly because that's the way they got around in their own small towns before they came to Washington.

Culturally, Washington cannot compare to Paris, London or Rome. It's a lot more like an overgrown state capital.

ODD CARGO — Washington National Airport has a tumbleweed in its baggage room, and it doesn't know what to do about it.

The other day an air traveler from the west flew into Washington with the weed, checked it at the baggage counter and left. Officials, fearing that the passenger might have some need of the object, won't throw it away.

President Bayar Of Turkey Will Advise Ike To Keep U. S. Strong

By Drew Pearson

ANKARA — President Celal Bayar of Turkey has two grandsons at Columbia University. He fought alongside the famed Kemal Ataturk for the liberation of Turkey, achieved in 1923, and has been elected three times President of his country since 1950. He is seven years older than President Eisenhower and from the background of his long experience he'll tell Ike in a mild, almost fatherly, way of the Turkey he intends to keep strong as guardian of the gateway to Russia.

He'll also tell Ike that the United States must keep strong, it should join the CENTO (Central Treaty Organization) Alliance immediately, and be careful not to relax under Khrushchev's smiles until the free world has firm guarantees for peace.

"There's not one decent person in the world," President Bayar told me, "who doesn't wish for peace. But it's not sufficient to close one's eyes and do nothing but wait for peace."

Affection For America

The President of Turkey received me in the pink house which serves as the executive mansion and looks down from a hill on the newly built capital which the father of modern Turkey, Ataturk, located away from the fleshpots and foreign influence of Istanbul. Bayar is a kindly, courteous elder statesman who received me in a mahogany paneled room with heavy cold chandeliers and enormous Italian vases along the wall. In the first interview he has given a newsman during his nine years in office, he discussed Eisenhower's impending visit here.

"We Turks are looking forward with sincere anticipation to welcome President Eisenhower," he said. "He's a great general and statesman who personifies the United States from every standpoint and we want to express our affection toward America in his person.

"We propose to exchange views with Eisenhower about the international situation especially the present stage of relations between the East and West and to review recent developments in the Middle East.

"Every aspect of Turkish-American relations will certainly be another topic of our conversation. As you know we are an ally of the United States within NATO. We also are cooperating with her within the framework of CENTO (the revised Baghdad Pact including Turkey, Iran, Pakistan) founded for the defense of the Middle East. In addition we also signed last March the Turkish-American bilateral agreement for furtherance of the aims of CENTO. Parallel to these contractual ties there is full and sincere cooperation between the United States and Turkey in military and economic fields, and no doubt we'll further discuss strengthening this cooperation."

Why Aid Is Needed

In view of recent Congressional criticism of foreign aid, I asked President Bayar how U. S. economic and miiltary aid has been used by Turkey and why it is necessary. Calling for a big map of the Mediterranean he used a pencil to give me some geographic facts.

"Strategically Turkey occupies this very important position between Europe and Asia as well as between the Black Sea and the Mediterranean," Bayar pointed out. "In other words, Turkey constitutes the right flank of NATO and at the same time stands on the first line of the Middle East defense system.

"It is indispensable therefore that Turkey possess a strong basic foundation in every respect in order to be able to support her army without foreign help. In other words, Turkey's economic development in the long run will be a guarantee of her military strength.

"That's why military aid in the form of armament and equipment given the Turkish army by America plus economic aid to strengthen our general structure are such useful and important contributions. Since Turkey is an underdeveloped country economically and has to carry a heavy military burden, the continuance of assistance is considered necessary."

"How does Turkey's military burden compare with the civilian costs of the Turkish government?" I asked.

"Turkey allocates one-third of her national budget to military expenditures," President Bayar replied. "This is in addition to American military aid. Of course I'm sure you will appreciate the magnitude for a country whose standard of living is rather low in comparison to that of the West to make the sacrifice of keeping an army of half a million men almost totally under NATO command."

When I asked Bayar whether the Western powers needed to review their policy toward the Middle East he indicated the United States should do some reviewing of its refusal to join a pact which John Foster Dulles created — the old Baghdad Pact, now called CENTO.

Strong CENTO Vital

"The only effective policy to be followed in the Middle East today is the CENTO policy," Bayar said. "Effective defense of this region will prevent international Communism from leaping into Africa, thus surrounding NATO from the South. That's why I believe in the absolute necessity of strengthening the CENTO countries militarily and economically.

"One of the most important measures to be taken in this direction is adherence by the United States to CENTO as soon as possible. This would not only strengthen CENTO morally and materially but it would also give a clearer indication to other countries the intention of the United States toward CENTO."

By "other countries" President Bayar obviously referred to the Communist bloc. He also had in mind the fact that Sacretary Dulles lined up Turkey, Iran, Iraq, Pakistan — all nations looking across their borders into the muzzles of Russian artillery — as a defensive pact for the Middle East. But the United States, though the organizer, refused to be a joiner. Unquestionably a request that the United States join now will be the most important point urged on Ike during his conferences in Ankara.

Unquestionably also, whether he joins or not it will be a tipoff to Moscow and the world as to whether he'll continue his Camp David policy of not offending Khrushchev or revert to a colder, stiffer line. This is one of the most important points to watch on the President's trip.

Depilatories Are Safe When Used Properly

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A Long Island reader is worried about her teen-aged daughter who "removes the hair on her legs with chemicals. It works but won't it harm her skin when repeated over the year?"

It is reasonable to assume that anything strong enough to destroy hair may be irritating to the skin. It is for this reason that depilatories should be used according to directions on the box. The chemicals in the product are not absorbed through the skin, hence any reactions that occur are likely to be local.

There are bound to be a few individuals who are sensitive to some of the ingredients. Those with a tendency along this line should apply the depilatory (according to directions) to a small area on the arms or legs (not the face). If there is no reaction in the test area after a reasonable time, it may be safe to apply the substance where it is needed. If dermatitis follows the use of these toiletries, shaving the legs and auxiliary areas is better; for facial hair, cutting, plucking, or electrolysis are the best methods.

Many of the newer depilatories contain calcium thioglycollate, the same substance found in cold wave preparations. The chemical is altered for permanents so the hair is softened to take on a new curve.

When these products were introduced, there were some fears that they might prove harmful. We know now that few users are allergic and the majority of reactions occur in those who misuse the products or fail to follow directions. The situation may be different for beauty shop operators who apply the cold wave day after day. They should protect their hands, especially those with sensitive skin.

ARTIFICIAL OPENING

R. L. J. writes: In a colostomy, is the entire colon removed?

REPLY

No. Colostomy refers to the operation in which a small segment of the colon is brought to the outside of the abdominal wall in order to make an artificial opening, and bypass an intestinal obstruction or inflamed area. It is through this opening that the intestinal contents escape. The remainder of the bowel may be removed if it is diseased.

DROOPING ABDOMEN

Mrs. B. writes: Can you suggest any exercise to get rid of a pot belly in a 56 year old man who is thin with the exception of this one place?

REPLY

The best exercise is to lie flat on the back on the floor and raise the legs slowing until the heels are 6 inches off the floor. Hold the extremities in this position for a minute before lowering; then repeat several times.

IT'S A TOSSUP

Mrs. R. writes: I have had four daughters and am pregnant again. What are my chances of having a son?

REPLY

The chances are 50-50 with each pregnancy, regardless of the sex of the previous children. Gamblers are aware of these odds; when flipping a penny, for example, there may be a run of heads but the chances are still 50 per cent of getting tails on the next toss.

CRACKED SKIN

M. B. writes: What vitamin is lacking when a person has deep lines running from the corners of the mouth?

REPLY

If a vitamin deficiency is responsible for this disease (cheilitis) vitamin B12 should be helpful. Among other origins of these cracks are allergy and fungal infections.

NOSE NOT PLIABLE

C. R. writes: Will massaging a fat nose every day help make it smaller?

REPLY

No. The old proboscis cannot be molded like putty. If you are not satisfied, see a plastic surgeon.

TOMORROW: Helping the victim of parkinsonism.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

A New York critic was invited to Las Vegas to see the opening of a new night club revue, but his wife was reluctant to let him go. "But it's all free," expostulated the critic. "They pay all expenses." "Sure, sure," nodded the wife, "but I know you and those blackjack tables."

"I swear I'll never go near them," he vowed—and on that understanding she let him go.

A week later the faithful husband wired her, "True to my word I never went near the blackjack tables. I lost my whole wad at the crap table on the way in. Please wire money for return fare."

Part 2 – The Billy Rose Story

I walked into the lobby of the mansion. There was a sweep of white tile with black edging. A butler took the hat and the coat in silence. There was an elevator to the right. It took me to a big smoking room. Billy Rose, better looking at 60 than at 50, met me at the elevator.

The center halls are spacious. The stairway curves like a pretty hip. Everywhere there are old masters hanging on the walls, each face looking brightly or grimly down the centuries. An alabaster sphinx rests on a footstool. Logs flicker discreetly in a fireplace. A sterling cigarette box gleams under a table lamp.

There is a small office with a desk, a blackboard, and a Dow Jones ticker. Here, Billy Rose sits from 9:30 a. m. until 2:30 buying and selling blue chip stocks. His Wall Street business amounts to more than a million dollars a year and he divides it between Hutton, Ungeleiter and Dreyfuss.

The little loner chalks symbols on his blackboard, feeds the ticker tape through graceful hands, and phones his orders to buy or to sell. On his desk is a big television offer to put on a network show. Billy Rose thinks he will decline it. NBC doesn't understand that Rose would have to run the show alone. They have a clause in the contract about "good taste." Who knows what that is?

He bought the Ziegfeld Theatre 16 years ago for $630,000. Billy, as always, paid cash and paid in full. He has been offered $3,000,000 for the dream theatre, but he doesn't want it. The land alone, he reasons, is worth $200 a square foot and he has 15,000 feet of it. He has just bought the old National Theatre and it will be renamed the Billy Rose Theatre.

Monuments are important to a poor youngster. He can stop anything in the big house except the clocks. At 60, Billy has riches and esteem and powerful friends. Somewhere along the line he lost four women: his mother and three wives. He misses them, but Billy is not a weeper. He walks the halls alone, listening to the echo of shoe on marble.

In a corner, he has his own barber shop. It has a chair, a lot of equipment, a striped barber pole that lights and turns, an electric horse, a massage table and barbells. How often can he get a haircut?

In several rooms there is an electric coffee maker plugged and ready. He likes coffee. There are electric chafing dishes with chicken livers and cocktail frankfurters so that, if Mr. Rose feels hungry at 3 a. m., something is always ready.

The Spartan spark is in the bedroom. It is big, but, against a wall is an old iron bedstead used by one of Napoleon's generals. It is small and light. There is room for one. Outside, in a wall, is a built-in refrigerator. Down one flight there is a poolroom with a full-sized pool table overhung with two big orange globes.

Billy likes to shoot pool and he can run six or eight balls. There is an ornate card table, a black lacquered snack bar and, outside the room, a chilled wine cellar fronted by a bank vault door.

When he tires of the mansion, Billy goes to Tavern Island. This is a small body of land off Darien, Connecticut. He bought it outright, including the big house on it. He has servants there, and in the mansion too.

A few weeks ago, he wrote a will. In it, he left something for each of the old retainers. He left something for his two sisters and for his last wife, Joyce Mathews, and her child. There is nothing in it for Eleanor Holm because, as Billy says: "She's already been taken care of. We're the best of friends and she has nothing to worry about."

Most of his millions — perhaps ten when the estate is liquidated —will go to the Billy Rose Foundation. It will beautify "the gifted in the performing arts." If a good actress needs to have teeth straightened or scars covered, the foundation will do it, in secrecy.

I asked him if he ever went hungry over a period of time. The intelligent face smiled faintly. "Once, between jobs, I lived on two five-cent packages of salted peanuts a day for several weeks. They are the cheapest and most nourishing.". . .

Watchdog For The Taxpayer

Within the sprawling framework of the national government, there exists a corps of auditors with the authority and responsibility for overseeing the accountability and proper expenditure of every dollar appropriated by Congress, with the exception of certain funds relating to dealings with foreign nations.

The General Accounting Office, with a staff of 5,000 and budget of $33 million, every so often makes the headlines with the discovery of some underhanded or extravagant misuse of public funds. The Executive Branch of the government lacks the power to cloak its activities in secrecy.

One of the few government agencies which pays for itself, the GAO last year returned to the Treasury $67 million, or more than twice the amount required to finance its operations. Most of the savings it manages to effect for the taxpayers come from renegotiated contracts with government suppliers. But the savings it effects as a deterrent influence can easily be in the billions.

Significant also are the savings from elimination of waste, duplication and poor record keeping within the multitude of executive agencies. Recently the GAO made a survey of telephone costs in government and found poor management was costing the country a million dollars annually for unnecessary telephone calls.

Traditionally an agency of Congress, the General Accounting Office fortunately is unhampered by the usual restrictions found within the Executive Branch. Responsible to the several appropriations and operations committees of Congress, the role of the GAO has grown with the complexity of the national government.

Today, it provides the major protection available against unwise expenditures of public monies, a vital function in times of record peacetime budgets and expanded operations.

These Days

Rate Of Growth

Just as a decade ago, Americans believed that we possessed a quality referred to blatantly as "know-how," which other nations did not possess, so today we grow pessimistic over a phrase "rate of growth." The power of phrases to confuse men's minds is very potent indeed. It is almost paralytic. It makes some of us despondent because we assume that we are no longer as good as we used to be.

When we believed that we possessed the extraordinary quality, know-how, which others did not possess, we were suffering from an inexcusable egotism. Actually, there is no monopoly of brains. Intelligence is individual not collective. There is no American intelligence or British intelligence or Russian intelligence. There was the intelligence of Thomas Edison, of Albert Einstein, of Guglielmo Marconi, of Dmitri Mendeleyev, of Sigmund Freud, of Ludwig van Beethoven. And so one goes through names, lists of names in every category of intellectual activity. The names represent persons, not committees; men or women, not nations.

The most that can be said about any nation is that within its geographic confines, conditions obtained which made it possible for genius to expose itself and blossom. In the United States, since the Civil War, mechanical inventiveness and mass production developed more rapidly than in many other countries but not more rapidly than in Germany or Japan.

During much of that period, Russia remained a primitive agricultural country with a small but negligible volume of industrial productivity. Indeed, the greatest degree of Russian productivity in those remote days was in Russian Poland and the Ukraine. Warsaw, Lodz, Bialystok, Kiev, Odessa were cities of small manufactures. There were others. The largest iron works was in Petrograd but there was no modern steel plant anywhere. On the other hand, small Czechoslovakia possessed one of the greatest steel units in Europe, the Skoda Works.

It is therefore true that the Soviet rate of growth since 1917 has been swifter than ours. If they did anything at all, percentage-wise, it could be a thousand per cent improvement. When the base is zero, every move upward is rapid growth. For instance, we can, if there are no strikes, produce about 140,000,000 tons of steel a year. The probability is that we do not need to produce much more than that for our own use, no matter how prosperous we may be. In fact, other metals are being used as substitutes for steel, for instance, aluminum. This represents no loss in the national economy or in the quality of the goods produced. Soviet Russia now produces about 60,000,000 tons of steel. But Russia's development from a primitive economy to a 20th century industrial base for 200,000,000 people requires more steel than that. Therefore Russia, to be a modern nation, must have a more rapid growth than we have. A baby grows more rapidly than a man does. A new industrial system must grow faster than a well-established one.

The rate of growth is a fallacious figure. If one wants to note the swiftest rate of growth among nations, he should look at Japan from 1868 to 1914—that is from the Meiji Revolution to World War I. When Commodore Perry opened Japan to world trade in 1853, Japan had a primitive island economy, based on household production. By 1914, Japan was one of the five principal powers on Earth based on an economy second only to Great Britain and third in all the world. The rate of growth in Japan exceeded that of Great Britain where the Industrial Revolution and modern capitalism got their start. Unfortunately, to maintain its position, Japan had to conquer China. This involved Japan on the wrong side disastrously during World War II.

As it is, the gross national product of the United States is about twice that of Soviet Russia. Khrushchev is more modest than those unrealistic Americans who are frightened by the progress of any other nation. Khrushchev says that Russia will pass the United States; he does not claim that this has already happened.

Khrushchev once said of the capitalists: "If there were a God and He could act, He would take a good broom and sweep you out." It was a peasant's campaign argument. Perhaps the best answer is that as there is a God, He knows what to do about his errant children.

Invitation To The Weary Traveler

U. S. Must Pull Up Socks, Forget Self Pity

By Joseph Alsop

WASHINGTON

To the returning traveler, the voice of Lyndon Baines Johnson of Texas sounds remarkably refreshing. Along with some things that politicians naturally say in election years, the Texas Senator said a few things, the other day, that badly needed saying.

In particular, he made the forecast (not necessarily optimistic), that our agitated world is on the verge of "the century's most dynamic decade." He added the warning that "America must not stop, just as the rest of the world is beginning to move." And he offered the excellent summation:

"In the next decade, our capacity for leadership will be as vital as our capacity for arms. (But) we cannot lead by wringing our hands and biting our nails and agonizing over the decline of America's character."

After a good many weeks in the Far East, peering through the bamboo curtain at the current agony of the hundreds of millions of Chinese peasants, one really hankered to hear some one or other say exactly what Sen. Johnson said. It was a very curious experience indeed, spending all day, every day, talking to the pitiful refugees and escapees from the Chinese country side, and then going back to the hotel to read the orgies of self doubt and self pity in the news from home.

A minor academic four-flusher was revealed as less than honest on a television quiz show. Judging by the reaction, you might have supposed that all morals and all decency were dead in the United States. There was some decline in the vast gold hoard at Fort Knox. Judging by the reaction, you might have supposed that the richest and most fortunate nation in history was tottering on the brink of total bankruptcy. And so it went.

It is no part of a wandering reporter's duty to diagnose the nation's ills, but perhaps there was a useful clue in the experience of sharp contrast described above. When you have studied the present cruel enslavement of the most numerous race on earth, you cannot really believe in the hopeless immorality of kindly America. It is also a little hard to believe in the imminence of national bankruptcy, when you note that the combined family fortunes of two of the current Presidential aspirants amount to about half of the unpledged gold and dollar reserve of the British Empire.

Yet the spectacle of enforced effort and enforced sacrifice in China had its lesson, nonetheless. For example, as one crude way of measuring the sacrifices being demanded of the Chinese peasantry, I took the price on the Macao market of the average ration of food, cloth, and the like, for an able-bodied farmer in Kwangtung Province. The total cost, using low-grade rice, which is all the farmers get, amounted to the equivalent of three American cents per day.

China's townspeople, industrial workers, soldiers, and other more privileged groups live better than the Kwangtung farmers. But consider that figure of three cents a day. Remember that it is at least highly unlikely that the peasantry in other provinces live much better than the peasants of Kwangtung. For the 500 million toiling Chinese peasants, then, you get an annual maintenance cost to the state not much above $5.5 to $7 billions.

Meanwhile, the Chinese Communist state is spending 27,000,000,000 yuan a year on capital improvements. Accurate conversion is impossible, but this sum devoted to national investment is hardly less-and probably more—than half the total apparent maintenance costs of China's teeming peasantry. Even if this Draconic investment policy leads to an explosion, as it may, this kind of national effort is a truly awe-inspiring phenomenon. And therein lies its lesson.

For surely the real source of America's self pity and America's self doubt, is a dim but growing sense that we cannot compete in the modern world without somewhat greater efforts and sacrifices. Because of our rich heritage, we can get by with far less effort and far less sacrifice than any other nation. But we cannot grow as we ought to grow, and defend ourselves, and maintain our economic leadership and our political leadership, too, without rather more effort and more sacrifice than we are making now. And the sooner we pull up our socks in the indicated manner, the sooner the wails of self pity will cease to be heard.

By "other countries" President Bayar obviously referred to the Communist bloc. He also had in mind the fact that Secretary Dulles lined up Turkey, Iran, Iraq, Pakistan — all nations looking across their borders into the muzzles of Russian artillery — as a defensive pact for the Middle East. But the United States, though the organizer, refused to be a joiner. Unquestionably a request that the United States join now will be the most important point urged on Ike during his conferences in Ankara.

Unquestionably also, whether he joins or not it will be a tipoff to Moscow and the world as to whether he'll continue his Camp David policy of not offending Khrushchev or revert to a colder, stiffer line. This is one of the most important points to watch on the President's trip.

Part 2 – The Billy Rose Story

I walked into the lobby of the mansion. There was a sweep of white tile with black edging. A butler took the hat and the coat in silence. There was an elevator to the right. It took me to a big smoking room. Billy Rose, better looking at 60 than at 50, met me at the elevator.

The center halls are spacious. The stairway curves like a pretty hip. Everywhere there are old masters hanging on the walls, each face looking brightly or grimly down the centuries. An alabaster sphinx rests on a footstool. Logs flicker discreetly in a fireplace. A sterling cigarette box gleams under a table lamp.

There is a small office with a desk, a blackboard, and a Dow Jones ticker. Here, Billy Rose sits from 9:30 a. m. until 2:30 buying and selling blue chip stocks. His Wall Street business amounts to more than a million dollars a year and he divides it between Hutton, Ungeleiter and Dreyfuss.

The little loner chalks symbols on his blackboard, feeds the ticker tape through graceful hands, and phones his orders to buy or to sell. On his desk is a big television offer to put on a network show. Billy Rose thinks he will decline it. NBC doesn't understand that Rose would have to run the show alone. They have a clause in the contract about "good taste." Who knows what that is?

He bought the Ziegfeld Theatre 16 years ago for $630,000. Billy, as always, paid cash and paid in full. He has been offered $3,000,000 for the dream theatre, but he doesn't want it. The land alone, he reasons, is worth $200 a square foot and he has 15,000 feet of it. He has just bought the old National Theatre and it will be renamed the Billy Rose Theatre.

Monuments are important to a poor youngster. He can stop anything in the big house except the clocks. At 60, Billy has riches and esteem and powerful friends. Somewhere along the line he lost four women: his mother and three wives. He misses them, but Billy is not a weeper. He walks the halls alone, listening to the echo of shoe on marble.

In a corner, he has his own barber shop. It has a chair, a lot of equipment, a striped barber pole that lights and turns, an electric horse, a massage table and barbells. How often can he get a haircut?

In several rooms there is an electric coffee maker plugged and ready. He likes coffee. There are electric chafing dishes with chicken livers and cocktail frankfurters so that, if Mr. Rose feels hungry at 3 a. m., something is always ready.

The Spartan spark is in the bedroom. It is big, but, against a wall is an old iron bedstead used by one of Napoleon's generals. It is small and light. There is room for one. Outside, in a wall, is a built-in refrigerator. Down one flight there is a poolroom with a full-sized pool table overhung with two big orange globes,

Billy likes to shoot pool and he can run six or eight balls. There is an ornate card table, a black lacquered snack bar and, outside the room, a chilled wine cellar fronted by a bank vault door.

When he tires of the mansion, Billy goes to Tavern Island. This is a small body of land off Darien, Connecticut. He bought it outright, including the big house on it. He has servants there, and in the mansion too.

A few weeks ago, he wrote a will. In it, he left something for each of the old retainers. He left something for his two sisters and for his last wife, Joyce Mathews, and her child. There is nothing in it for Eleanor Holm because, as Billy says: "She's already been taken care of. We're the best of friends and she has nothing to worry about."

Most of his millions — perhaps ten when the estate is liquidated —will go to the Billy Rose Foundation. It will beautify "the gifted in the performing arts." If a good actress needs to have teeth straightened or scars covered, the foundation will do it, in secrecy.

I asked him if he ever went hungry over a period of time. The intelligent face smiled faintly. "Once, between jobs, I lived on two five-cent packages of salted peanuts a day for several weeks. They are the cheapest and most nourishing." . . .

Depilatories Are Safe When Used Properly

By Dr. Theodore R. Van Dellen

A Long Island reader is worried about her teen-aged daughter who "removes the hair on her legs with chemicals. It works but won't it harm her skin when repeated over the year?"

It is reasonable to assume that anything strong enough to destroy hair may be irritating to the skin. It is for this reason that depilatories should be used according to directions on the box. The chemicals in the product are not absorbed through the skin, hence any reactions that occur are likely to be local.

There are bound to be a few individuals who are sensitive to some of the ingredients. Those with a tendency along this line should apply the depilatory (according to directions) to a small area on the arms or legs (not the face). If there is no reaction in the test area after a reasonable time, it may be safe to apply the substance where it is needed. If dermatitis follows the use of these toiletries, shaving the legs and auxiliary areas is better; for facial hair, cutting, plucking, or electrolysis are the best methods.

Many of the newer depilatories contain calcium thioglycollate, the same substance found in cold wave preparations. The chemical is altered for permanents so the hair is softened to take on a new curve.

When these products were introduced, there were some fears that they might prove harmful. We know now that few users are allergic and the majority of reactions occur in those who misuse the products or fail to follow directions. The situation may be different for beauty shop operators who apply the cold wave day after day. They should protect their hands, especially those with sensitive skin.

ARTIFICIAL OPENING

R. L. J. writes: In a colostomy, is the entire colon removed?

REPLY

No. Colostomy refers to the operation in which a small segment of the colon is brought to the outside of the abdominal wall in order to make an artificial opening, and bypass an intestinal obstruction or inflamed area. It is through this opening that the intestinal contents escape. The remainder of the bowel may be removed if it is diseased.

DROOPING ABDOMEN

Mrs. B. writes: Can you suggest any exercise to get rid of a pot belly in a 56 year old man who is thin with the exception of this one place?

REPLY

The best exercise is to lie flat on the back on the floor and raise the legs slowing until the heels are 6 inches off the floor. Hold the extremities in this position for a minute before lowering; then repeat several times.

IT'S A TOSSUP

Mrs. R. writes: I have had four daughters and am pregnant again. What are my chances of having a son?

REPLY

The chances are 50-50 with each pregnancy, regardless of the sex of the previous children. Gamblers are aware of these odds; when flipping a penny, for example, there may be a run of heads but the chances are still 50 per cent of getting tails on the next toss.

CRACKED SKIN

M. B. writes: What vitamin is lacking when a person has deep lines running from the corners of the mouth?

REPLY

If a vitamin deficiency is responsible for this disease (cheilitis) vitamin B12 should be helpful. Among other origins of these cracks are allergy and fungal infections.

NOSE NOT PLIABLE

C. R. writes: Will massaging a fat nose every day help make it smaller?

REPLY

No. The old proboscis cannot be molded like putty. If you are not satisfied, see a plastic surgeon.

TOMORROW: Helping the victim of parkinsonism.

To the limit of space questions pertaining to the prevention of disease will be answered. Personal replies will be made when return stamped envelope is inclosed. Telephone inquiries not accepted. Dr. Van Dellen will not make diagnoses or prescribe for individual diseases.

Try And Stop Me

By Bennett Cerf

A New York critic was invited to Las Vegas to see the opening of a new night club revue, but his wife was reluctant to let him go. "But it's all free," expostulated the critic. "They pay all expenses." "Sure, sure," nodded the wife, "but I know you and those blackjack tables."

"I swear I'll never go near them," he vowed—and on that understanding she let him go.

A week later the faithful husband wired her, "True to my word I never went near the blackjack tables. I lost my whole wad at the crap table on the way in. Please wire money for return fare."

Few Barber Violations Found In Area

A campaign of enforcement of the Maryland barber laws in Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties has resulted in few violators being found, J. William Groves, this city, member of the State Board of Barber Examiners, said yesterday.

Most of the violations have been noted in Baltimore where about 500 barbers of 2,000 have failed to obtain or renew their licenses. Another sore spot has been on the fringes of Washington, Groves added.

The board announced that the program of licensing enforcement is being accompanied by a general campaign to increase standards.

Groves said he and his deputy for Western Maryland, Joseph P. Derrico, have found Garrett County barbers complying 100 per cent.

Not many violations have been found otherwise in the other two counties during the many visits by Grove and his deputy.

The state examiner estimated that there are from 700 to 800 barbers in the three counties, and each of these will be checked.

Vincent A. Cinquegrani, president of the state board, said a violator is subject to a minimum fine of $10 and 30 days in jail.

Under the present law, an applicant for a barber's license must serve an apprenticeship of two years in school or in a barbershop before he may be examined for a journeyman's license, Cinquegrani explained.

The previous board, he said, was reluctant to prosecute, but "we have checked with the attorney general and have been given a green light."

He said legislation is being drafted to permit examination upon completion of 1,200 credit hours in a barbering school approved by the State Department of Education. The two-year apprenticeship still could be served in a shop, however.

"Our goal is to encourage applicants to go to school, where training is much better, in order to improve standards," he said.

After December 1, proof of qualifications will be required from applicants, Cinquegrani warned, explaining that "up to now we've taken their word."

The board's inspectors have found widespread violations, he said, and in some cases have been able to "persuade" violators to obtain licenses. The initial registration fee and annual renewal fee are $2.

The board president estimated that there are 3,500 to 4,000 barbers in the State, but added that "most of the violators are in Baltimore."

Damage Suit Filed Here

Suit was docketed in Circuit Court yesterday by Mountaineer Corporation, a local firm, against the American and Foreign Insurance Company of New York City.

The local firm owns the building which houses the Maryland Employment Security offices at 239 North Mechanic Street and took out fire insurance on the building against direct loss as the result of explosion.

The E. J. Albrecht Company, the contractor on the local flood control project, was blasting in Wills Creek in connection with the project, according to the declaration filed by Noel Speir Cook, attorney, and the explosions of dynamite caused damage to the building.

Actual cost of repairs to the walls of the building was $1,100 and the Mountaineer firm is suing to recover damages of $1,200. It was stated the insurance firm has refused to pay the damages.

County Fills Old Reservoir

The old stone reservoir on the county farm property was filled in Wednesday by the County Roads Department to eliminate a hazardous condition.

Located on Wills Mountain, the reservoir was used many years ago as a source of water for the county institutions. For the last 10 years the reservoir has been cited for posing a threat to the life of youngsters who were using it as a swimming pool.

Many ideas were advanced to eliminate the hazard. At one time the City of Cumberland made inquiry as to its use as a park area. But the problem hung on until Wednesday when Harry Skelly, roads supervisor, acting on instructions from the Allegany County Commissioners, had the reservoir filled in.

Sanctions Duties

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower ruled Thursday that tariff duties on imported bicycles should be maintained at present levels. He agreed with a finding of the Tariff Commission that no investigation should be started now to determine whether the tariff should be reduced. The White House said the President and the commission found there was no sufficient reason to reopen the escape clause action which resulted in increased import duties on bicycles four years ago.

Brewery Workers Sign Pension Plan

Officials of the two local breweries and Local 265, Brewery Workers Union, AFL-CIO, Wednesday signed a formal agreement for a pension plan.

Under provisions of the current labor contract between the Cumberland Brewing Company and Queen City Brewing Company and the union a pension plan was provided to take effect May 1, 1960.

The plan provides for a 10-year commitment on the part of the companies wherein they each contribute five cents an hour up to a maximum of 40 hours per week into the pension fund. The members of the union contribute the same amount into the fund. This makes a 10-cent an hour contribution to the pension fund on a 40-hour per week basis.

Negotiations have been in progress for several months which resulted in the signing of the formal agreement which provides for the administration of the fund by a pension committee, the selection of a trustee and the appointment of actuaries.

With the formal signing of the trust agreement the pension plan must be submitted to the U. S. Treasury Department for approval.

The pension committee consists of Harold H. Riggleman, Charles F. Martin and Robert E. Hager on the part of the union. William L. Wilson, president, and Arch M. Hutcheson, secretary of the Queen City Brewing Company; C. Arthur Brotemarkle, president of the Cumberland Brewing Company.

The First National Bank and Trust Company of Cumberland was selected as trustee and the Wyatt Company, Washington, was appointed actuaries.

Rights Week Dec. 10

WASHINGTON (UPI) — President Eisenhower Thursday proclaimed the week of Dec. 10 as Human Rights Week. His proclamation pointed out that Dec. 15 would be the 168th anniversary of the adoption of the Bill of Rights Amendments to the Constitution and that Dec. 10 would be the 11th anniversary of the Declaration of Human Rights by the United Nations General Assembly. He called on American citizens to observe the anniversaries that "we may grow in our understanding of the inherent dignity and the equal and inalienable rights of each member of the human family."

Walnuts Flavor Apple Pie

Apple Pie With Walnut Crumb Top

- 1 ½ tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
- ¾ cup sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- ¾ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- 3 ½ cups peeled and thinly sliced fresh apples
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ¾ cup heavy cream
- Pastry for one-crust 9-inch pie
- Walnut Crumb Topping*
- ¼ cup butter, melted

Combine quick-cooking tapioca, sugar, salt, spices, apples, lemon juice, and cream. Roll pastry ⅛ inch thick. Line a 9-inch pie pan. Trim pastry 1 inch larger than pan, fold edge to form a standing rim, and flute. Fill with apple mixture and bake in hot oven (425°F.) 30 minutes. Then sprinkle Walnut Crumb Topping over apple mixture around edge of pie, leaving 1 ½ to 2-inch area in center uncovered to permit escape of steam. Spoon melted butter over crumb topping. Bake 20 to 25 minutes longer, or until syrup boils with heavy bubbles that do not burst.

*Walnut Crumb Topping. Combine ½ cup sugar, ½ cup fine graham cracker crumbs, ¼ cup flour, ¼ cup chopped walnuts, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, and ⅛ teaspoon salt.

Fine-Egg Soup

- 2 cups broth, bouillon or consomme
- 2 eggs

Heat broth to simmering. Meanwhile beat eggs in cup with fork until egg runs off fork in watery stream. Pour eggs in a fine stream from cup (held about 5 inches above saucepan) into simmernig broth, stirring constantly with fork. The egg forms fine noodle-like shreds as it cooks. Allow soup to simmer for a few minutes. Season to taste. Serve hot. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

Elegant Shrimp Dish

Shrimp are favored members of the shellfish family. Their delicate flavor seems best complimented by highly seasoned butter and cream sauces, making them a frequent choice for unusual entrees. In Shrimp Deluxe, Blue cheese gives distinctive flavor to the creamy sauce which tops the whole shrimp. This sauce requires no cooking. The Blue cheese is blended with cream cheese and seasonings, then a few tablespoons of milk are added to achieve the desired consistency.

Shrimp Deluxe will make a delicious company entree. It's easiest and most attractive to serve if the shrimp are baked in individual casseroles or baking shells. The shrimp may be prepared for baking ahead of time and the casseroles refrigerated until shortly before serving. Baking time is just long enough to heat the shrimp through and give the sauce a very light browning. Try this unusual dish for your next special occasion dinner.

Shrimp Deluxe

- 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese
- 1 1-ounce package Blue cheese
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 6 drops Hot Sauce
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 3 tablespoons milk
- 1 pound cleaned cooked shrimp (about 2 pounds fresh or frozen)
- Lemon wedges

Combine cheeses, salt, pepper, Hot Sauce, lemon juice and milk; blend until smooth. Pour over shrimp and toss lightly until shrimp are evenly coated. Divide shrimp into 4 individual casseroles. Spoon any excess cheese mixture over shrimp. Bake in moderate oven, 375°, 15 to 20 mniutes, or until thoroughly heated. Garnish with lemon wedges. Makes 4 servings.

Egg Radish Salad

- 1 head lettuce
- 1 head chicory
- 10 hard-cooked eggs
- 1 cup sliced radishes

Tear lettuce and chicory into bite-sized pieces, place in salad bowls. Cut eggs into lengthwise wedges, arrange with radishes on crisp greens. 10 servings.

Flavorful Veal Steaks

Those country-style or farm-cooked meals just seem to have a certain aroma and flavor that is hard to duplicate.

Plenty of fresh air creates big appetites and here is just the entree that can satisfy man-size appetites as well as create that intangible country-style goodness.

The name of the recipe is Country-Style Veal Steaks.

Country-Style Veal Steaks

- 4 veal sirloin steaks, cut ¾ inch thick
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 tablespoon dry mustard
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
- ¼ cup lard or drippings
- ¼ cup water

Combine flour, mustard, salt, pepper and poultry seasoning. Dredge steaks in seasoned flour. Brown steaks on both sides in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add water. Cover tightly and simmer 45 to 60 minutes or until meat is tender. Thicken cooking liquid for gravy, if desired. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Smoked Butt Island Style

It isn't every cut of meat that can adapt in flavor and size to the island regalia which this smoked shoulder butt is about to experience.

Your Hawaiian feast will have a star entree. Plan the rest of the accompaniments and let your guests enjoy a wonderful meal.

Smoked Shoulder Butt With Pineapple Slices

- 2 to 4-pound smoked shoulder butt
- Water to cover
- 1 medium onion, sliced
- 6 whole cloves
- 1 bay leaf
- 1 stick cinnamon
- ½ teaspoon celery seed
- 1 can (9 ounces) sliced pineapple
- ½ cup brown sugar
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 2 tablespoons vinegar

Cover shoulder butt with water. Add onion, cloves, bay leaf, cinnamon and celery seed. Cover tightly and simmer 1½ to 2 hours, or until tender. Place meat on a rack in roasting pan. Make 8 slits in meat, cutting only half way through shoulder butt. Cut pineapple slices in half and insert in slits of meat. Mix brown sugar, flour and vinegar. Spread mixture on meat and pineapple and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) for 30 minutes, or until glaze is set.

Egg Dressing

- 1 qt French dressing
- 2 cups beets, finely diced
- 4 hard-cooked eggs, diced
- 5 ozs. spring onion or parsley, chopped
- ¼ tsp. pepper
- 2 tsp. salt

Add ingredients, salt and pepper to French dressing. Mix thoroughly.

Golden Egg Casserole

- 6 hard-cooked eggs, chopped
- 2 tbsp. diced pimiento
- ½ cup diced celery
- ¼ lb. soda crackers, finely crushed (about 1½ cups)
- 1 cup mayonnaise or salad dressing
- ¼ cup milk
- ¼ to ½ tsp. salt
- ¾ tsp. garlic salt
- ¼ tsp. ground pepper
- 2 tbsp. melted butter or margarine

Blend chopped eggs, pimiento, celery, 1 cup of cracker crumbs, mayonnaise or salad dressing, milk and seasonings. Spread in greased 1-quart shallow casserole or 9-inch pie pan. Top with remaining cracker crumbs blended with butter or margarine. Bake in hot oven (400°F) until golden brown, about 25 minutes. Serve hot. Six servings.

Walnuts Flavor Apple Pie

Apple Pie With Walnut Crumb Top

- 1 ½ tablespoons quick-cooking tapioca
- ¾ cup sugar
- ⅛ teaspoon salt
- ¾ teaspoon cinnamon
- ¼ teaspoon nutmeg
- 3 ½ cups peeled and thinly sliced fresh apples
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- ¾ cup heavy cream
- Pastry for one-crust 9-inch pie
- Walnut Crumb Topping*
- ¼ cup butter, melted

Combine quick-cooking tapioca, sugar, salt, spices, apples, lemon juice, and cream. Roll pastry ⅛ inch thick. Line a 9-inch pie pan. Trim pastry 1 inch larger than pan, fold edge to form a standing rim, and flute. Fill with apple mixture and bake in hot oven (425°F.) 30 minutes. Then sprinkle Walnut Crumb Topping over apple mixture around edge of pie, leaving 1 ½ to 2-inch area in center uncovered to permit escape of steam. Spoon melted butter over crumb topping. Bake 20 to 25 minutes longer, or until syrup boils with heavy bubbles that do not burst.

*Walnut Crumb Topping. Combine ½ cup sugar, ½ cup fine graham cracker crumbs, ¼ cup flour, ¼ cup chopped walnuts, 1 teaspoon cinnamon, and ⅛ teaspoon salt.

Elegant Shrimp Dish

Shrimp are favored members of the shellfish family. Their delicate flavor seems best complimented by highly seasoned butter and cream sauces, making them a frequent choice for unusual entrees. In Shrimp Deluxe, Blue cheese gives distinctive flavor to the creamy sauce which tops the whole shrimp. This sauce requires no cooking. The Blue cheese is blended with cream cheese and seasonings, then a few tablespoons of milk are added to achieve the desired consistency.

Shrimp Deluxe will make a delicious company entree. It's easiest and most attractive to serve if the shrimp are baked in individual casseroles or baking shells. The shrimp may be prepared for baking ahead of time and the casseroles refrigerated until shortly before serving. Baking time is just long enough to heat the shrimp through and give the sauce a very light browning. Try this unusual dish for your next special occasion dinner.

Shrimp Deluxe

- 2 3-ounce packages cream cheese
- 1 1-ounce package Blue cheese
- ¼ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 6 drops Hot Sauce
- 1 tablespoon lemon juice
- 3 tablespoons milk
- 1 pound cleaned cooked shrimp (about 2 pounds fresh or frozen)
- Lemon wedges

Combine cheeses, salt, pepper, Hot Sauce, lemon juice and milk; blend until smooth. Pour over shrimp and toss lightly until shrimp are evenly coated. Divide shrimp into 4 individual casseroles. Spoon any excess cheese mixture over shrimp. Bake in moderate oven, 375°, 15 to 20 mniutes, or until thoroughly heated. Garnish with lemon wedges. Makes 4 servings.

Egg Radish Salad

- 1 head lettuce
- 1 head chicory
- 10 hard-cooked eggs
- 1 cup sliced radishes

Tear lettuce and chicory into bite-sized pieces, place in salad bowls. Cut eggs into lengthwise wedges, arrange with radishes on crisp greens. 10 servings.

Flavorful Veal Steaks

Those country-style or farm-cooked meals just seem to have a certain aroma and flavor that is hard to duplicate.

Plenty of fresh air creates big appetites and here is just the entree that can satisfy man-size appetites as well as create that intangible country-style goodness.

The name of the recipe is Country-Style Veal Steaks.

Country-Style Veal Steaks

- 4 veal sirloin steaks, cut ¾ inch thick
- 2 tablespoons flour
- 1 tablespoon dry mustard
- 1½ teaspoons salt
- ¼ teaspoon pepper
- ¼ teaspoon poultry seasoning
- ¼ cup lard or drippings
- ¼ cup water

Combine flour, mustard, salt, pepper and poultry seasoning. Dredge steaks in seasoned flour. Brown steaks on both sides in lard or drippings. Pour off drippings. Add water. Cover tightly and simmer 45 to 60 minutes or until meat is tender. Thicken cooking liquid for gravy, if desired. Yield: 4 to 6 servings.

Fine-Egg Soup

- 2 cups broth, bouillon or consomme
- 2 eggs

Heat broth to simmering. Meanwhile beat eggs in cup with fork until egg runs off fork in watery stream. Pour eggs in a fine stream from cup (held about 5 inches above saucepan) into simmernig broth, stirring constantly with fork. The egg forms fine noodle-like shreds as it cooks. Allow soup to simmer for a few minutes. Season to taste. Serve hot. Makes 3 to 4 servings.

It's distinction that you should look for in your mirror!

Secrets Of Charm

by John Robert Powers

To Gain Distinction...

Do you have wonderful hair, a willowy figure, exciting coloring an unusual voice, an infectious smile, appealing traits? Pick your best characteristics and learn to play them up for all they're worth. If your hair is worthy, have it dressed to show it off. If your figure is good, wear the clothes that accent it. Exploit your coloring. Make your words interesting, your humor ready and let your heart be out-giving.

But don't overdo it. If you do, you will defeat your purpose and find yourself stereotyped. Such examples are to be seen on every Main street—the girl who has turned herself into a sophisticated siren; a man-tailored executive; a baby doll; something nationally geographic, like a senorita.

You can't express your personality that way. You'll just be regarded as play acting, and badly, in trumped-up roles. Of course, every girl finds that she has a natural preference for certain things. Some girls are always drawn toward snap-brimmed hats, or blue, or ruffled collars, or black satin. Such preferences are not wrong in themselves, but only when they conflict or cancel your looks or real personality. In that event you should train yourself to like other styles or colors.

The secret of attaining distinction lies in reflecting the most natural, attractive you. When you succeed, you have a flattering identification tag that you alone can wear!

Good Foot Hygiene Combats Fatigue

Foot hygiene starts with keeping your feet clean. Open cut shoes that allow grime to seep in, perspiration that causes discomfort, and tight shoes—or wearing the same shoes every day — can lead to unhappy feet. The remedy is frequent foot baths.

Take a few minutes to soak your feet in soapsuds as hot as you can tolerate. Rinse them under running water—first warm, then cold. Wipe your feet well, put on clean hose, sprinkle foot powder in your shoes—and be comfortable!

Budget Meal Of Lamb

You might place this recipe in a budget meal or banquet spread category. Why? The cut of meat is considered among the less-demanded cuts yet it is prepared in such a way that it might be said that it's a meal fit for a king!

For the homemaker who might have to describe to the meat retailer exactly what she wants when asking for a cushion-style lamb shoulder, simply explain that it can be made by boning the square cut shoulder. The shoulder is usually sewed on two sides, one side being left open for stuffing.

After the stuffing is inserted in the pocket, the side is sewed or skewered shut and roasted in a slow oven (300°F.).

Lamb Shoulder—Carrot-Raisin Stuffing

- 3 to 5-pound cushion-style lamb shoulder
- Salt
- Pepper
- Carrot-Raisin Stuffing

Season the lamb shoulder with salt and pepper. Prepare the Carrot-Raisin Stuffing. Fill the pocket with stuffing. Sew or skewer edges together. Place roast, fat side up on rack in open roasting pan. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (300° F.) for 3 to 3½ hours or until done.

Carrot-Raisin Stuffing

- 1 cup grated carrots
- ¼ cup finely chopped celery
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons raisins
- 1½ cups soft bread crumbs
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Combine all ingredients and mix lightly.

Short Order Dinner With Leftover Ham

It's the lucky family whose head chef knows the value of being able to use those small pieces of leftover meats in a short order second-day dinner.

It's not just luck or a last minute thought when a homemaker can accomplish this art. Such a meal is usually planned in advance.

So for the homemaker who doesn't want to spend an inspired afternoon in the kitchen and who just might happen to have some leftover ham in the refrigerator, your mealtime dilemma is solved by a well qualified meat expert, Reba Staggs.

The name of the dish is Ham and Rice Casserole and takes just 30 minutes cooking time. The diced cooked ham plays host to a list of other well liked foods —rice, cream of asparagus soup, milk, seasonings, bread crumbs and butter or margarine.

Like it? Try it! See for yourself. But be sure to keep the ham tightly wrapped and in the coldest part of the refrigerator during storage so it will retain its moisture.

Ham And Rice Casserole

- 2 cups diced cooked ham
- 2 cups cooked rice
- 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of asparagus soup
- ½ cup milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup toasted bread crumbs, (about 1½ slices)
- 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Place a layer of rice and ham and then another layer of each in a greased 1½-quart casserole. Combine soup, milk, salt and pepper and pour over ham and rice. Add toasted crumbs to butter. Top casserole with crumbs and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 30 minutes
Yield: 4 to 5 servings.

Pickles Can Fill Extra Salt Needs

Don't over-do your salt consumption these days simply because you've heard that some persons take salt tablets in extremely hot climates.

Some men who do exceedingly hard labor out of doors may lose great amounts of salt through perspiration. Medical authorities may then advise salt tablets.

Most authorities agree, however, that by merely salting your table food a bit more than usual you will replace the needed amount of salt in your body. Or you may eat an extra pickle or two. An average size dill pickle provides half the normal daily requirement of ten grams of salt in a most palatable way.

It's distinction that you should look for in your mirror!

Secrets Of Charm

To Gain Distinction...

Do you have wonderful hair, a willowy figure, exciting coloring an unusual voice, an infectious smile, appealing traits? Pick your best characteristics and learn to play them up for all they're worth. If your hair is worthy, have it dressed to show it off. If your figure is good, wear the clothes that accent it. Exploit your coloring. Make your words interesting, your humor ready and let your heart be out-giving.

But don't overdo it. If you do, you will defeat your purpose and find yourself stereotyped. Such examples are to be seen on every Main street—the girl who has turned herself into a sophisticated siren; a man-tailored executive; a baby doll; something nationally geographic, like a senorita.

You can't express your personality that way. You'll just be regarded as play acting, and badly, in trumped-up roles. Of course, every girl finds that she has a natural preference for certain things. Some girls are always drawn toward snap-brimmed hats, or blue, or ruffled collars, or black satin. Such preferences are not wrong in themselves, but only when they conflict or cancel your looks or real personality. In that event you should train yourself to like other styles or colors.

The secret of attaining distinction lies in reflecting the most natural, attractive you. When you succeed, you have a flattering identification tag that you alone can wear!

Good Foot Hygiene Combats Fatigue

Foot hygiene starts with keeping your feet clean. Open cut shoes that allow grime to seep in, perspiration that causes discomfort, and tight shoes—or wearing the same shoes every day — can lead to unhappy feet. The remedy is frequent foot baths.

Take a few minutes to soak your feet in soapsuds as hot as you can tolerate. Rinse them under running water—first warm, then cold. Wipe your feet well, put on clean hose, sprinkle foot powder in your shoes—and be comfortable!

Budget Meal Of Lamb

You might place this recipe in a budget meal or banquet spread category. Why? The cut of meat is considered among the less-demanded cuts yet it is prepared in such a way that it might be said that it's a meal fit for a king!

For the homemaker who might have to describe to the meat retailer exactly what she wants when asking for a cushion-style lamb shoulder, simply explain that it can be made by boning the square cut shoulder. The shoulder is usually sewed on two sides, one side being left open for stuffing.

After the stuffing is inserted in the pocket, the side is sewed or skewered shut and roasted in a slow oven (300°F.).

Lamb Shoulder—Carrot-Raisin Stuffing

- 3 to 5-pound cushion-style lamb shoulder
- Salt
- Pepper
- Carrot-Raisin Stuffing

Season the lamb shoulder with salt and pepper. Prepare the Carrot-Raisin Stuffing. Fill the pocket with stuffing. Sew or skewer edges together. Place roast, fat side up on rack in open roasting pan. Do not add water. Do not cover. Roast in a slow oven (300° F.) for 3 to 3½ hours or until done.

Carrot-Raisin Stuffing

- 1 cup grated carrots
- ¼ cup finely chopped celery
- ¼ cup finely chopped onion
- 2 tablespoons raisins
- 1½ cups soft bread crumbs
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper

Short Order Dinner With Leftover Ham

It's the lucky family whose head chef knows the value of being able to use those small pieces of leftover meats in a short order second-day dinner.

It's not just luck or a last minute thought when a homemaker can accomplish this art. Such a meal is usually planned in advance.

So for the homemaker who doesn't want to spend an inspired afternoon in the kitchen and who just might happen to have some leftover ham in the refrigerator, your mealtime dilemma is solved by a well qualified meat expert, Reba Staggs.

The name of the dish is Ham and Rice Casserole and takes just 30 minutes cooking time. The diced cooked ham plays host to a list of other well liked foods—rice, cream of asparagus soup, milk, seasonings, bread crumbs and butter or margarine.

Like it? Try it! See for yourself. But be sure to keep the ham tightly wrapped and in the coldest part of the refrigerator during storage so it will retain its moisture.

Ham And Rice Casserole

- 2 cups diced cooked ham
- 2 cups cooked rice
- 1 can (10½ ounces) condensed cream of asparagus soup
- ½ cup milk
- ½ teaspoon salt
- ⅛ teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup toasted bread crumbs, (about 1½ slices)
- 2 tablespoons melted butter or margarine

Place a layer of rice and ham and then another layer of each in a greased 1½-quart casserole. Combine soup, milk, salt and pepper and pour over ham and rice. Add toasted crumbs to butter. Top casserole with crumbs and bake in a moderate oven (350° F.) 30 minutes

Yield: 4 to 5 servings.

Pickles Can Fill Extra Salt Needs

Don't over-do your salt consumption these days simply because you've heard that some persons take salt tablets in extremely hot climates.

Some men who do exceedingly hard labor out of doors may lose great amounts of salt through perspiration. Medical authorities may then advise salt tablets.

Most authorities agree, however, that by merely salting your table food a bit more than usual you will replace the needed amount of salt in your body. Or you may eat an extra pickle or two. An average size dill pickle provides half the normal daily requirement of ten grams of salt in a most palatable way.

Pumpkin Pie

An ideal holiday dessert, this mouth-watering Pumpkin Pie is both glamorous and delectable. The pastry is flaky and extra-tender, and the pumpkin filling is subtly spiced with cinnamon, ginger, ground cloves and mace.

Serve Pumpkin Pie with finely chopped walnuts or pecans sprinkled generously in a ring on top of the filling. Or, top each serving with an elegant cloud of whipped cream — plain or sprinkled lightly with nutmeg.

Pumpkin Pie

1 cup sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
2 to 4 tablespoons cold water
Pumpkin Filling

Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening. Sprinkle with water, mixing lightly until dough begins to stick together. Turn out on floured pastry cloth. Press dough together. Roll out to circle about ⅛ inch thick and fit into 9-inch pie pan. Trim and flute edge. Fill with Pumpkin Filling. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to a slow oven (300°F.) and continue baking 45 minutes or until silver knife, inserted in center, comes out clean. Serve with whipped cream or chopped nuts.

Pumpkin Filling

1½ cups cooked pumpkin
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon mace
2 eggs
1¼ cups milk

Cherry Tortoni Answer To Many Questions

Does one of your small-fry have a birthday party coming up? Want a dessert you can make once, serve several times? Want something new and easy and different? Need a light dessert for your next meal when the main dish is hearty? Wondering how to celebrate Cherry Dessert Time? There's one delectable answer to all these questions: Cherry Tortoni.

The recipe below, which fills 16 5-ounce paper cups, is an Italian specialty with an American variation. These Tortonis are made with evaporated milk, which is double rich, makes an extra-smooth creamy Tortoni; the canned cherries have a tart-sweet taste to contrast perfectly with the toasted almond topping.

No one needs to know, unless you're the type who finds it impossible to tell a white lie, that Cherry Tortonis are made in a few minutes. Those few minutes produce a creamy, pale pink dessert that's proof positive the best things come in small packages.

Cherry Tortoni

1 tall can (1 ⅔ cups) evaporated milk
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 can (1 pound) red tart pitted cherries, (water pack)
1 teaspoon almond flavoring
½ cup chopped toasted almonds

Chill evaporated milk in freezer tray of refrigerator until ice crystals form around edges. Turn into large chilled bowl and whip with cold rotary beater or on high speed of electric mixer until milk is stiff. Add lemon juice; beat until mixture is very stiff. Combine sugar, salt, cherries with liquid and almond flavoring. Blend with rotary beater or in electric blender. Fold into whipped milk. Turn into 16 5-ounce paper cups; sprinkle with chopped almonds. Freeze until firm.

YIELD: 16 servings.

Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠.

Management of a dummy which is not rich in trumps presents interesting problems, as witness today's hand.

North opened with one diamond and when South responded with one heart North offered an immediate raise. Some players would prefer a rebid of one no trump to designate a minimum opening but the raise is acceptable with hands worth 14 points where the holding includes a worthless doubleton. South's leap to four hearts is fully justified. The original valuation of his hand is 11 points but when hearts are supported one is added for the fifth heart and two for the sixth, so that the partnership possesses assets which amount to at least 26 points.

The queen of spades was opened and permitted to hold. The spade continuation was taken by the ace. Declarer decided to take a round of trumps by leading the jack and permitting it to ride. East won with the queen and returned a diamond. West's king went to the ace and a diamond ruff put declarer back in his own hand. A spade was led and ruffed with dummy's seven which East overruffed and returned a trump. Now declarer was out of business for he had still another spade loser.

No fault is to be found with the play to the first five tricks. But declarer's plan to ruff with the seven of hearts was unsound. Inasmuch as he has two spades to ruff, he must resign himself to loss of another trump trick. He must, however, make sure of ruffing both spades. The only way to accomplish this end with certainty is to ruff first with the ace of hearts then with the seven. True enough the seven of hearts will be overruffed but this will be the third and last trick for the defense.

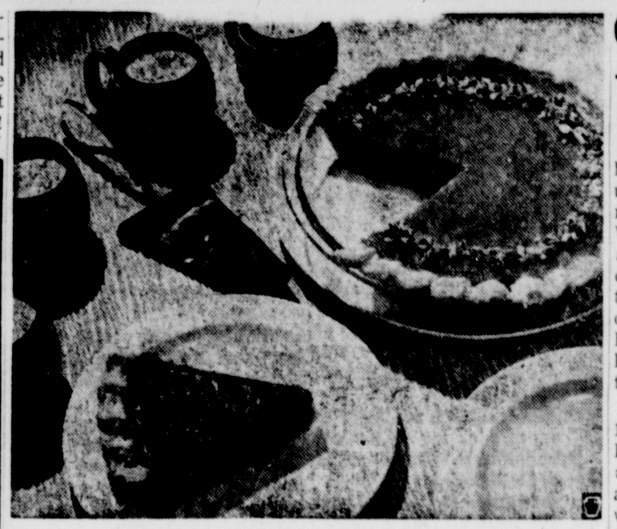
To facilitate bed-making, fold freshly washed blankets lengthwise over your clothesline. The crease formed down the middle will help you to center the clean blanket on the bed.

Any shopping ought to be pleasant. And it will be pleasant—if you take the time for an extra shower bath in the middle of a strenuous day. This will relax your body and revive your spirits.

If you want to glorify a package (11½ ounces) of frozen lobster newburg, add ½ cup (packed down) of cooked lobster. Cut the lobster in good-sized pieces so it i both pretty and recognizable!



Pumpkin Pie

An ideal holiday dessert, this mouth-watering Pumpkin Pie is both glamorous and delectable. The pastry is flaky and extra-tender, and the pumpkin filling is subtly spiced with cinnamon, ginger, ground cloves and mace.

Serve Pumpkin Pie with finely chopped walnuts or pecans sprinkled generously in a ring on top of the filling. Or, top each serving with an elegant cloud of whipped cream — plain or sprinkled lightly with nutmeg.

Pumpkin Pie

1 cup sifted enriched flour
½ teaspoon salt
⅓ cup shortening
2 to 4 tablespoons cold water
Pumpkin Filling

Sift together flour and salt. Cut or rub in shortening. Sprinkle with water, mixing lightly until dough begins to stick together. Turn out on floured pastry cloth. Press dough together. Roll out to circle about ⅛ inch thick and fit into 9-inch pie pan. Trim and flute edge. Fill with Pumpkin Filling. Bake in hot oven (450°F.) for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to a slow oven (300°F.) and continue baking 45 minutes or until silver knife, inserted in center, comes out clean. Serve with whipped cream or chopped nuts.

Pumpkin Filling

1½ cups cooked pumpkin
1 cup brown sugar
1 teaspoon cinnamon
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon ginger
¼ teaspoon ground cloves
¼ teaspoon mace
2 eggs
1¼ cups milk

Cherry Tortoni Answer To Many Questions

Does one of your small-fry have a birthday party coming up? Want a dessert you can make once, serve several times? Want something new and easy and different? Need a light dessert for your next meal when the main dish is hearty? Wondering how to celebrate Cherry Dessert Time? There's one delectable answer to all these questions: Cherry Tortoni.

The recipe below, which fills 16 5-ounce paper cups, is an Italian specialty with an American variation. These Tortonis are made with evaporated milk, which is double rich, makes an extra-smooth creamy Tortoni; the canned cherries have a tart-sweet taste to contrast perfectly with the toasted almond topping.

No one needs to know, unless you're the type who finds it impossible to tell a white lie, that Cherry Tortonis are made in a few minutes. Those few minutes produce a creamy, pale pink dessert that's proof positive the best things come in small packages.

Cherry Tortoni

1 tall can (1 ⅔ cups) evaporated milk
3 tablespoons lemon juice
1 cup sugar
⅛ teaspoon salt
1 can (1 pound) red tart pitted cherries, (water pack)
1 teaspoon almond flavoring
½ cup chopped toasted almonds

Chill evaporated milk in freezer tray of refrigerator until ice crystals form around edges. Turn into large chilled bowl and whip with cold rotary beater or on high speed of electric mixer until milk is stiff. Add lemon juice; beat until mixture is very stiff. Combine sugar, salt, cherries with liquid and almond flavoring. Blend with rotary beater or in electric blender. Fold into whipped milk. Turn into 16 5-ounce paper cups; sprinkle with chopped almonds. Freeze until firm.

YIELD: 16 servings.

Pass	Pass	Pass

Opening lead: Queen of ♠.

Management of a dummy which is not rich in trumps presents interesting problems, as witness today's hand.

North opened with one diamond and when South responded with one heart North offered an immediate raise. Some players would prefer a rebid of one no trump to designate a minimum opening but the raise is acceptable with hands worth 14 points where the holding includes a worthless doubleton. South's leap to four hearts is fully justified. The original valuation of his hand is 11 points but when hearts are supported one is added for the fifth heart and two for the sixth, so that the partnership possesses assets which amount to at least 26 points.

The queen of spades was opened and permitted to hold. The spade continuation was taken by the ace. Declarer decided to take a round of trumps by leading the jack and permitting it to ride. East won with the queen and returned a diamond. West's king went to the ace and a diamond ruff put declarer back in his own hand. A spade was led and ruffed with dummy's seven which East overruffed and returned a trump. Now declarer was out of business for he had still another spade loser.

No fault is to be found with the play to the first five tricks. But declarer's plan to ruff with the seven of hearts was unsound. Inasmuch as he has two spades to ruff, he must resign himself to loss of another trump trick. He must, however, make sure of ruffing both spades. The only way to accomplish this end with certainty is to ruff first with the ace of hearts then with the seven. True enough the seven of hearts will be overruffed but this will be the third and last trick for the defense.

Scout Troop Leaders Meet Monday At PSC

KEYSER, W. Va.—Scout troop leaders of Tri-Valley District will meet at Potomac State College Monday evening for the second session of a basic scout leadership course.

Scheduled to meet in the administration building of the college, December 7, at 7:30 p.m., district scout leaders will study troop operation including the pattern of organization and leadership to train, guide and inspire boy scouts to run their patrols and even troops.

The three-session course, meeting on successive Mondays, is aimed at providing scoutmasters, unit committeemen, prospective scout leaders and interested adults with a basic working knowledge of boy scout leadership principles.

The first session on November 30 was attended by scout leaders from Romney, Keyser, Oakland and the Tri-Towns. They heard instructor Willis Smith, Executive Director of the Potomac Scout Council, explain through film strips how scouting can influence the growth of a boy in character and citizenship.

The course is being conducted through the efforts of the Tri-Valley District Training Committee, with Julian Patrick of Westernport, chairman.

W.Va. Gets Six More GOP Delegate Votes

WASHINGTON (UPI) — West Virginia will send six more delegates to the Republican National Convention in Chicago next summer than it did to the 1956 convention.

The six additional representatives are a reward for election of the state's first Republican governor in 24 years.

The additional delegates will give West Virginia a total of 22 at the convention. Ten of the number will be picked at-large; that is, on a state-wide basis. The other 12 will be split up two each from the six congressional districts.

Tri-Towns UO To Distribute Yule Baskets

Master List Is Compiled

WESTERNPORT — The United Organizations met recently and set Tuesday, December 15, as the deadline for receiving Christmas baskets to be distributed to needy families.

Wayne Ritchie, who presided, said the baskets will be delivered to families living in Westernport, Piedmont, Luke, Beryl, Bloomington, Franklin and Mill Run areas. Also McCoole Road half way to McCoole and Piedmont Road half way to Keyser.

The United Organizations have prepared a master list so each needy family will receive a basket. This has proven effective since this method was put in operation several years ago when a few families got more than one basket and some needy ones were missed, Ritchie said.

The UO will meet Sunday afternoon December 20 at the Union Hall to screen all the applications for baskets.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Levi J. Ziegler, pastor of the Church of the Brethren who reported that the work of wiring the home of an elderly lady had been completed, the roof repaired and a paper hanger engaged.

The United Organizations will sponsor the manning of the Salvation Army kettles several days before Christmas. Ritchie appointed Elmer J. Shaver to contact various civic, churches and clubs to have representatives work the kettles. They have followed this practice for several years. One kettle will be placed in Piedmont and another in Westernport.

Also on the committee to assist Shaver will be Rev. Ziegler, Fred Warnick and William Brown.

Tawes Refuses To Extradite Md. Housewife

The Governor held that the extradition proceedings were being used to settle a private dispute in the case of Mrs. Virginia M. Hinkle of Rockville.

Mrs. Hinkle, mother of three young boys, said she returned to Tucker County, W. Va., last July 4 for a visit and was served with an attachment on her car, allegedly because of money owed on some furniture.

She said she deposited a check with Tucker County authorities and returned to Maryland. Upon her return, she found the furniture had been paid for and promptly stopped payment on the check, she said.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Joseph D. Buscher, conducting the hearings for Gov. Tawes, noted the grand larceny indictment was quite stiff, and said a similar offense in Maryland probably would result in a charge of acting under false pretense.

Tri-Towns UO To Distribute Yule Baskets

Master List Is Compiled

WESTERNPORT — The United Organizations met recently and set Tuesday, December 15, as the deadline for receiving Christmas baskets to be distributed to needy families.

Wayne Ritchie, who presided, said the baskets will be delivered to families living in Westernport, Piedmont, Luke, Beryl, Bloomington, Franklin and Mill Run areas. Also McCoole Road half way to McCoole and Piedmont Road half way to Keyser.

The United Organizations have prepared a master list so each needy family will receive a basket. This has proven effective since this method was put in operation several years ago when a few families got more than one basket and some needy ones were missed, Ritchie said.

The UO will meet Sunday afternoon December 20 at the Union Hall to screen all the applications for baskets.

The meeting was opened with prayer by Rev. Levi J. Ziegler, pastor of the Church of the Brethren who reported that the work of wiring the home of an elderly lady had been completed, the roof repaired and a paper hanger engaged.

The United Organizations will sponsor the manning of the Salvation Army kettles several days before Christmas. Ritchie appointed Elmer J. Shaver to contact various civic, churches and clubs to have representatives work the kettles. They have followed this practice for several years. One kettle will be placed in Piedmont and another in Westernport.

Also on the committee to assist Shaver will be Rev. Ziegler, Fred Warnick and William Brown.

Tawes Refuses To Extradite Md. Housewife

The Governor held that the extradition proceedings were being used to settle a private dispute in the case of Mrs. Virginia M. Hinkle of Rockville.

Mrs. Hinkle, mother of three young boys, said she returned to Tucker County, W. Va., last July 4 for a visit and was served with an attachment on her car, allegedly because of money owed on some furniture.

She said she deposited a check with Tucker County authorities and returned to Maryland. Upon her return, she found the furniture had been paid for and promptly stopped payment on the check, she said.

Asst. Atty. Gen. Joseph D. Buscher, conducting the hearings for Gov. Tawes, noted the grand larceny indictment was quite stiff, and said a similar offense in Maryland probably would result in a charge of acting under false pretense.

A graduate of Barton High School and an Alumnus of Harvard University, Col. Clark is married to the former Miss Delores E. Horton of Dallas, Texas.

Three Major Gas Companies Ask Rate Raise

WASHINGTON (AP) — Three natural gas pipeline companies with headquarters in Pennsylvania Thursday filed proposed wholesale natural gas rate increases totaling about $2,187,100 yearly with the power commission.

Two of the companies, Manufacturers Light & Heat Co. and Home Gas Co., both of Pittsburgh, are subsidiaries of the Columbia Gas System. The third company is North Penn Gas Co., Allegheny County, Pa.

Manufacturers seeks $1,645,000, or 3.7 per cent, more than it is now receiving under previously suspended rates which became effective subject to refund on Dec. 1. The company serves 28 utility customers in Maryland, West Virginia, New York, Ohio and Pennsylvania.

Both Manufacturers and Home Gas claim a 6.8 per cent rate of return in the new filings instead of the 6.75 per cent claim under the presently effective rates. Both also said increased costs of purchased gas make higher rates necessary. They want to make the hike effective Jan. 4.

Underwood May Seek Seat In United States Senate

WHITE SULPHUR SPRINGS, W. Va. (UPI)—Gov. Cecil H. Underwood said flatly Thursday that he is thinking about running for the U. S. Senate.

It was the first positive statement made by Underwood along this line, although Republican National Committeeman Walter S. Hallanan publicly endorsed him for the Senate several weeks ago.

As late as last week Underwood told a news conference that he did not "expect" to go to the Senate.

Here for a meeting of officials of the Council of State Governments Thursday, Underwood commented, "it's no secret I'm considering running for the Senate."

He added however that "I have made no decision."

If Underwood should win Republican nomination to the Senate, he would seek the seat now held by Democratic Sen. Jennings Randolph, elected last year to complete the unexpired two years of the term of the late Sen. M. M. Neely.

Randolph defeated former Sen. Chapman Revercomb in the 1958 general election. Revercomb is considered a possible candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination.

Sheriff Files For Congress In 2nd District

CHARLESTON, W. Va. (UPI)—Charles J. Whiston, Monongalia County sheriff, Wednesday filed for the 2nd Congressional District Republican nomination.

Whiston was the second person to file for Congress. Rep. Elizabeth Kee (D-W. Va.), the 5th District congresswoman, filed early last month.

Rep. Harold O. Staggers, a Keyser Democrat, currently represents the 2nd District. He has not filed for re-election but it is a foregone conclusion that he will soon.

Prior to election as sheriff in 1956, Whiston had served as a member of the Monongalia County Court. He is the only person to have served as state president of both the State Sheriff's Assn. and the State County Commissioners Assn.

Man Kills Deer From Wheel Chair

HARRISVILLE, W. Va. (AP)—Fred Cox got a case of "hunting fever" when he heard friends talking about the upcoming West Virginia deer season.

So last Monday his friends took him along on the first day of the season. The first deer Cox spotted was too far away for a clean shot. But he killed the second, a 125-pounder, when it came within 150 yards of his spot in the field.

Cox, a watch repairman, is confined to a wheel chair because of paralyzed legs. His wife also is confined to a wheel chair. Both attended a school for the handicapped near Fisherville, Va.

Court Probates Wills Of Two

Two wills have been admitted to probate in Allegany County Orphans Court.

One was the last testament of Adolph Waitekunas, who was a 75-year-old Westernport resident at the time of his death July 20. He named his daughter, Anna Waitekunas of Westernport, and his son, Adolph Waitekunas Jr. of Mt. Savage, as executors of his estate. They qualified under a $500 bond.

Mr. Waitekunas left his one-half interest in property on Main Street in Westernport to his son. All of the rest of his estate was bequeathed equally to his five children, Anna, Adolph Jr., Mrs. Anastasia Ranker, Fairgo; Mrs. Julia Price, Westernport, and Mrs. Adele Shires, this city. The will was dated May 14, 1953.

Also probated Tuesday was the will of Mrs. Elsie C. Hammersmith, who was 59 when she died November 19 in College Park. Her daughters, Mrs. Elsie Anne McLean, Martinsville, Va., and Miss Kathryn Hammersmith, College Park, will administer the estate under a $100 bond. Mrs. McLean was named as an executrix along with Mrs. Elizabeth B. Landis, who declined to serve. Miss Hammersmith then qualified as co-administratrix c.t.a.

Mrs. Hammersmith left her household furniture, fixtures and equipment to her daughters, Mrs. McLean and Miss Kathryn Hammersmith. All of the rest of her property was divided into six equal shares, one for each of her six daughters. Besides Mrs. McLean and Miss Hammersmith they are Mrs. Mary Teresa McNally, Staten Island, N.Y.; Mrs. Louise Rafter, College Park; Mrs. Ruth Hammersmith Isbell, College Park, and Mrs. Evelyn Hammersmith Lenihan of Texas. The will was dated September 3, 1957.

New Trial Motions Filed In Court

Defense motions were filed yesterday for new trials in two damages suits heard together by an Allegany County Circuit Court jury Tuesday.

Mrs. Sara Lucille Frey, 326 North Main Street, Boonsboro, was awarded $5,000 damages for injuries she allegedly sustained in August 1958 when the stopped car in which she was sitting was struck by an automobile driven by Earl B. Wolfinger of near Tilghmantown in Washington County.

In the second suit, her husband, James S. Frey, was awarded $2,500 for his wife's hospital and medical expenses and loss of her services.

The motions, filed by Attorneys Stuart Bushong of Hagerstown and William H. Geppert of Cumberland, contended that the damages were excessive and that testimony given by Dr. Lewis Brings, this city, should not have been admitted. The Freys were represented by Attorneys Ernest V. Wachs, Hagerstown, and William L. Wilson, this city. The suits were moved here from Washington County Circuit Court. Chief Judge Morgan C. Harris presided.

Maryland Countinues Deer Herd Study

able variance in the numbers and sizes of deer in the various deer hunting counties. In Western Maryland which includes Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties, it has been determined that deer which are 16-17 months old average 101 pounds each. This is small by comparison with herds on Aberdeen Proving Ground, where average weight for this same age is 78. Thus it soon indicated that the large herds in Aberdeen area are too many deer for the amount of food available, along with other pertinent factors. Cecil County deer at this age weigh 114 pounds, while Worcester deer average 101 pounds. All weights are reported "field-Dressed."

For deer 19 months old comparative weights are Western Maryland, 104 pounds, Cecil County 118 pounds; Worcester County 102 pounds; Aberdeen Proving Ground area, 93 pounds, and Worcester County, 101 pounds.

For weight 2½ years, Western Maryland deer average 128 pounds; Cecil County 138 pounds; Worcester County 125 pounds; and Aberdeen Proving Ground, 104 pounds. All figures are based on field dressed deer.

Statistics compiled include figures on deer kills each season, crop damage and calculations on how small or large deer herds should be permitted to grow. A study of data, Dr. Flyger said, will indicate areas where deer are most plentiful and the amount of damage to farmers fields and crops will be analyzed in these area.

Technicians will eventually be able to predict quite accurately, they believe, how long deer herds will be permitted to multiply, the rate of growth and the mortality rate from natural causes.

This information will do much in laying out a better program of control and regulation. It will be possible to determine if a deer season should be shortened or lengthened. In order to reduce the deer population within certain areas so it will balance with food and water available, it may be necessary to have a longer season or to open season on does and young deer.

If the herds seem to be getting smaller, then the state will inaugurate programs to build up the herds, such as closing or shortening the season or some other policy.

If the study shows that a deer herd should be reduced, it must be determined what method should be used. If it is to be increased, it must be decided whether to shorten the season, close the season or what method is to be followed.

Thus the project will study the deer as to health, age, weight and numbers. It will study damage to farm lands and forests and outline the need for improving forest resources in given areas to maintain herds at desirable levels. With this increased knowledge, Mr. Thoerig said, hunters will be assured better hunting and better deer, if the program is followed through.

Dr. Flyger said there are some skeptics who oppose or object to this type of survey. However, statistics and experience show that where there has been no control, such as in New York and Michigan, deer became so numerous, the average weight continued downward and thousands eventually died of disease and starvation.

One record shows that an area supported a herd of 5,000 deer in 1906. By 1918 the herd had increased to an extent where great damage to farmlands was reported and it was decided to reduce the number of deer. By 1922 the herd reached 75,000 in number and recommendations for reduction increased. Nothing was done and by 1925 the herd was estimated at 100,000 head. A year later, in 1926, the herd had been reduced "by the laws of nature" to 40,000. Population continued downward until by 1939 the herd strength was 10,000. It is concluded in that project study that the area could have properly and safely supported a herd of 30,000 healthy deer or three times the number the range was actually supporting in 1939, had there been proper control.

This is one of many studies being used in Maryland survey to improve the herds and make deer hunting a continuing outdoor sport, Mr. Thoerig explained.

The constitution of Turkey is modeled from the United States constitution.

C&P Approves Funds For Area

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone has approved $98,000 for additional work in the Lonaconing area.

Funds for the area project were a part of expenditures totaling nearly $51,000,000 approved by the board of directors during the past 12 months.

The money allotted for the Lonaconing section will be used for the placement of cable from Lonaconing to Midland and Barton.

The phone company said the work will be done in answer to requests for additional and higher grades of service in that area.

Permits Granted

The Board of Zoning Appeals last night approved two applications for occupancy permits. A third application was withdrawn.

Approved was the application of Charles E. Brode, 555 Greene Street, to occupy quarters at 18 South Lee Street as a furniture repair and upholstery shop, and the request of Charles F. Burkett, 146 Frederick Street, to occupy a lot at 819 Frederick Street for the sale of Christmas trees.

Dr. Carlton Brinsfield, 1825 Bedford Street, withdrew his application to occupy 610 Memorial Avenue as a physician's office or offices.

able variance in the numbers and sizes of deer in the various deer hunting counties. In Western Maryland which includes Allegany, Garrett and Washington counties, it has been determined that deer which are 16-17 months old average 101 pounds each. This is small by comparison with herds on Aberdeen Proving Ground, where average weight for this same age is 78. Thus it soon indicated that the large herds in Aberdeen area are too many deer for the amount of food available, along with other pertinent factors. Cecil County deer at this age weigh 114 pounds, while Worcester deer average 101 pounds. All weights are reported "field-Dressed."

For deer 19 months old comparative weights are Western Maryland, 104 pounds, Cecil County 118 pounds; Worcester County 102 pounds; Aberdeen Proving Ground area, 93 pounds, and Worcester County, 101 pounds.

For weight 2½ years, Western Maryland deer average 128 pounds; Cecil County 138 pounds; Worcester County 125 pounds; and Aberdeen Proving Ground, 104 pounds. All figures are based on field dressed deer.

Statistics compiled include figures on deer kills each season, crop damage and calculations on how small or large deer herds should be permitted to grow. A study of data, Dr. Flyger said, will indicate areas where deer are most plentiful and the amount of damage to farmers fields and crops will be analyzed in these area.

Technicians will eventually be able to predict quite accurately, they believe, how long deer herds will be permitted to multiply, the rate of growth and the mortality rate from natural causes.

This information will do much in laying out a better program of control and regulation. It will be possible to determine if a deer season should be shortened or lengthened. In order to reduce the deer population within certain areas so it will balance with food and water available, it may be necessary to have a longer season or to open season on does and young deer.

If the herds seem to be getting smaller, then the state will inaugurate programs to build up the herds, such as closing or shortening the season or some other policy.

If the study shows that a deer herd should be reduced, it must be determined what method should be used. If it is to be increased, it must be decided whether to shorten the season, close the season or what method is to be followed.

Thus the project will study the deer as to health, age, weight and numbers. It will study damage to farm lands and forests and outline the need for improving forest resources in given areas to maintain herds at desirable levels. With this increased knowledge, Mr. Thoerig said, hunters will be assured better hunting and better deer, if the program is followed through.

Dr. Flyger said there are some skeptics who oppose or object to this type of survey. However, statistics and experience show that where there has been no control, such as in New York and Michigan, deer became so numerous, the average weight continued downward and thousands eventually died of disease and starvation.

One record shows that an area supported a herd of 5,000 deer in 1906. By 1918 the herd had increased to an extent where great damage to farmlands was reported and it was decided to reduce the number of deer. By 1922 the herd reached 75,000 in number and recommendations for reduction increased. Nothing was done and by 1925 the herd was estimated at 100,000 head. A year later, in 1926, the herd had been reduced "by the laws of nature" to 40,000. Population continued downward until by 1939 the herd strength was 10,000. It is concluded in that project study that the area could have properly and safely supported a herd of 30,000 healthy deer or three times the number the range was actually supporting in 1939, had there been proper control.

This is one of many studies being used in Maryland survey to improve the herds and make deer hunting a continuing outdoor sport, Mr. Thoerig explained.

C&P Approves Funds For Area

The Chesapeake and Potomac Telephone has approved $98,000 for additional work in the Lonaconing area.

Funds for the area project were a part of expenditures totaling nearly $51,000,000 approved by the board of directors during the past 12 months.

The money allotted for the Lonaconing section will be used for the placement of cable from Lonaconing to Midland and Barton.

The phone company said the work will be done in answer to requests for additional and higher grades of service in that area.

Fullmer To Defend Title Against Webb

Utah State Fieldhouse Battle Site

160 Pound Champ Made 8-5 Favorite Over Chicagoan

LOGAN, Utah (UPI)— Bull-shouldered Gene Fullmer makes his first defense of the world middleweight crown (NBA version) Friday night against lanky Ellsworth (Spider) Webb in the first professional title fight ever staged on a college campus.

Their 15-rounder in the brick fieldhouse of Utah State University is a return bout. Fullmer of West Jordan, Utah, won a non-title 10-round decision over ex-collegian Webb of Chicago at Salt Lake City, Sept. 11, 1958.

Fullmer—an aggressive, pile-in mauler—is favored at 8-5 to win again over boxer-puncher Webb in a bout that will be televised and broadcast nationally by NBC at 10 p.m. e.s.t. Much of Utah will be blacked out.

Tickets Nearly Sold Out

A near-sellout of 7,000 may provide a gate of more than $95,000, according to co-promoter Norman Rothschild of Syracuse, N.Y. Tickets are priced from $5 to $25.

This fight is the last one ordered by the National Boxing Association in determining a successor to Sugar Ray Robinson of New York, whose 160-pound title was vacated on May 4 by the NBA for failure to defend. Robinson is still recognized as champion in New York state and Massachusetts.

Fullmer and Carmen Basilio, two ex-champions, fought for the vacant NBA title at San Francisco on Aug. 28, with the proviso that the winner must sign within 90 days for a title defense against Webb. Fullmer stopped Basilio in the 14th round, and readily signed for Webb.

Champion and challenger are the same age, 28. However, Fullmer is favored for several reasons: last year's victory over the Spider, is very impressive upset over Basilio, his improved right-hand punch and his persistent aggressiveness that wore down many an opponent, including Webb.

Moreover, Gene should be sharper than Ellsworth, for he had 34 rounds of fighting in three bouts this year; whereas Webb had only five rounds of combat in two bouts. He belted out Bobby Boyd (1) and kayoed Neal Rivers (4). Fullmer outpointed Milo Savage and Wilfie Greaves in 10-rounders and stopped Basilio in the 14th.

To Get Well Paid

Champion and challenger will be well paid for their performance. Fullmer gets 40 per cent of the net gate and 40 per cent of the TV-radio $100,000 fee—probably totaling about $70,000. Webb gets 20 per cent of each—probably about $35,000.

In case of a Webb victory, he is contracted to sign within 90 days for a return defense against Gene.

EDGAR McDONALD, the Headsville (W. Va.) Hotshot, Tony Francis, of Westernport and Calvin Collis, of Bunker Hill, W. Va., have transferred their trapshooting activities to Virginia as members of the Winchester Gun Club in the Tri-State Winter Trapshooters' League.

McDonald, an active gunner for more than 30 years, is still one of the best shots in this section of the country.

In a league match last Sunday, Ed turned in a perfect score (50 x 50) in spite of cold weather and a stiff wind which had the targets going in all directions. He broke the first 25 from the 16-yard mark and then shattered 25 more from the handicap distance.

McDonald's performance helped Winchester advance from fourth to third place in the seven club circuit.

Thurmont (Md.) leads the league and is followed by Carroll County, Md., Winchester, Leetown, Conococheague, McClellan and Tuscarora.

A BILL is expected to be introduced in the forthcoming short term of the Maryland Legislature aimed at chronic game law violators.

The measure, as planned, would revoke the hunting licenses of those convicted of a game law violation and the ban would last for one year.

The most serious and frequent violations are shooting deer at night and out of season and baiting ducks. Those who commit them now can return afield the minute they pay their fines.

Pennsylvania now has a workable revocation law that costs a deer law violator his license for three years if he shoots or attempts to kill a deer in closed season.

POTOMAC STATE College will play in the Western Division of the two-division West Virginia Intercollegiate Conference basketball race during the 1959-60 season.

Other teams in the same division are Beckley, Bethany, Concord, Fairmont, Glenville, West Virginia Tech, Wesleyan and Wheeling.

Shepherd is in the Eastern Division with Alderson-Broaddus, Bluefield State, D. & E., Morris Harvey, Salem, West Liberty and West Virginia State.

The conference regular season championship will be determined by the rating system and the school with the highest rating will be crowned champion.

MELVIN GERST, 20, who was a riding sensation at Fairgo in 1956, and also had several mounts at the local half miler in 1957 and 1958, is in trouble.

Gerst and two other jockeys, Robert A. Vandel and John A. Soto, are charged with an attempted armed robbery of Kenneth Green, Martinsburg taxi driver, and are being held for action of the February grand jury of the Berkeley County Circuit Court.

Gerst is now a resident of Ranson, W. Va.

The jockeys are alleged to have said they planned the robbery because they were broke and needed money for food.

Three years ago Gerst was among the top winners at Fairgo. He had a 9-6-4 record and rode his first winner in Ohio before coming here.

Gerst actually got into racing about five years ago by answering a newspaper want ad for a stable boy which was inserted by Bob Duffy, the well known horseman of Bel Air, Md.

SEVERAL DAYS before Aqueduct wound up its racing season, a person with an European accent wanted to know, by telephone, the starting time for the first race at the New York track.

When told it was 11 o'clock on Thanksgiving Day, he asked, "daylight or night-time?"

Informed that it was daytime, he said, "Oh, I'm sorry. I wanted to take my friend from France with me. He likes to see the horses run with the chariots."

At first it was thought the person wanted to see the moving picture, Ben Hur, but it dawned on the track official that Roosevelt Raceway (harness racing track) was the place the caller had in mind.

SOUTH HIGH of Hagerstown, coached by Bill DeBolt, will engage in 13 wrestling meets during the 1959-60 season.

KEYSER HIGH School is slated to advance from the double-A to triple-A basketball ranks for the 1960-61 campaign.

Classifications to go into effect in the next school term are based on enrollment figures for this fall.

NEW DORP High School, of Staten Island, N.Y., coached by Salvatore Somma, native of Ridgeley, W. Va., lost its final game of the season to its ancient rival, Curtis High (6-0) after posting a 6-0 record.

New Dorp had sewed up the New York Public School Atheltic League championship before being upset by its traditional rival for the first time in ten years.

Bowie Officials Hope To Meet Horse Owners

Squabble Continues Over Purse Money

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bowie Race Track officials plan to meet next week with horse owners to try to settle a squabble over $70,000 in purse money.

By a 281-6 vote Wednesday night, representatives of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Assn. decided not to enter their steeds in Bowie's 1960 meeting unless they get settlement on "all or part of monies withheld in the 1959 contract."

By a similar overwhelming margin, 250-6, they agreed to boycott the 40-day meeting beginning Feb. 12 if necessary to get a contract calling for 48 per cent of the track's take to be set aside for purses.

The owners claim Bowie management owes $70,000 more in purse money for this year, and track officials do not dispute it. Bowie officials want to distribute the money by tacking it onto purse money in the winter-spring meet of 1960. However, the horsemen point out that would not be fair to those who raced their thoroughbreds at the Southern Maryland track this year.

Three Clubs Attend City Loop Session, Others Interested

Three teams were represented at last night's meeting in City Hall to reorganize the City Basketball League.

The teams and their representatives were Forty & Eight, Ronnie Cage and George McGregor; Old Exports, Ronnie Bruce, and Liberty Trust Company, Harold Barmoy and John Price.

Three other teams that expressed interest but were not represented were the Old Germans, Don Moran, manager; K. of C., Donnie Madden, and Chaney's Bill Ryan.

Shrout's Five, piloted by Vernon Shrout also has shown an interest in the league.

The league will be limited to six teams and all teams desiring to compete are requested to attend the next meeting Wednesday, Dec. 9, at 8 p.m., at Fort Hill High School gym. Entry fees of $80 a team must be posted at this session.

The league plans to operate only two nights a week instead of three as last season. Three games will be staged on Mondays and Thursdays at 7, 8 and 9 p.m.

Smith Released

Tom Nugent Named ACC Coach Of Year

COLLEGE PARK, Md. (AP) — Coach Tom Nugent of the University of Maryland was named Thursday night "coach of the year" by the Atlantic Coast Conference Club of Washington, D.C.

The club said he will receive the James M. Tatum Memorial Trophy for his success in his first season at Maryland. It will be presented the night of Dec. 12 in Washington.

Nugent completes his first year at Maryland Saturday when his team plays North Carolina State. The Terps can finish the season with a 5-5 mark if they win, and would take third place in the conference behind Clemson and North Carolina, both victims of Maryland.

Bowie Officials Hope To Meet Horse Owners

Squabble Continues Over Purse Money

BALTIMORE (AP) — Bowie Race Track officials plan to meet next week with horse owners to try to settle a squabble over $70,000 in purse money.

By a 281-6 vote Wednesday night, representatives of the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Assn. decided not to enter their steeds in Bowie's 1960 meeting unless they get settlement on "all or part of monies withheld in the 1959 contract."

By a similar overwhelming margin, 250-6, they agreed to boycott the 40-day meeting beginning Feb. 12 if necessary to get a contract calling for 48 per cent of the track's take to be set aside for purses.

The owners claim Bowie management owes $70,000 more in purse money for this year, and track officials do not dispute it. Bowie officials want to distribute the money by tacking it onto purse money in the winter-spring meet of 1960. However, the horsemen point out that would not be fair to those who raced their thoroughbreds at the Southern Maryland track this year.

Minor Loops Readopt First Year Draft

Blow Is Struck At Big Bonuses

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (AP) —The first-year player draft was readopted by baseball's minor leagues Thursday in an attempt to curb huge bonus payments to untried athletes.

While the minors wound up their convention with the usual legislative session, the majors completed a two-player deal before moving on the Miami Beach where they will meet next week.

Pitcher Tom Sturdivant was shipped by Kansas City to Boston for catcher Pete Daley.

The minors hope they have struck a blow at the big bonus payments to free agents by re-enacting the first year draft. Although no vote was announced it was understood to have been 17-3 with one league abstaining.

"The idea is to save us from ourselves" said Fresco Thompson, a Los Angeles Dodger vice president, who proposed the latest version of the rule. "We are trying to stop ridiculous spending."

Under the modified rule passed Thursday, a player drafted after his first year can be farmed out to the minors. That was not the case under the old rule when waivers were required and the player first had to be reoffered to the team from whom he was drafted.

All minor league players now are subject to draft by the majors or teams in higher classifications at the end of their first year. The only way a player can be protected is by advancing him to the major league roster.

For the first time the minor leagues adopted a minimum salary scale for players, ranging from $500 a month in class AAA to $250 in class D. Furthermore the salary of a player moved to another team could not be cut.

Pete Daley Swapped For Tom Sturdivant

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) —Ex-Yankee Tom Sturdivant, the American League's top percentage pitcher only two years ago, was traded by Kansas City to the Boston Red Sox Thursday for second-string catcher Pete Daley after spending only one season with the Athletics.

The 29-year-old Sturdivant, a right-handed knuckleballer who appeared in three World Series with the Yankees, was chiefly a reliever with the Athletics last season.

His 2-8 record and 4.64 earned run average was the poorest he ever posted since entering the major leagues with the Yankees in 1955. Sturdivant spent most of his time with the Yankees as a starter, posting a 16-8 record in 1956 and compiling the best percentage in the American League when he won 16 and lost only six in 1957 for a .727 figure.

The Yankees traded Sturdivant to Kansas City before the start of the 1959 season after he won only three games and lost six during 1958.

Daley, also 29, has been with the Red Sox since 1955. He enjoyed his best year in 1958 when he batted .321 in 27 games, but hit only .225 in 65 games last season.

Rotz Wins Four

Rotz, who gained the riding lead with his four victories, scored on Dry Creek ($6.60) in the first, Cozy Ada ($9.80) in the second, Silky Jane ($3.70) in the fourth and Good Joy ($25.80) in the sixth.

Brown Collects $29,088, Charnley Share $14,544

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—"I believe these challengers are going to have to stop calling Joe Brown an old man," Lou Viscusi, manager of the world lightweight champion, said Thursday.

The 34-year-old Brown fought his way into record books Wednesday night with a decisive sixth - round technical knockout over Dave Charnley, who collected the British Empire crown in May at the age of 24.

"Joe was perfection to his last ounce," Viscusi said. "His reflexes and condition were perfect. It was his best title defense."

Viscusi said no decision on a record ninth title defense will be made until after the Christmas holidays. Included is a $100,000 offer to fight Mexico's Battling Torres in Los Angeles in February.

Meanwhile, the boyish - faced Charnley picked up the biggest check of his career—the 20 per cent gross of $14,544. Brown took 40 per cent of $29,088.

Terp Frosh Win

Bob Eicher and Herry Greenspan each scored 20 points in the rout. Bill Norton tallied 14 for GW.

Maryland Cops Opening Game

Terps Turn Back Colonials, 64-57

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jerry Bechtle's push shot from beyond the foul circle with a minute and a half remaining put the climax on a driving finish that gained Maryland a 64-57 opening game basketball victory over George Washington Thursday night.

Bechtle's goal boomed Maryland into a 59-57 lead that the Terrapins enlarged against a fading GW team which had led most of the game.

Shooting with remarkable accuracy and hogging the rebounds, GW shoved ahead by seven points three times in the first half and held a 36-34 edge at halftime.

Then with 6-6 Charley Mc Neil and 6-8 Al Bunge hitting with consistency, Maryland tied the score and but for one lapse stayed even or within reach until Bechtle popped in the decisive goal.

Sophomore Dave Lockman sank a set shot after 8:30 of the second half for a 50-45 GW advantage. From then on Maryland punctured GW's zone defense and the Colonials wilted. GW failed to score through the last four minutes.

Bunge tallied 22 points in Maryland's successful debut before 2,000 in Uline Arena. Mc Neil ended with 21. Lockman with 16 and Howie Bash with 14 headed GW, dropping its first game after an opening triumph over Richmond Tuesday night.

Half Mile Racing Dates Not Ready, Graham Declares

BALTIMORE (AP)—J. William Graham, secretary of the Maryland Racing Commission, said Thursday he did not know when the schedule for the state's five half - mile tracks would be released.

Graham said only dates for the four harness tracks would be announced Friday. The schedule for the three mile tracks was released last Monday.

"The commission will meet with the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Assn. and the Bowie Race Track on the purse dispute next Friday," Graham said, "but there's no chance of the half-mile schedule being ready then."

The minors hope they have struck a blow at the big bonus payments to free agents by re-enacting the first year draft. Although no vote was announced it was understood to have been 17-3 with one league abstaining.

"The idea is to save us from ourselves" said Fresco Thompson, a Los Angeles Dodger vice president, who proposed the latest version of the rule. "We are trying to stop ridiculous spending."

Under the modified rule passed Thursday, a player drafted after his first year can be farmed out to the minors. That was not the case under the old rule when waivers were required and the player first had to be reoffered to the team from whom he was drafted.

All minor league players now are subject to draft by the majors or teams in higher classifications at the end of their first year. The only way a player can be protected is by advancing him to the major league roster.

For the first time the minor leagues adopted a minimum salary scale for players, ranging from $500 a month in class AAA to $250 in class D. Furthermore the salary of a player moved to another team could not be cut.

A's, Red Sox Trade Players

Pete Daley Swapped For Tom Sturdivant

ST. PETERSBURG, Fla. (UPI) —Ex-Yankee Tom Sturdivant, the American League's top percentage pitcher only two years ago, was traded by Kansas City to the Boston Red Sox Thursday for second-string catcher Pete Daley after spending only one season with the Athletics.

The 29-year-old Sturdivant, a right-handed knuckleballer who appeared in three World Series with the Yankees, was chiefly a reliever with the Athletics last season.

His 2-8 record and 4.64 earned run average was the poorest he ever posted since entering the major leagues with the Yankees in 1955. Sturdivant spent most of his time with the Yankees as a starter, posting a 16-8 record in 1956 and compiling the best percentage in the American League when he won 16 and lost only six in 1957 for a .727 figure.

The Yankees traded Sturdivant to Kansas City before the start of the 1959 season after he won only three games and lost six during 1958.

Daley, also 29, has been with the Red Sox since 1955. He enjoyed his best year in 1958 when he batted .321 in 27 games, but hit only .225 in 65 games last season.

Rotz Wins Four

Rotz, who gained the riding lead with his four victories, scored on Dry Creek ($6.60) in the first, Cozy Ada ($9.80) in the second, Silky Jane ($3.70) in the fourth and Good Joy ($25.80) in the sixth.

Brown Collects $29,088, Charnley Share $14,544

HOUSTON, Tex. (AP)—"I believe these challengers are going to have to stop calling Joe Brown an old man," Lou Viscusi, manager of the world lightweight champion, said Thursday.

The 34-year-old Brown fought his way into record books Wednesday night with a decisive sixth - round technical knockout over Dave Charnley, who collected the British Empire crown in May at the age of 24.

"Joe was perfection to his last ounce," Viscusi said. "His reflexes and condition were perfect. It was his best title defense."

Viscusi said no decision on a record ninth title defense will be made until after the Christmas holidays. Included is a $100,000 offer to fight Mexico's Battling Torres in Los Angeles in February.

Meanwhile, the boyish - faced Charnley picked up the biggest check of his career—the 20 per cent gross of $14,544. Brown took 40 per cent of $29,088.

Terp Frosh Win

WASHINGTON (AP) — Maryland's freshmen basketball team opened its season Thursday night with a 110-69 victory over the George Washington frosh.

Bob Eicher and Herry Greenspan each scored 20 points in the rout. Bill Norton tallied 14 for GW.

Maryland Cops Opening Game

Terps Turn Back Colonials, 64-57

WASHINGTON (AP) — Jerry Bechtle's push shot from beyond the foul circle with a minute and a half remaining put the climax on a driving finish that gained Maryland a 64-57 opening game basketball victory over George Washington Thursday night.

Bechtle's goal boomed Maryland into a 59-57 lead that the Terrapins enlarged against a fading GW team which had led most of the game.

Shooting with remarkable accuracy and hogging the rebounds, GW shoved ahead by seven points three times in the first half and held a 36-34 edge at halftime.

Then with 6-6 Charley Mc Neil and 6-8 Al Bunge hitting with consistency, Maryland tied the score and but for one lapse stayed even or within reach until Bechtle popped in the decisive goal.

Sophomore Dave Lockman sank a set shot after 8:30 of the second half for a 50-45 GW advantage. From then on Maryland punctured GW's zone defense and the Colonials wilted. GW failed to score through the last four minutes.

Bunge tallied 22 points in Maryland's successful debut before 2,000 in Uline Arena. Mc Neil ended with 21. Lockman with 16 and Howie Bash with 14 headed GW, dropping its first game after an opening triumph over Richmond Tuesday night.

The last American League pitcher to win 25 games in a single season was Mel Parnell of Boston in 1949.

Half Mile Racing Dates Not Ready, Graham Declares

BALTIMORE (AP)—J. William Graham, secretary of the Maryland Racing Commission, said Thursday he did not know when the schedule for the state's five half - mile tracks would be released.

Graham said only dates for the four harness tracks would be announced Friday. The schedule for the three mile tracks was released last Monday.

"The commission will meet with the Horsemen's Benevolent and Protective Assn. and the Bowie Race Track on the purse dispute next Friday," Graham said, "but there's no chance of the half-mile schedule being ready then."

Boston College Coach Resigns

Mike Holovak Had Served 8 Years

NEWTON, Mass. (UPI) —Former Boston College backfield star Mike Holovak resigned Thursday as head football coach and indicated the resignation was forced. The college said the appointment of a new coach would be announced "in due time."

Holovak's BC teams had winning records the past eight seasons, capped by an upset 14-0 victory Saturday over arch-rival Holy Cross.

Asked by United Press International, "were you fired?" Holovak snapped back:

"What did the publicity man say?"

He was told that BC Sports Publicist Charles Harvey announced Holovak had resigned.

"Well, that's it," Holovak replied. "You'll have to take it as it comes."

He said he had "no special reason" for "resigning" and was "not about to divulge" his plans for the future.

Jockey Martin's Penalty Reduced

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 12-year ban in Maryland against Jockey Robert J. Martin has been reduced to 4½ years.

R. Bruce Livie, chairman of the State Racing Commission, said Thursday the commission recently cut down the penalty.

Martin, 31-year-old Baltimore rider, drew a 12-year suspension Nov. 29, 1957, for touting. The charge involved a businessman who told the commission he placed four bets of $500 or more for Martin during the 1957 turf season. Martin was to ride the horses himself.

Martin was suspended in 1951 on a charge of betting against a horse he rode, and in the six years before that was penalized 26 times for rule infractions.

He reportedly is working now as a bartender in Miami, Fla.

Billy Cannon Named On AP All-America Football Team Second Straight Year

Syracuse Gets Two Berths: Breedlove Receives Mention

By BOB HOOBING

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Cannon, top professional draft choice and 1959 Heisman Trophy winner, Thursday was named for the second straight year to the Associated Press All - America football team.

The Louisiana State halfback is joined by amazing one-eyed quarterback Bob Schloredt, who directed Washington to its first Rose Bowl appearance in 16 years; rugged Mississippi fullback Charley Flowers and Arkansas' Jim Mooty, who wasn't even supposed to play this season.

Two From Syracuse

Bill Burrell of Illinois is the other guard while Marlin McKeever of Southern California holds down the other flank. Maxie Baughan of Georgia Tech is the center, with Don Floyd of Texas Christian and Dan Lanphear of Wisconsin at the tackles.

The Associated Press All-America is selected on the basis of the recommendations of 12 regional boards composed of newspapermen and newscasters, and takes into account all games through Nov. 28.

Mautino, McKeever and Schloredt are juniors. The rest are seniors.

Billy Ran 598 Yards

Cannon is a 23 - year - old, 208 - pound father of three who was eagerly grabbed by Los Angeles in the first round of the National football league draft.

He ran for 598 yards, completed two of six passes, returned 23 kicks for 412 yards, intercepted four passes for 145 yards and a touchdown, punted for a 40.3 yard average and scored seven times.

The rugged lad from Gresham, Ore., who time after time ran for needed yardage on vital third and fourth down situations, passed for 733 yards and five tds, run for 255, scored 54 points, pounted for a 40 - yard average and played superbly at defensive halfback.

Good Blocker

Flowers is a quick starting, twisting type runner who also is topnotch as a blocker and linebacker. In addition, he is master of the quick kick. A pass catcher and 66 - point scorer, Flowers gained 733 yards rushing.

Mooty complained of dizzy spells last spring after a fine junior season and was told by a doctor to quit football because of a possible concussion condition. He could not participate in spring drills but Mooty persisted, got a medical okay in late August and became the key man as Arkansas drove to a Southwest Conference title tie.

Mooty carried 93 times for 519 yards, caught four passes, intercepted one, punted for a 31-yard average, hauled back kicks for 171, scored five times and was an outstanding defender.

McKeever was a key to USC's fine rushing defense record a fine punter, he also is an outstanding defender and the top receiver on a club which uses the forward pass sparingly.

Burrell is unusually strong for his 210 pounds. The highlight of a glittering season for him came against Purdue when he was credited with being in on 26 tackles. He was carried off the field on a stretcher with a twisted knee in the third period but after hurried dressing room treatment, came back to help break up a fourth period Purdue drive on the Illinois 6.

Davis led Syracuse's line as a short side guard in the unbalanced winged - T. No team has run in his direction successfully and he has been used on defense as a tackle and linebacker.

Teammate Mautino snared 17 passes for 215 yards and two touchdowns. He couldn't be blocked out of plays defensively.

Floyd was a steady rock in the touch TCU defense and typical of his attitude, he turned in a five game against Pitt despite having been ill throughout the previous night. Floyd is not flashy but consistent.

Lanphear, who played only 143 minutes a year ago due to an ankle injury, was a vital figure in Wisconsin's trail to the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl. Against Ohio State, he blocked a punt for a safety, recovered two fumbles—one on the three to halt a drive, and tackled so viciously he sent two buckeye players out of the game with injuries.

Baughan rated center honors as the top linebacker of the season with a solid blocking touch added.

Breedlove Mentioned

Guards—Tom Gunderman and Rod Breedlove of Maryland.

Center—Ron DeMelfi of George Washington.

Backs—Joe Bellino, Joe Matalavage and Joe Tranchini of Navy, and Jim Joyce of Maryland.

Boros Leads Florida Golf

Julius Posts 67 At Coral Gables

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI)—Big Julius Boros, the sun-leathered veteran who won the U.S. Open in 1952, drove into the teeth of a palm swaying wind to score a four under par 67 and take the first round lead in the first annual Coral Gables Open golf tournament Thursday.

Four players were right behind him with scores of 68. They were Bill Johnston, Provo, Utah; Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla.; Jack Fleck, Los Angeles, and Doug Sanders, Miami.

Sanders, a native Floridian who knows the Biltmore course as well as anyone in the tournament, missed his chance to share the lead when he two-putted from 10 feet on the 18th green.

Nine players were bunched at 69, including Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., who won the West Palm Beach Open last week in a three-way sudden death playoff.

At 70 were four other players, including Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., and Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla.

Unitas Sets Records

Since the start of the current campaign John Unitas has wiped off the Baltimore record books three marks that had been held by Y. A. Tittle. The 49ers' ace quarterback performed the same duties for the Colts in 1948-49-50, the first two seasons being in All-America Conference competition. . . . Unitas has surpassed Tittle in most passes completed, 577 (as a Colt); most passes attempted, 1,066; and yards gained on passes, 8,571.

TENNIS IMPORTER

NEW YORK (UPI) — Credit for bringing the sport of tennis to the United States belongs to Mary Ewing Outerbridge. After a visit to Bermuda, Miss Outerbridge introduced the sport at the Staten Island Cricket and Baseball Club in March of 1874.

Boston College Coach Resigns

Mike Holovak Had Served 8 Years

NEWTON, Mass. (UPI) —Former Boston College backfield star Mike Holovak resigned Thursday as head football coach and indicated the resignation was forced. The college said the appointment of a new coach would be announced "in due time."

Holovak's BC teams had winning records the past eight seasons, capped by an upset 14-0 victory Saturday over arch-rival Holy Cross.

Asked by United Press International, "were you fired?" Holovak snapped back:

He was told that BC Sports Publicist Charles Harvey announced Holovak had resigned.

"Well, that's it," Holovak replied. "You'll have to take it as it comes."

Jockey Martin's Penalty Reduced

BALTIMORE (AP) — A 12-year ban in Maryland against Jockey Robert J. Martin has been reduced to 4½ years.

R. Bruce Livie, chairman of the State Racing Commission, said Thursday the commission recently cut down the penalty.

Martin, 31-year-old Baltimore rider, drew a 12-year suspension Nov. 29, 1957, for touting. The charge involved a businessman who told the commission he placed four bets of $500 or more for Martin during the 1957 turf season. Martin was to ride the horses himself.

Martin was suspended in 1951 on a charge of betting against a horse he rode, and in the six years before that was penalized 26 times for rule infractions.

Billy Cannon Named On AP All-America Football Team Second Straight Year

By BOB HOOBING

NEW YORK (AP) — Billy Cannon, top professional draft choice and 1959 Heisman Trophy winner, Thursday was named for the second straight year to the Associated Press All - America football team.

The Louisiana State halfback is joined by amazing one-eyed quarterback Bob Schloredt, who directed Washington to its first Rose Bowl appearance in 16 years; rugged Mississippi fullback Charley Flowers and Arkansas' Jim Mooty, who wasn't even supposed to play this season.

Two From Syracuse

Bill Burrell of Illinois is the other guard while Marlin McKeever of Southern California holds down the other flank. Maxie Baughan of Georgia Tech is the center, with Don Floyd of Texas Christian and Dan Lanphear of Wisconsin at the tackles.

The Associated Press All-America is selected on the basis of the recommendations of 12 regional boards composed of newspapermen and newscasters, and takes into account all games through Nov. 28.

Billy Ran 598 Yards

He ran for 598 yards, completed two of six passes, returned 23 kicks for 412 yards, intercepted four passes for 145 yards and a touchdown, punted for a 40.3 yard average and scored seven times.

The rugged lad from Gresham, Ore., who time after time ran for needed yardage on vital third and fourth down situations, passed for 733 yards and five tds, run for 255, scored 54 points, pounted for a 40 - yard average and played superbly at defensive halfback.

Good Blocker

Flowers is a quick starting, twisting type runner who also is topnotch as a blocker and linebacker. In addition, he is master of the quick kick. A pass catcher and 66 - point scorer, Flowers gained 733 yards rushing.

Mooty complained of dizzy spells last spring after a fine junior season and was told by a doctor to quit football because of a possible concussion condition. He could not participate in spring drills but Mooty persisted, got a medical okay in late August and became the key man as Arkansas drove to a Southwest Conference title tie.

Mooty carried 93 times for 519 yards, caught four passes, intercepted one, punted for a 31-yard average, hauled back kicks for 171, scored five times and was an outstanding defender.

McKeever was a key to USC's fine rushing defense record a fine punter, he also is an outstanding defender and the top receiver on a club which uses the forward pass sparingly.

Burrell is unusually strong for his 210 pounds. The highlight of a glittering season for him came against Purdue when he was credited with being in on 26 tackles. He was carried off the field on a stretcher with a twisted knee in the third period but after hurried dressing room treatment, came back to help break up a fourth period Purdue drive on the Illinois 6.

Davis led Syracuse's line as a short side guard in the unbalanced winged - T. No team has run in his direction successfully and he has been used on defense as a tackle and linebacker.

Teammate Mautino snared 17 passes for 215 yards and two touchdowns. He couldn't be blocked out of plays defensively.

Floyd was a steady rock in the touch TCU defense and typical of his attitude, he turned in a five game against Pitt despite having been ill throughout the previous night. Floyd is not flashy but consistent.

Lanphear, who played only 143 minutes a year ago due to an ankle injury, was a vital figure in Wisconsin's trail to the Big Ten title and Rose Bowl. Against Ohio State, he blocked a punt for a safety, recovered two fumbles—one on the three to halt a drive, and tackled so viciously he sent two buckeye players out of the game with injuries.

Breedlove Mentioned

Guards—Tom Gunderman and Rod Breedlove of Maryland.

Center—Ron DeMelfi of George Washington.

Boros Leads Florida Golf

Julius Posts 67 At Coral Gables

CORAL GABLES, Fla. (UPI)—Big Julius Boros, the sun-leathered veteran who won the U.S. Open in 1952, drove into the teeth of a palm swaying wind to score a four under par 67 and take the first round lead in the first annual Coral Gables Open golf tournament Thursday.

Four players were right behind him with scores of 68. They were Bill Johnston, Provo, Utah; Dow Finsterwald, Tequesta, Fla.; Jack Fleck, Los Angeles, and Doug Sanders, Miami.

Sanders, a native Floridian who knows the Biltmore course as well as anyone in the tournament, missed his chance to share the lead when he two-putted from 10 feet on the 18th green.

Nine players were bunched at 69, including Arnold Palmer of Ligonier, Pa., who won the West Palm Beach Open last week in a three-way sudden death playoff.

At 70 were four other players, including Jay Hebert of Sanford, Fla., and Jim Ferree of Crystal River, Fla.

Unitas Sets Records

Since the start of the current campaign John Unitas has wiped off the Baltimore record books three marks that had been held by Y. A. Tittle. The 49ers' ace quarterback performed the same duties for the Colts in 1948-49-50, the first two seasons being in All-America Conference competition. . . . Unitas has surpassed Tittle in most passes completed, 577 (as a Colt); most passes attempted, 1,066; and yards gained on passes, 8,571.

TENNIS IMPORTER

Wisconsin's Deer Kill Is 104,300; 28 Hunters Die

MADISON, Wis. (AP)—The deer kill in Wisconsin's 16-day gun season ending Nov. 29 was 104,300, the highest in eight years, the Wisconsin Conservation Department reported Thursday. The season also brought a more tragic record—the deaths of 28 hunters. Thirteen were shot to death, 11 died of heart attacks and 4 in camp accidents.

Man Fined $100; Drove 25 Years Without License

In Trial Magistrate Court yesterday the man, Theodore O. Bennett, who lives on RD 1, Flintstone, told Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt that his license had been revoked in 1934 as the result of an accident he was involved in near Centreville, Pa.

Since that time, a quarter of a century ago, Bennett has continued to drive a car. He told the court he was employed as a wood cutter in nearby Bedford County.

Magistrate Weatherholt imposed a fine of $100 on Bennett for driving on a revoked driver's license. The man was remanded to the County Jail in default of the fine.

Auto Industry Eyes Record

DETROIT (UPI)—The auto industry plans to set an all-time production record during the first three months of 1960 if another steel strike doesn't interfere, said Ward's Automotive Reports on Wednesday.

The statistical agency said the industry was scheduled to produce 2,240,800 passenger cars during the first quarter of next year, a five per cent increase over the all-time record year of 1955 when 2,129,000 cars were built.

If the automakers are able to meet the schedule, it would represent a gain of 43 per cent over production during the first quarter of 1959 when 1,599,800 cars were made and a gain of 87 per cent over the predicted output of 1,193,900 cars during the current quarter.

Ward's said a "comeback" by General Motors, hardest hit by the steel strike, will highlight the first quarter production. GM has scheduled output of 1,066,000 cars, which would account for 47.6 per cent of the scheduled production.

Say Public Hoaxed

CHICAGO (UPI)—Some toothpaste advertisers have hoaxed the public with "untruths, half truths, unsupported claims and undelivered promises," the American Dental Association (ADA) said Thursday. There is no way of knowing the cost in lowered health and lost lives of these "hoaxes perpetrated on the public by some zealous advertisers," the ADA said editorially in its current journal. In the past, the editorial said, ADA charges of television and radio commercial rigging "fell on deaf ears." But now the public reaction to the quiz show scandals has forced the Federal Trade Commission to act against phony advertising claims, it said.

Wolves and dogs sprang from a common ancestor, and time has not erased their basic similarities. They can crossbreed and produce fertile offspring. They fall prey to the same parasites and diseases. They wag their tails in pleasure, tuck them between their legs in fright, and curl their lips into a snarl when angered.

Turkeys are natives of North and Central America.

Man Fined $100; Drove 25 Years Without License

Wednesday city police were called and told that a motorist was operating a car in an "erratic" manner in the vicinity of Queen City Station.

Officer Oliver Cook intercepted the driver on Park Street and discovered that he was driving on a revoked Pennsylvania operator's license.

In Trial Magistrate Court yesterday the man, Theodore O. Bennett, who lives on RD 1, Flintstone, told Magistrate F. Allan Weatherholt that his license had been revoked in 1934 as the result of an accident he was involved in near Centreville, Pa.

Since that time, a quarter of a century ago, Bennett has continued to drive a car. He told the court he was employed as a wood cutter in nearby Bedford County.

Magistrate Weatherholt imposed a fine of $100 on Bennett for driving on a revoked driver's license. The man was remanded to the County Jail in default of the fine.

Auto Industry Eyes Record

DETROIT (UPI)—The auto industry plans to set an all-time production record during the first three months of 1960 if another steel strike doesn't interfere, said Ward's Automotive Reports on Wednesday.

The statistical agency said the industry was scheduled to produce 2,240,800 passenger cars during the first quarter of next year, a five per cent increase over the all-time record year of 1955 when 2,129,000 cars were built.

If the automakers are able to meet the schedule, it would represent a gain of 43 per cent over production during the first quarter of 1959 when 1,599,800 cars were made and a gain of 87 per cent over the predicted output of 1,193,900 cars during the current quarter.

Ward's said a "comeback" by General Motors, hardest hit by the steel strike, will highlight the first quarter production. GM has scheduled output of 1,066,000 cars, which would account for 47.6 per cent of the scheduled production.

Say Public Hoaxed

CHICAGO (UPI)—Some toothpaste advertisers have hoaxed the public with "untruths, half truths, unsupported claims and undelivered promises," the American Dental Association (ADA) said Thursday. There is no way of knowing the cost in lowered health and lost lives of these "hoaxes perpetrated on the public by some zealous advertisers," the ADA said editorially in its current journal. In the past, the editorial said, ADA charges of television and radio commercial rigging "fell on deaf ears." But now the public reaction to the quiz show scandals has forced the Federal Trade Commission to act against phony advertising claims, it said.

Wolves and dogs sprang from a common ancestor, and time has not erased their basic similarities. They can crossbreed and produce fertile offspring. They fall prey to the same parasites and diseases. They wag their tails in pleasure, tuck them between their legs in fright, and curl their lips into a snarl when angered.

Turkeys are natives of North and Central America.

Market Rallies On New Steel Settlement Hopes

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market was adrift most of the day until the final minutes of trading when promise of a new union offer to settle the steel strike gave the list a sudden sharp lift.

The overall market strengthened under the lead of steels where gains ran to more than 3 points in some issues.

Market analysts agreed the market's responsiveness to McDonald's statement is further evidence of how sensitive traders have been to developments in the steel talks. If the McDonald statement had come earlier the gains would have been bigger, they said.

Youngstown Sheet rallied in the closing minutes picking up 4 points to 130½, while Jones & Laughlin jumped more than 2, and U.S. Steel, Wheeling and Lukens a point or more.

Stocks resumed the uptrend which was interrupted on Wednesday after 10 straight days of higher prices. Rails on average recorded their fifth consecutive advance.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Soybeans and nearby wheat futures were lower, rye strong and other grains steady Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ¾ to up 1⅛, corn off ⅛ to up ¼, oats off ⅛ to up ⅛, rye up 1 to 1¾, and soybeans off ⅝ to 1¼.

There was also selling of March and buying of May wheat at 3⅜ cents difference. Deferred months were firm.

Corn was steady. Tenders against December continued and were largely taken by spreaders, who sold March. The difference amounted to 4¼ to 4⅜ cents. Receipts were larger, and the cash basis was weak. Export subsidies were granted on 540,000 bushels of corn and 94,000 bushels of oats.

In oats, cash house support was less than it has been recently, and oats closed steady.

Rye held strong through most of the session. Receipts were light, and small spreading was a major feature of the market.

Soybeans weakened after a firm start in which commission houses were buyers of January and March. But longs sold the nearby months, and selling by some industries followed. Reports said India took about 3,875,000 bushels of wheat at the Gulf and West Coast. Great Britain took 320,000 bushels of corn.

Outside markets were mixed.

Market Rallies On New Steel Settlement Hopes

NEW YORK (UPI) — The stock market was adrift most of the day until the final minutes of trading when promise of a new union offer to settle the steel strike gave the list a sudden sharp lift.

The overall market strengthened under the lead of steels where gains ran to more than 3 points in some issues.

Shortly before the close, Steelworkers President David J. McDonald promised to disclose a new union move toward settlement of the deadlocked steel contract negotiations.

Market analysts agreed the market's responsiveness to McDonald's statement is further evidence of how sensitive traders have been to developments in the steel talks. If the McDonald statement had come earlier the gains would have been bigger, they said.

Youngstown Sheet rallied in the closing minutes picking up 4 points to 130½, while Jones & Laughlin jumped more than 2, and U.S. Steel, Wheeling and Lukens a point or more.

Stocks resumed the uptrend which was interrupted on Wednesday after 10 straight days of higher prices. Rails on average recorded their fifth consecutive advance.

Chicago Grains

CHICAGO (UPI)—Soybeans and nearby wheat futures were lower, rye strong and other grains steady Thursday on the Chicago Board of Trade.

At the final bell, wheat was off ¾ to up 1⅛, corn off ½ to up ¼, oats off ⅛ to up ⅛, rye up 1 to 1¾, and soybeans off ⅝ to 1¼.

In wheat, December led the decline as longs continued to liquidate the month. December sold at 6 cents below March. Shorts bought December, and spreaders took the month against sales of March.

There was also selling of March and buying of May wheat at 3⅜ cents difference. Deferred months were firm.

Corn was steady. Tenders against December continued and were largely taken by spreaders, who sold March. The difference amounted to 4¼ to 4⅝ cents. Receipts were larger, and the cash basis was weak. Export subsidies were granted on 540,000 bushels of corn and 94,000 bushels of oats.

In oats, cash house support was less than it has been recently, and oats closed steady.

Rye held strong through most of the session. Receipts were light, and small spreading was a major feature of the market.

Soybeans weakened after a firm start in which commission houses were buyers of January and March. Put longs sold the nearby months, and selling by some industries followed. Reports said India took about 3,875,000 bushels of wheat at the Gulf and West Coast. Great Britain took 320,000 bushels of corn.

Outside markets were mixed.

5-Year Street Plan Finances To Be Studied

Program Would Cost About $4 Million

The plan calls for the construction of nearly eight miles of new streets and the resurfacing of 11 miles of streets built some 30 years ago, between 1960 and 1965.

The cost of the program was estimated at about $4,000,000, including $1,000,000 by the city and $3,000,000 paid by abutting property owners.

City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who outlined the program, was asked to present the Mayor and Council with copies of the plan, as discussed at the session, so financial aspects can be discussed with City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson Monday morning.

Mr. Nuzum promised to have copies of the program in the hands of city officials by Monday's council meeting.

Look Toward Spring

The theme of the meeting was expressed by one official who said "we must work out the mechanics so we will be ready when spring comes."

The $4 million "face lifting" program would provide for the construction of 2.06 miles of new streets in 1960, 1.58 miles the second year, 1.95 miles the third, 1.10 miles the fourth and 1.25 miles in 1965.

It calls for resurfacing 2.25 miles of worn-out streets the first year, 2.75 miles the second, two miles the third, 2.22 miles the fourth and about two miles in the final year.

Estimated city costs, based on current construction, would be about $891,561 for the five-year street construction program, plus about $171,500 for a number of urgent projects, including some which can qualify for federal aid matching funds.

City Pays ¼

Property owners on the streets would share 75 per cent and the city 25 per cent of the overall cost.

It was suggested that when the city goes into the program, alternate bids will be asked for construction of concrete or blacktop.

The meeting was held at the request of Street Commissioner John J. Long who said city officials must make up their minds on the program.

The program is scheduled so it will benefit all sections of the city, except that virtually no new street construction is planned on the West Side, where all the older streets are paved.

Parking Lot May Be Established

The Mayor and Council is expected Monday to authorize Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming to proceed with a study of the possibilities of a parking lot at the Girl Scout House.

He reported, during last night's discussion meeting, that business and professional people in the area report there is a great need for parking facilities.

The area has been graded and the chief part of the study will be to determine the cost of installing parking meters.

Community Christmas Tree Goes Up Today

Cumberland's Community Christmas tree will be set in place on the grounds of old Fort Cumberland this afternoon.

Other large trees will be erected Monday for South Cumberland at a city park area at Race and Seymour streets and for the North End at a small city park at Furnace and Valley streets, according to Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, Park Board member and chairman of the city's 1959 Christmas committee.

The tree which will be placed on the grounds of Emmanuel Episcopal Church was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Porter of Parkersburg Road, Eckhart.

It is a magnificent blue spruce, about 40 feet high, and is considered one of the finest to be used for years as the city's Christmas tree.

Mrs. Findlay said Mr. and Mrs. Porter offered another tree to the city, but agreed to keep it until next year, due to the many offers of Christmas trees already accepted by the committee.

The tree will be set in place early this afternoon by a Street Department crew headed by William C. Simpson and under the supervision of Andrew Heller, street superintendent.

Electricians will begin work early next week, Mrs. Findlay said, so the tree will be lighted and ready for the Community Christmas Tree lighting ceremony scheduled December 20 at 9:15 p. m.

The tree will be lighted with traditional rites, including a band concert and carol singing.

There will be plenty of trees for a beautiful Christmas display, Mrs. Findlay said. Included will be 30 smaller trees offered by Holly Gardens.

Meanwhile, police said, no new leads have been uncovered in the theft of $235 in cash and $30 in cigarets from Jim's Market, corner of Decatur and Market streets on Monday; and the loss of $426 in the breaking and entering Monday night of a home in the Mapleside section.

Salvation Army Seeks Repairs For Its Toys

Organizations and individuals interested in repairing toys for the Salvation Army to distribute to less fortunate families at Christmas are requested to notify Captain Fred Overton at the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street, as soon as possible.

The Salvation Army also would like to receive donations of toys needing little or no repairs. A call to the Salvation Army Citadel will bring a truck to collect useable toys.

Meanwhile, contributions are being received each day at the two Salvation Army Christmas cheer kettles on Baltimore Street. They are in front of McCrory's and Murphy's stores. Captain Overton is hopeful that about $5,000 can be collected to provide the necessary food orders for Christmas.

Eight different service clubs and organizations have agreed to boost the kettle drive by manning the kettles on specific days. The Cumberland Rotary Club will start off the schedule from 10 a. m. until 6 p. m. Saturday, December 12.

Mother To Leave Prison For Daughters' Funeral

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The governors of Ohio and Pennsylvania made an unusual agreement Thursday. They decided to allow a 26-year-old mother, a prisoner at Marysville (Ohio) Reformatory, to attend funeral services Saturday for her two children who drowned at Somerset, Pa.

The governors, Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio and David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania, made the agreement so Mrs. Donna Lee Hammond can be taken to Somerset by Pennsylvania officials.

Mrs. Hammond, serving a one to three-year sentence on bad check charges, must be returned to the Ohio reformatory not later than noon Monday.

To expedite the case, the two governors made a verbal agreement. Then DiSalle signed a written agreement and sent it to Lawrence for his signature.

The grandparents appealed to reformatory officials to allow the mother to attend the funeral services.

Hugh McMullen Named Leader Of Dimes Drive

Campaign Leaders To Meet Tonight

Hugh A. McMullen, local attorney, will serve as Allegany County campaign director for the New March of Dimes in 1960.

The appointment was announced yesterday by John M. Robb, chairman of the Allegany County chapter.

A pre-campaign meeting will be held today at 7:30 p. m. at chapter headquarters in City Hall Plaza, Mr. McMullen said.

Attending will be chapter officials, campaign leaders and volunteer leaders and workers who will participate in the drive.

Mr. McMullen served as co-chairman of the 1959 March of Dimes campaign and pledged that volunteer crews will do their best to make the 1960 campaign successful.

All those who wish to take part in the campaign will be welcomed at tonight's pre-campaign session, officials said.

Mr. McMullen is a member of the law firm of Gunter and Geppert and makes his home at 743 Washington Street.

He received his law degree at the University of Maryland in 1954 after graduating from Mt. St. Mary's College.

He will head an organization of volunteer workers who will seek funds in January for The National Foundation's broad-scale attack on birth defects, arthritis and polio. These three cripplers, he said, affect one in every four U. S. families.

"Both birth defects and arthritis are among the most cruel of crippling disorders," Mr. McMullen said. "In birth defects and arthritis The National Foundation has taken on health challenges of major proportions. Some 250,000 infants, or one in 16, are born each year with significant birth defects. Arthritis and rheumatism are the nation's number one cripplers, afflicting more than 11 million persons. And because of public apathy regarding the Salk vaccine, polio continues to be a costly, heartbreaking problem.

"For conquering these cripplers The National Foundation will use the same weapons used so successfully in the polio fight. These weapons are research, patient aid, and training for more professional disease fighters."

Second Suspect Is Released

The second of two Soddy, Tenn., men who were arrested last Friday for questioning in the breaking and entering of a service station in Ridgeley was released Wednesday by Ridgeley police.

The suspect had been turned over to Police Chief Jack D. Cornett of Ridgeley by Cumberland authorities for further investigation after a companion had been released early in the week by police here.

Chief Cornett said he was forced to release the man because of lack of evidence of his part in the crime. However, the investigation is continuing, Chief Cornett stated.

The service station of Frank Magruder at the intersection of Third Avenue and West Virginia Route 28 in Ridgeley was broken into early last Friday morning. Missing are a 410-gauge shotgun, a .30 calibre rifle, a semi-automatic .22 calibre rifle and scope, and $10.

Cumberland police arrested the two men later the same day and detained them over the weekend for questioning.

Only Nine Negative Votes Mark County Board Year

By ALBERT D. DARBY
News Staff Writer

Allegany County's first bi-partisan Board of County Commissioners in many years ended its first year of operations this week at the Court House and observers must concede that it was essentially a year of harmony despite political differences.

There were a number of personality clashes among Commissioners John J. Rowan, John T. Mason, both Democrats, and William A. Wilson, Republican, in the past 12 months but when it got down to the point of voting on questions there were only nine negative votes cast in the entire 12 months.

That is considerably different from the record of the previous four years when all three commissioners were Republicans. In that four years, Commissioners James Orr and C. N. Wilkinson often disagreed. Commissioner William H. Lemmert was consistently in agreement with Mr. Orr in the three years he served. When Mr. Wilson succeeded Mr. Lemmert, he generally agreed with Mr. Orr, but on occasion sided with Mr. Wilkinson.

Five "No" Votes

Five of the nine negative votes were cast by Mr. Wilson during the 12 months which began when Clerk of Court Joseph E. Boden delivered the oath of office to the three commissioners for four-year terms starting December 2, 1958.

Mr. Wilson first voted "no" on January 20 on a motion which ordered that the dog wardens should turn over to the Maryland Society for Medical Research Inc. all dogs over 40 pounds which would be picked up by them for disposal. This action by Commissioners Mason and Rowan kicked up such a protest that commissioners voted January 23 to table their action of the previous meeting until more facts could be obtained.

His other negative votes concerned changes in the County Civil Service system. On July 29 he voted "no" twice. The first time was on a motion which ordered that the rules and regulations of the County Civil Service Commission should be rescinded insofar as they apply to the method of selection of constables in this county. Later the same day, he unsuccessfully opposed a motion which terminated the term of Andrew Lennox of Mt. Savage as constable-at-large and replaced him with James Price Russell of Mt. Savage for a four-year term as constable to the Trial Magistrate Court in Mt. Savage.

On August 7, Mr. Wilson again opposed a constable action. On that occasion, the two Democrats appointed Howard P. Loughrie as constable-at-large with assignment to Trial Magistrates Court in Cumberland for four years. Mr. Wilson said then that he had to vote in the negative until the Civil Service Commission held an examination for the position.

November "No"

Finally, on November 10, Mr. Wilson opposed an action which instructed Leslie J. Clark, attorney to the board, to draw up new rules and regulations for classified service. The lone Republican said on this occasion that he favored a strong civil service law and was not in favor of abolishing any part of its regulations.

On another occasion, when the two Democrats named Patrick O'Rourke as temporary Court House elevator operator, Mr. Wilson voted for his own candidate, Nelson Humes, on April 24.

Three other times, the Midland Republican pointedly abstained from voting. The first time was last December 16, when Commissioner Mason was authorized to make an investigation as to the possibility of having a gas tank installed near the sheriff's office for use of the sheriff's automobile.

On March 20, Mr. Wilson declined to vote when the Democrats ordered that a letter be sent to Governor J. Millard Tawes requesting him to veto Senate Bill 58, the $480 a year supplemental pension bill for teachers retiring after July 1, 1959. On another constable action, August 28, Mr. Wilson remained unrecorded. On that occasion the terms of James W. Griffith and Robert W. Matthews as constables-at-large in Westernport and Lonaconing, respectively, were ordered terminated August 31. In that same motion, the two Democrats appointed William T. Mayles as constable-at-large with assignment to the Trial Magistrate Court in

Open House Planned At Toy Center

Associated Charities To Welcome Friends

Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary, said the toy center will be open on weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and this Sunday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. so friends of the agency can stop by and see the thousands of toys which are on hand for Christmas distribution.

The toys will be distributed to parents, by appointment, from December 11-16. As usual, the Associated Charities will try to provide one large toy and a number of small toys for each child.

The toys have been turned over to the CUF agency by church and Scout groups, clubs, organizations and individuals, including the Marine Reserve's "Toys for Tots" campaign.

Toyland, as guests will learn, is a colorful storeroom filled with toys, some new and some made serviceable through the efforts of volunteer workers throughout the city.

Among the prize toys are dolls which have been dressed by friends of the Associated Charities. The dolls sport fancy wigs made from yarn by one gifted worker.

Miss Bonig said the collection was made possible only because the agency received toys throughout the year and put volunteers to work rehabilitating them.

Beth Dersin Heads Teens

Beth Dersin of Wiley Ford was elected president of the Teen Club of Ridgeley at a meeting Wednesday at Knobley Mountain Post 136, American Legion, sponsor of club.

Other officers elected for 1960 include Camilla Fryer, vice president; Carol Ritchie, secretary, and Sharon Scott, treasurer.

The club is currently making plans to fill a number of Christmas baskets for families in Ridgeley and the immediate area.

There are about 369 youngsters between the ages of 12 and 19 who belong to the club.

SRC Purchases Five Properties

Five deeds to property purchased for use by the Maryland State Roads Commission have been filed in the land records office of the Allegany County Circuit Court House.

Three of the properties are located along U.S. Route 40 from LaVale toward Winchester Road and were purchased from David R. Hamilton and his wife, Evelyn K. Hamilton; Raymond E. Hansel and Joyce L. Hansel, his wife; and John B. Novack and his wife Marion V. Novack.

Another Deer Hunter Killed In Hardy Co.

Charles E. Chadwick Shot By Companion

A Fayette County man hunting in the National Forest about four miles northeast of Lost City, Hardy County, became the eighth fatality of the deer season in West Virginia yesterday.

Charles Edward Chadwick, 27, of Boomer, W. Va., near Charleston, was accidentally shot and killed by Jess Martin, 42, of London, Kanawha County, as the two hunted with a larger party in the area.

Mr. Chadwick thus became the third hunter to be fatally wounded in Hardy County in the past three days. The others were Ocie Robert Weatherholtz, 22, of Kessel, and Otis D. Wilkins, 36, of near Lost City.

The eight fatalities since the season began on Monday include five shooting deaths and three from heart attacks.

To Await Grand Jury

State Trooper J. L. Baker of Moorefield said the victim apparently was slain when he was mistaken for a deer by his companion.

Mr. Martin told police he fired at what he thought was a deer in the brush but when he rushed to the spot he found Mr. Chadwick lying there.

The state trooper said Martin was charged with negligent shooting. During a preliminary hearing yesterday in Moorefield he was bound to the February term of the Hardy County grand jury.

Mr. Chadwick's body was taken to the Thrush Funeral Home in Moorefield and will be transferred to a funeral home at Gauley Bridge near his home in Boomer.

Mr. Chadwick was married and the father of two small daughters. He was an Army veteran and belonged to a Masonic lodge.

Weatherholtz Funeral

Meanwhile funeral services for Ocie R. Weatherholtz, who was killed Wednesday while hunting near his home in Kessel, will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at Oak Grove Church with Rev. Joe Gerstell officiating, assisted by Rev. Ernest Wellford. Interment will be in the Lahmansville Cemetery.

Mr. Weatherholtz was born September 16, 1937, at Kessel, a son of Homer E. and Martha (Pratt) Weatherholtz.

Construction Barrier Is Moved Back

The contractor for the building being erected on the site of old St. Paul's Lutheran Church moved the barrier on Baltimore Street back a foot and a half yesterday on orders issued by Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

Mr. Fleming said the extra space will help the flow of pedestrian traffic at that point. He added that the 18 inches is all the contractor reported can be added until the footer is in place.

At the same time, City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, at the request of Mr. Fleming, told the firm it will have to build a boardwalk along the North Centre Street side of the street, as the present system of ropes and walking on both the sidewalk and street level is too dangerous.

Mr. Fleming said the contractor reported the walk will be built as soon as possible next week.

City officials have also asked the builders to mark the limits of the new sidewalk with red lanterns at night.

Elks Memorial Service Sunday

The annual memorial service of Cumberland Lodge 63, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will be held in the lodge room, 114 South Centre Street, Sunday at 2 p.m.

The eulogy will be delivered by Thomas B. Finan, a past exalted ruler of the lodge, and the message of inspiration will be given by Rev. Bruce Price, pastor of Park Place Methodist Church. Anthems will be sung by Centre Street Methodist Choir.

The theme of this year's memorial program will be "Eternal Glory." George A. Caswell is chairman of arrangements and has asked all Elks to assemble in the Cotillion Room at 1:45 p.m. He noted that 12 members of the lodge have died since last year's memorial program.

Maryland Continues Extensive Study Project Of State's Deer Population

With the opening of Maryland deer season tomorrow, a survey of deer herds will be continued throughout the counties where the state's biggest game reside.

Several years ago, the Maryland Department of Research and Education launched a deer checking survey to determine the growth and density of deer herds, ages of deer, amount of food available, and damage done to farmlands and agriculture, as well as other pertinent information.

Theodore Thoerig, game warden in this area, has been granted leave of absence from his enforcement duties, for temporary participation in this extensive survey. The survey in the state is in charge of Dr. V. F. Flyger who heads the Department of Research and Education.

As deer hunters bring their deer into checking stations during the first two days of the hunting season, they may be puzzled by some of the activity at the stations. They may see a man pry open the jaw of the killed deer, make an impression of the teeth in the lower jaw and then carefully record the weight of the animal. Blood samples may also be taken.

Cooperating with the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Department, the Maryland Department of Research and Education has conducted this type of study for the past six years and it has been extended now to gather additional data, Mr. Thoerig said.

The study will evaluate the physical condition of the animals in a given area, their age and weight. From this calculation and by comparison with other areas within the state and nation, it can be determined quite accurately, Mr. Thoerig explains, if there are too many or too few deer in herds in the area.

If there are too many deer, they will run to smaller size because there is not sufficient food or graze to support so many.

5-Year Street Plan Finances To Be Studied

Program Would Cost About $4 Million

The Mayor and Council last night reached informal agreement on the major phases of a five-year street construction and rehabilitation program.

The plan calls for the construction of nearly eight miles of new streets and the resurfacing of 11 miles of streets built some 30 years ago, between 1960 and 1965.

The cost of the program was estimated at about $4,000,000, including $1,000,000 by the city and $3,000,000 paid by abutting property owners.

City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, who outlined the program, was asked to present the Mayor and Council with copies of the plan, as discussed at the session, so financial aspects can be discussed with City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson Monday morning.

Mr. Nuzum promised to have copies of the program in the hands of city officials by Monday's council meeting.

Look Toward Spring

The theme of the meeting was expressed by one official who said "we must work out the mechanics so we will be ready when spring comes."

The $4 million "face lifting" program would provide for the construction of 2.06 miles of new streets in 1960, 1.58 miles the second year, 1.95 miles the third, 1.10 miles the fourth and 1.25 miles in 1965.

It calls for resurfacing 2.25 miles of worn-out streets the first year, 2.75 miles the second, two miles the third, 2.22 miles the fourth and about two miles in the final year.

Estimated city costs, based on current construction, would be about $891,561 for the five-year street construction program, plus about $171,500 for a number of urgent projects, including some which can qualify for federal aid matching funds.

City Pays ¼

Property owners on the streets would share 75 per cent and the city 25 per cent of the overall cost.

This is the formula which may be adopted. The figure would include the cost of intersections and storm sewer installations, when needed.

It was suggested that when the city goes into the program, alternate bids will be asked for construction of concrete or blacktop.

The meeting was held at the request of Street Commissioner John J. Long who said city officials must make up their minds on the program.

The program is scheduled so it will benefit all sections of the city, except that virtually no new street construction is planned on the West Side, where all the older streets are paved.

Speaker Is Greeted

Curtis Williams of the jet engines quality control department of General Electric Company, Cincinnati, Ohio, is greeted by Martha Phillips, vice president of the Cumberland Section, American Society for Quality Control, which he addressed last night at the local organization's dinner meeting at the Ali Ghan Shrine Country Club. Mr. Williams, a member of the General Electric Company since 1951, spoke on "Outgoing Control of Quality and Customer Complaints."

Community Christmas Tree Goes Up Today

Cumberland's Community Christmas tree will be set in place on the grounds of old Fort Cumberland this afternoon.

Other large trees will be erected Monday for South Cumberland at a city park area at Race and Seymour streets and for the North End at a small city park at Furnace and Valley streets, according to Mrs. Marguerite Findlay, Park Board member and chairman of the city's 1959 Christmas committee.

The tree which will be placed on the grounds of Emmanuel Episcopal Church was donated by Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Porter of Parkersburg Road, Eckhart.

It is a magnificent blue spruce, about 40 feet high, and is considered one of the finest to be used for years as the city's Christmas tree.

Mrs. Findlay said Mr. and Mrs. Porter offered another tree to the city, but agreed to keep it until next year, due to the many offers of Christmas trees already accepted by the committee.

The tree will be set in place early this afternoon by a Street Department crew headed by William C. Simpson and under the supervision of Andrew Heller, street superintendent.

Electricians will begin work early next week, Mrs. Findlay said, so the tree will be lighted and ready for the Community Christmas Tree lighting ceremony scheduled December 20 at 9:15 p. m.

The tree will be lighted with traditional rites, including a band concert and carol singing.

There will be plenty of trees for a beautiful Christmas display, Mrs. Findlay said. Included will be 30 smaller trees offered by Holly Gardens.

Police Investigate Vandalism, Thefts

City Police are checking the report of Wayne Hawkinson who said several small holes were put in the windshield of his automobile while it was parked in front of his home, 445 Waverly Terrace, Tuesday night.

Meanwhile, police said, no new leads have been uncovered in the theft of $235 in cash and $30 in cigarets from Jim's Market, corner of Decatur and Market streets on Monday; and the loss of $426 in the breaking and entering Monday night of a home in the Mapleside section.

Forestry Camp Escapees Caught

Mother To Leave Prison For Daughters' Funeral

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The governors of Ohio and Pennsylvania made an unusual agreement Thursday. They decided to allow a 26-year-old mother, a prisoner at Marysville (Ohio) Reformatory, to attend funeral services Saturday for her two children who drowned at Somerset, Pa.

The governors, Michael V. DiSalle of Ohio and David L. Lawrence of Pennsylvania, made the agreement so Mrs. Donna Lee Hammond can be taken to Somerset by Pennsylvania officials.

Mrs. Hammond, serving a one to three-year sentence on bad check charges, must be returned to the Ohio reformatory not later than noon Monday.

To expedite the case, the two governors made a verbal agreement. Then DiSalle signed a written agreement and sent it to Lawrence for his signature.

Mrs. Hammond's two children, Mitzie, 4, and Mandy, 2, drowned Tuesday while playing on ice on a pond at the farm of their maternal grandparents near Somerset. The ice broke and they fell into the pond.

After Mrs. Hammond was admitted to Marysville Reformatory last January, the children went to live with her parents.

The grandparents appealed to reformatory officials to allow the mother to attend the funeral services.

Salvation Army Seeks Repairs For Its Toys

Organizations and individuals interested in repairing toys for the Salvation Army to distribute to less fortunate families at Christmas are requested to notify Captain Fred Overton at the Salvation Army Citadel, 115 North Mechanic Street, as soon as possible.

Last year, some 1,566 toys were distributed by the Salvation Army to 113 families with a total of 670 children.

The Salvation Army also would like to receive donations of toys needing little or no repairs. A call to the Salvation Army Citadel will bring a truck to collect useable toys.

Meanwhile, contributions are being received each day at the two Salvation Army Christmas cheer kettles on Baltimore Street. They are in front of McCrory's and Murphy's stores. Captain Overton is hopeful that about $5,000 can be collected to provide the necessary food orders for Christmas.

Eight different service clubs and organizations have agreed to boost the kettle drive by manning the kettles on specific days. The Cumberland Rotary Club will start off the schedule from 10 a. m. until 6 p. m. Saturday, December 12.

Post 13, American Legion, December 15, 4 until 9 p. m.; Cumberland Optimist Club, December 17, 4 until 9 p. m.; Cumberland Kiwanis Club, December 18, 4 until 9 p. m.; Cumberland Lions Club, December 19, 10 a. m. until 6 p. m.; Bedford Road Optimists, December 21, 4 until 9 p. m.; Cumberland Civitan Club, December 22, 4 until 9 p. m.; Cumberland Junior Association of Commerce, December 23, 4 until 9 p. m.; Lewis J. Ort and Woodward D. Pealer, co-chairmen of the Christmas cheer program, and Captain Overton, December 24, 1 until 5 p. m.

Hugh McMullen Named Leader Of Dimes Drive

Campaign Leaders To Meet Tonight

Hugh A. McMullen, local attorney, will serve as Allegany County campaign director for the New March of Dimes in 1960.

The appointment was announced yesterday by John M. Robb, chairman of the Allegany County chapter.

A pre-campaign meeting will be held today at 7:30 p. m. at chapter headquarters in City Hall Plaza, Mr. McMullen said.

Attending will be chapter officials, campaign leaders and volunteer leaders and workers who will participate in the drive.

Richard DeGroot, Baltimore, assistant state director of the Maryland March of Dimes, will be present to help set up campaign plans.

Mr. McMullen served as co-chairman of the 1959 March of Dimes campaign and pledged that volunteer crews will do their best to make the 1960 campaign successful.

All those who wish to take part in the campaign will be welcomed at tonight's pre-campaign session, officials said.

Mr. McMullen is a member of the law firm of Gunter and Geppert and makes his home at 743 Washington Street.

He received his law degree at the University of Maryland in 1954 after graduating from Mt. St. Mary's College.

He will head an organization of volunteer workers who will seek funds in January for The National Foundation's broad-scale attack on birth defects, arthritis and polio. These three cripplers, he said, affect one in every four U. S. families.

"Both birth defects and arthritis are among the most cruel of crippling disorders," Mr. McMullen said. "In birth defects and arthritis The National Foundation has taken on health challenges of major proportions. Some 250,000 infants, or one in 16, are born each year with significant birth defects. Arthritis and rheumatism are the nation's number one cripplers, afflicting more than 11 million persons. And because of public apathy regarding the Salk vaccine, polio continues to be a costly, heartbreaking problem.

"For conquering these cripplers The National Foundation will use the same weapons used so successfully in the polio fight. These weapons are research, patient aid, and training for more professional disease fighters."

Second Suspect Is Released

The second of two Soddy, Tenn., men who were arrested last Friday for questioning in the breaking and entering of a service station in Ridgeley was released Wednesday by Ridgeley police.

The suspect had been turned over to Police Chief Jack D. Cornett of Ridgeley by Cumberland authorities for further investigation after a companion had been released early in the week by police here.

Chief Cornett said he was forced to release the man because of lack of evidence of his part in the crime. However, the investigation is continuing, Chief Cornett stated.

The service station of Frank Magruder at the intersection of Third Avenue and West Virginia Route 28 in Ridgeley was broken into early last Friday morning. Missing are a 410-gauge shotgun, a .30 calibre rifle, a semi-automatic .22 calibre rifle and scope, and $10.

Cumberland police arrested the two men later the same day and detained them over the weekend for questioning.

Fort Hill Choir To Give Program

The Fort Hill High School choir will present a program of Christmas music Sunday at Grace Methodist Church on Virginia Avenue, according to Rev. Robert C. Nimon, pastor.

Rev. Nimon said the program will begin at 7:30 p. m. and will be under the direction of Miss Annetta Yates, one of the music instructors at the school.

Miss Rose Ann Weber will be accompanist for the choir of 50 members. The public is invited to attend this annual event.

Open House Planned At Toy Center

Associated Charities To Welcome Friends

The Associated Charities will hold open house, beginning today and through next Thursday, at its Toyland at 13 Frederick Street.

Miss Jeannette Bonig, executive secretary, said the toy center will be open on weekdays from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. and this Sunday from 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. so friends of the agency can stop by and see the thousands of toys which are on hand for Christmas distribution.

The toys will be distributed to parents, by appointment, from December 11-16. As usual, the Associated Charities will try to provide one large toy and a number of small toys for each child.

The toys have been turned over to the CUF agency by church and Scout groups, clubs, organizations and individuals, including the Marine Reserve's "Toys for Tots" campaign.

Toyland, as guests will learn, is a colorful storeroom filled with toys, some new and some made serviceable through the efforts of volunteer workers throughout the city.

The collection includes dozens of bicycles and tricycles which are a tribute to the efforts of one devoted worker who, Miss Bonig reported, assembled workable bikes from parts of badly damaged ones.

Among the prize toys are dolls which have been dressed by friends of the Associated Charities. The dolls sport fancy wigs made from yarn by one gifted worker.

Miss Bonig said the collection was made possible only because the agency received toys throughout the year and put volunteers to work rehabilitating them.

SRC Purchases Five Properties

Five deeds to property purchased for use by the Maryland State Roads Commission have been filed in the land records office of the Allegany County Circuit Court House.

Three of the properties are located along U.S. Route 40 from LaVale toward Winchester Road and were purchased from David R. Hamilton and his wife, Evelyn K. Hamilton; Raymond E. Hansel and Joyce L. Hansel, his wife; and John B. Novack and his wife Marion V. Novack.

Another Deer Hunter Killed In Hardy Co.

Charles E. Chadwick Shot By Companion

A Fayette County man hunting in the National Forest about four miles northeast of Lost City, Hardy County, became the eighth fatality of the deer season in West Virginia yesterday.

Charles Edward Chadwick, 27, of Boomer, W. Va., near Charleston, was accidentally shot and killed by Jess Martin, 42, of London, Kanawha County, as the two hunted with a larger party in the area.

Mr. Chadwick thus became the third hunter to be fatally wounded in Hardy County in the past three days. The others were Ocie Robert Weatherholtz, 22, of Kessel, and Otis D. Wilkins, 36, of near Lost City.

The eight fatalities since the season began on Monday include five shooting deaths and three from heart attacks.

To Await Grand Jury

State Trooper J. L. Baker of Moorefield said the victim apparently was slain when he was mistaken for a deer by his companion.

Mr. Martin told police he fired at what he thought was a deer in the brush but when he rushed to the spot he found Mr. Chadwick lying there.

The state trooper said Martin was charged with negligent shooting. During a preliminary hearing yesterday in Moorefield he was bound to the February term of the Hardy County grand jury.

Mr. Chadwick's body was taken to the Thrush Funeral Home in Moorefield and will be transferred to a funeral home at Gauley Bridge near his home in Boomer.

Mr. Chadwick was married and the father of two small daughters. He was an Army veteran and belonged to a Masonic lodge.

Weatherholtz Funeral

Meanwhile funeral services for Ocie R. Weatherholtz, who was killed Wednesday while hunting near his home in Kessel, will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at Oak Grove Church with Rev. Joe Gerstell officiating, assisted by Rev. Ernest Wellford. Interment will be in the Lahmansville Cemetery.

Mr. Weatherholtz was born September 16, 1937, at Kessel, a son of Homer E. and Martha (Pratt) Weatherholtz.

Construction Barrier Is Moved Back

The contractor for the building being erected on the site of old St. Paul's Lutheran Church moved the barrier on Baltimore Street back a foot and a half yesterday on orders issued by Police Commissioner Philmore Fleming.

Mr. Fleming said the extra space will help the flow of pedestrian traffic at that point. He added that the 18 inches is all the contractor reported can be added until the footer is in place.

At the same time, City Engineer C. R. Nuzum, at the request of Mr. Fleming, told the firm it will have to build a boardwalk along the North Centre Street side of the street, as the present system of ropes and walking on both the sidewalk and street level is too dangerous.

Mr. Fleming said the contractor reported the walk will be built as soon as possible next week.

Elks Memorial Service Sunday

The annual memorial service of Cumberland Lodge 63, Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, will be held in the lodge room, 114 South Centre Street, Sunday at 2 p.m.

The eulogy will be delivered by Thomas B. Finan, a past exalted ruler of the lodge, and the message of inspiration will be given by Rev. Bruce Price, pastor of Park Place Methodist Church. Anthems will be sung by Centre Street Methodist Choir.

The theme of this year's memorial program will be "Eternal Glory." George A. Caswell is chairman of arrangements and has asked all Elks to assemble in the Cotillion Room at 1:45 p.m. He noted that 12 members of the lodge have died since last year's memorial program.

Maryland Continues Extensive Study Project Of State's Deer Population

With the opening of Maryland deer season tomorrow, a survey of deer herds will be continued throughout the counties where the state's biggest game reside.

Several years ago, the Maryland Department of Research and Education launched a deer checking survey to determine the growth and density of deer herds, ages of deer, amount of food available, and damage done to farmlands and agriculture, as well as other pertinent information.

Theodore Thoerig, game warden in this area, has been granted leave of absence from his enforcement duties, for temporary participation in this extensive survey. The survey in the state is in charge of Dr. V. F. Flyger who heads the Department of Research and Education.

As deer hunters bring their deer into checking stations during the first two days of the hunting season, they may be puzzled by some of the activity at the stations. They may see a man pry open the jaw of the killed deer, make an impression of the teeth in the lower jaw and then carefully record the weight of the animal. Blood samples may also be taken.

Cooperating with the Maryland Game and Inland Fish Department, the Maryland Department of Research and Education has conducted this type of study for the past six years and it has been extended now to gather additional data, Mr. Thoerig said.

The study will evaluate the physical condition of the animals in a given area, their age and weight. From this calculation and by comparison with other areas within the state and nation, it can be determined quite accurately, Mr. Thoerig explains, if there are too many or too few deer in herds in the area.

If there are too many deer, they will run to smaller size because there is not sufficient food or graze to support so many.
